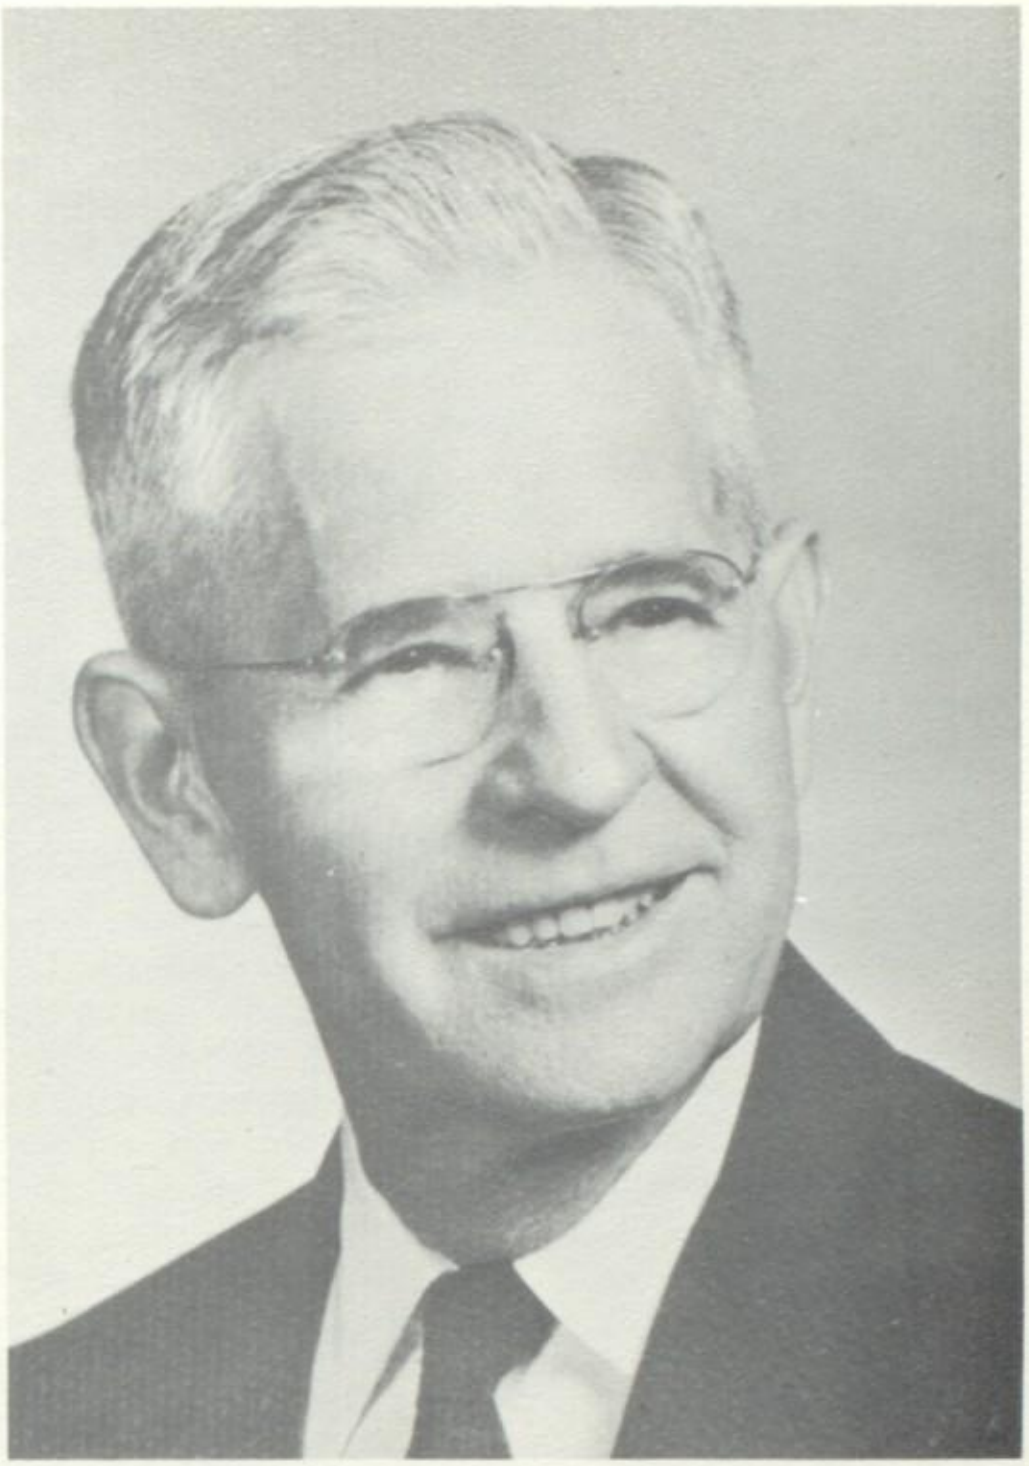
DEDICATION



The 1965 DELPHIAN is dedicated to

MR. WALTER R. RITTER

In 1912, Mr. Ritter, a faculty member, asked a skeptical Board of Education for permission to have a yearbook printed. Having received a narrow vote of confidence, he and two friends published the first yearbook. With the adoption of the permanent title Delphian, the annual became a tradition at N.P.H.S.

To Mr. Ritter goes a deep expression of gratitude for his sincere devotion to the good of school and community. Therefore, in this fifty-third edition of the Delphian, the yearbook staff feels that it is fitting to honor its originator, Mr. Walter R. Ritter.

IN MEMORIAM

PAUL H. HOERNEMANN

Mr. Hoernemann, a former teacher and coach here, passed away on February 27, 1965. Although one of the highlights of his career was his team's winning the state basketball championship in 1940, his outstanding success as a football coach should not be forgotten.

Throughout his coaching career, Mr. Hoernemann inspired the lives of many athletes and other individuals by his fine sportsmanship and Christian way of life. For these reasons, New Philadelphia High School is truly fortunate in having had the services of this man.

"Desire not to live long but to live well;

How long we live, not years but actions tell."

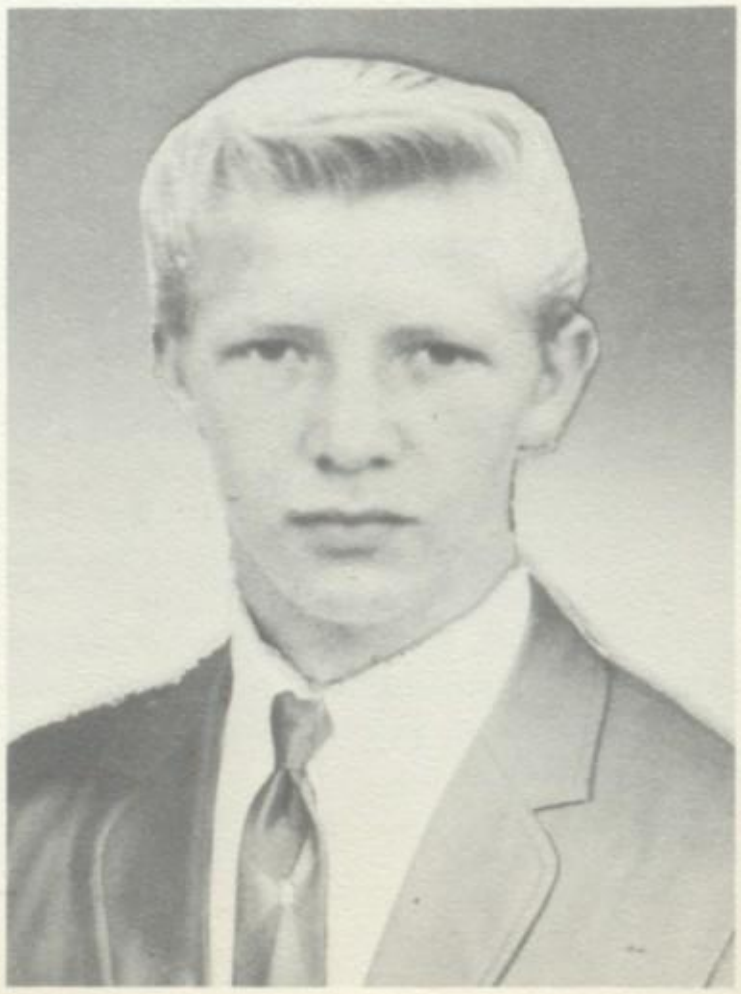
Shakespeare

JOHN E. HIDEY

John Hidey, who was a member of the Junior class, was taken from us on October 23, 1964.

"He loved his youth, and his youth has become eternal."

John Buchan



Never can we relive these years --the memorable years spent in high school. Each of us has his own special memories. We may want to recall our sophomore year which brought the bewilderment of the first geometry proof, the first mistake in using one of those monstrous machines in shop class, the first tests to prepare for college or a job, and the anxiety of every girl when asking that special boy to the Spring Formal. With the junior year came English book reports and physics tests, followed by the joining of more clubs, the frustration of taking the SAT test, the decorating for the Prom, the management of the concession stand during the tournaments, the ordering of class rings, and the look of failure on the faces of Algebra II students after exams. The senior year is highlighted by the crowning of our homecoming queen, the singing of the alma mater for the last time, the filling out of college applications, the frenzy of Dover-Phila week, the measuring for caps and gowns, the endless practicing for graduation night, and the final walk as a student down the corridors of N.P.H.S. For the underclassmen, many of these activities lie ahead; but for the seniors, they shall remain as cherished memories.

Foreword

New Philadelphia High School means different things to the different classes. Amid social activities such as the Sweater Hop, the Snowflake Frolic, and the Spring Formal, the sophomores encounter new problems concerning the course of study to be followed, the vocation to be pursued, and the choice of a college. Although graduation seems far away, the juniors are kept busy taking aptitude and scholarship tests, narrowing down the choice of colleges, and otherwise planning for the future. Other events of the year include the ordering of class rings, working at the concession stand at tournaments, and decorating for the From in the spring. All too soon comes the senior year, and with it come the relief of being accepted at a college, the grueling work on research papers, the fun of the senior parties, the fellowship of the senior banquet, and the finality of Baccalaureate and graduation. Each class participates in these traditional activities which will remain a most memorable part of their high school years.

Newness has been the keynote this year within the faculty and administration. For approximately one-fourth of our faculty, this has been their initial year here. These instructors, in co-operation with veteran teachers, exchange classroom ideas and discuss teaching methods which may help to better inform their students. Devoting much extra time, teachers aid slow-learning students in keeping up with their class, encourage the better students to broaden their horizons, listen to personal problems, and advise clubs and activities. The administration, consisting of the Superintendent, Assistant Superintendent, Board of Education, and Principal, has introduced new courses which include advanced biology, notehand, English 12-F, senior math, and secretarial training which give students a wider range of knowledge. The administration, being the backbone of New Philadelphia's educational system, meet and discuss policies concerning the curriculum, the improvement of teaching methods, disciplinary action, and the building program. Both the faculty and administration face new problems which include an increased enrollment, a teacher shortage, and a need for more challenging courses, but these difficulties are sure to be overcome because the faculty and administration are constantly striving to improve our school.

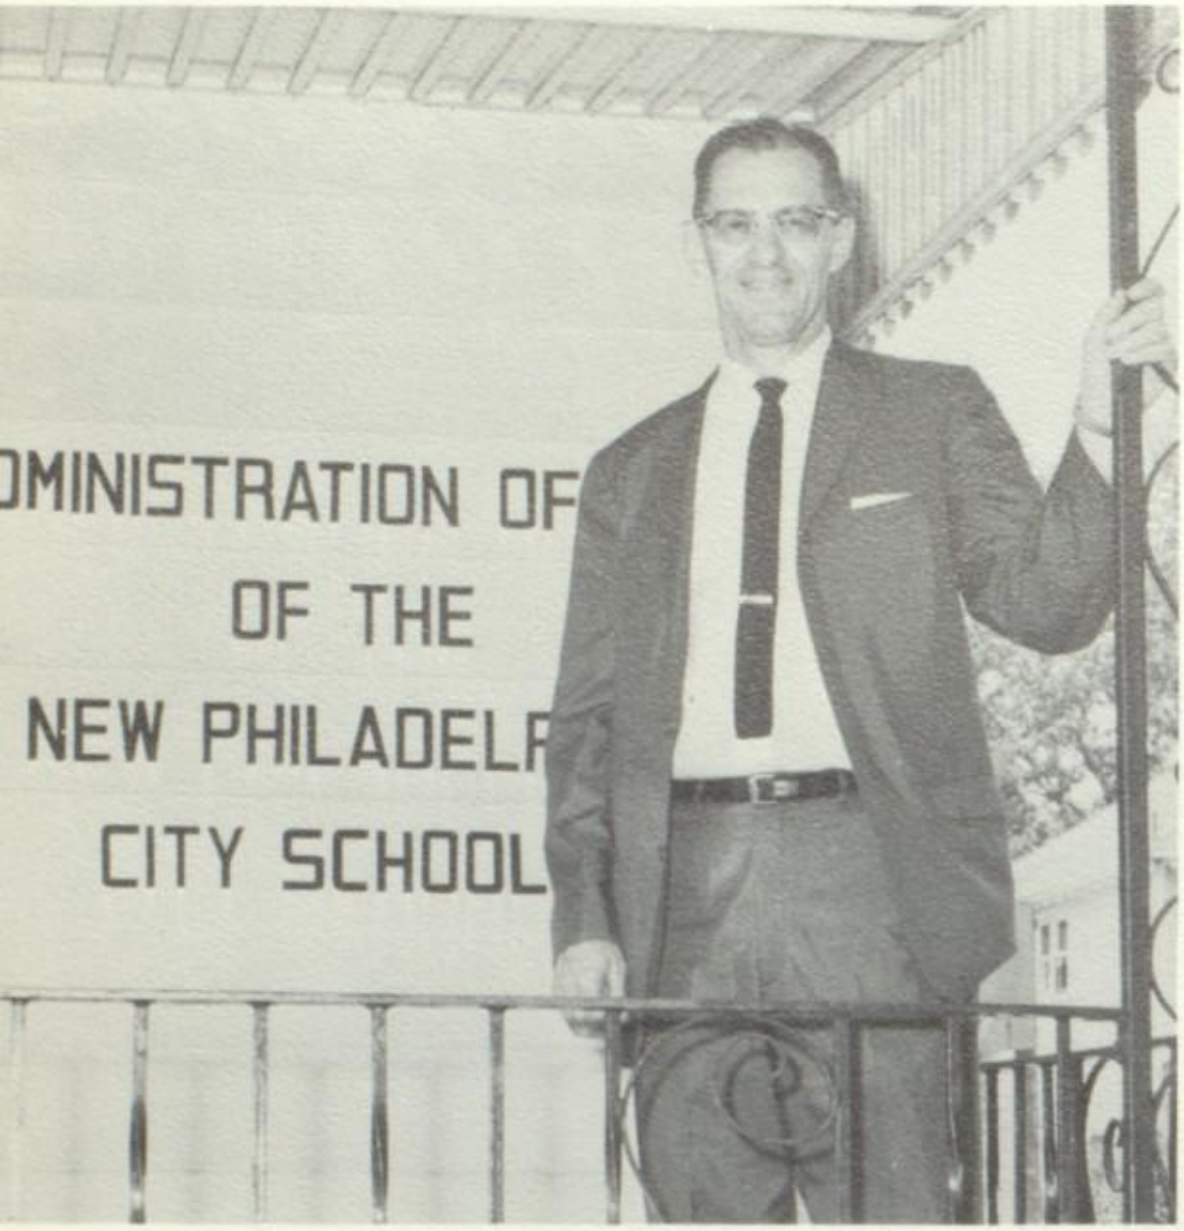
ADMINISTRATION



Superintendent Leon S. Force

Progress has been the theme of the educational system in New Philadelphia during the administration of Mr. Force, our superintendent for the last nine years. Some major achievements have been an extensive building program, a growth in size of the school district, and the addition of many new courses of study. Although Mr. Force thinks that the educational opportunities of this city's schools are as great as those of any other Ohio area, he believes that each student must take advantage of these opportunities so that he will be a useful part of society.

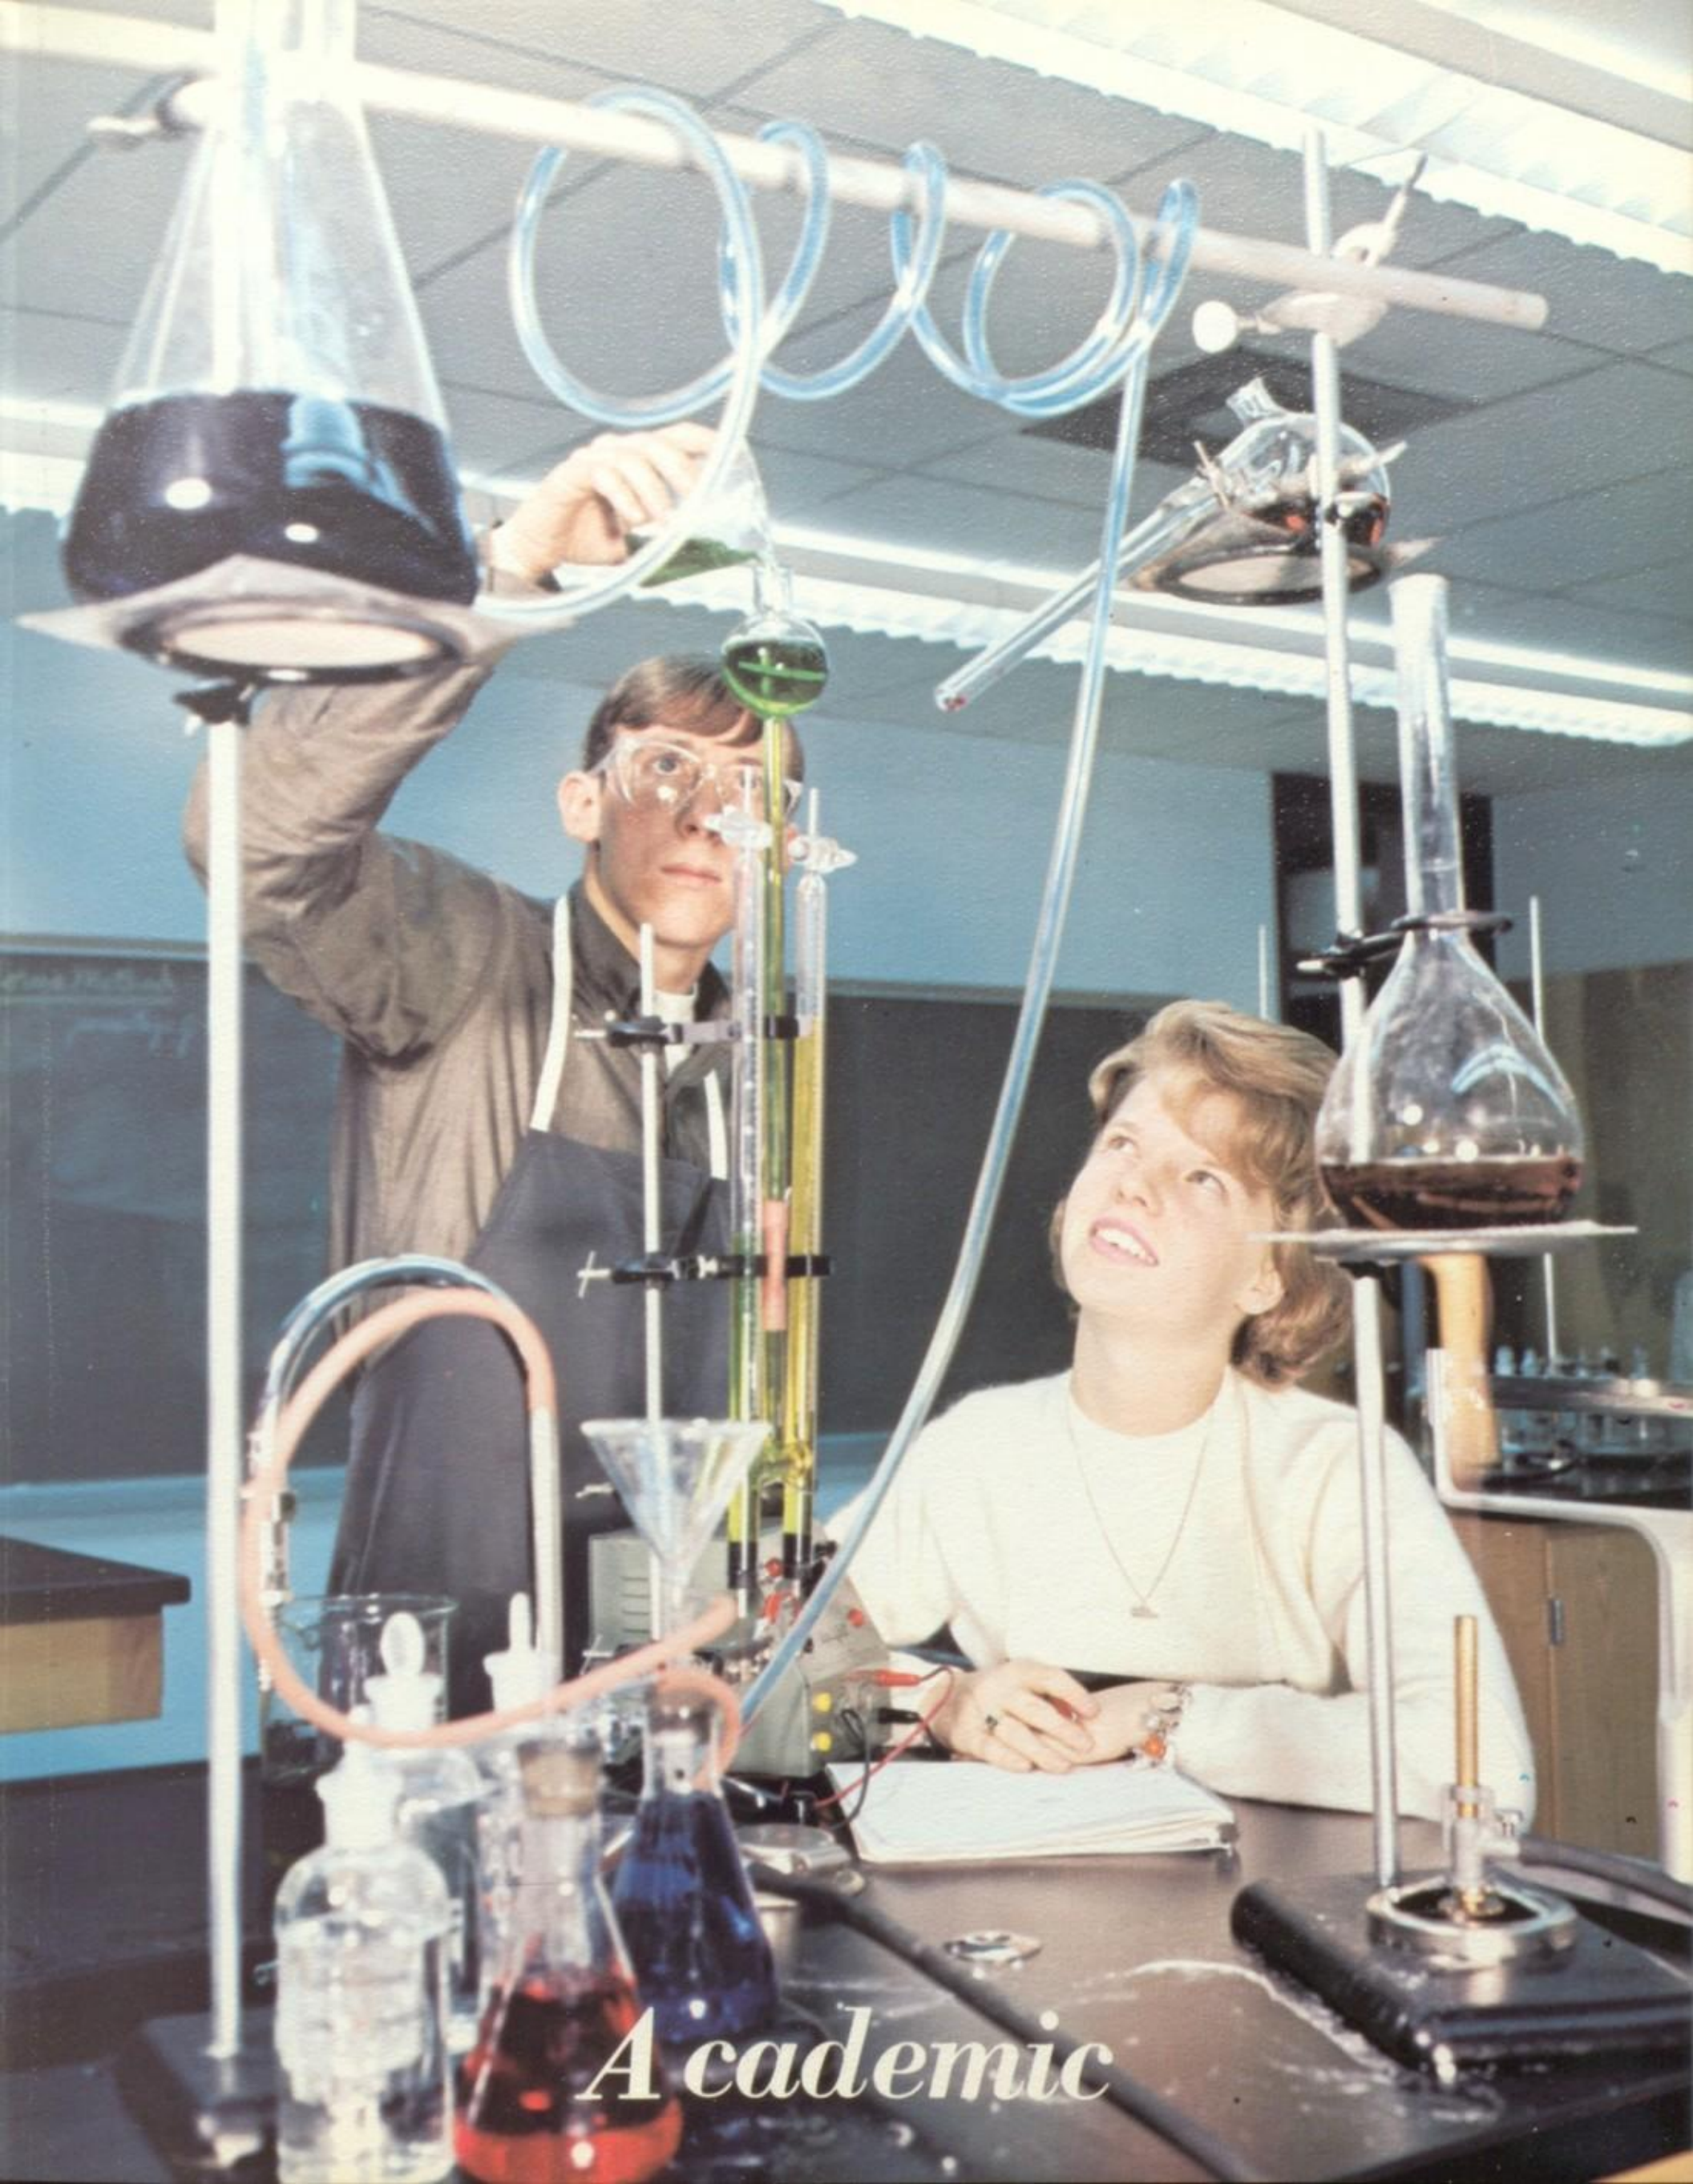
Numerous fields of study are open to New Philadelphia students. They may choose courses in the college preparatory, business and secretarial training, vocational, or general fields of study. The college preparatory course, which offers biology, college math, college English, chemistry, physics, and foreign languages, prepares the student for future years at college. Typing, shorthand, bookkeeping, office machines, clerical practice, and secretarial training are offered in the business course to students who plan to attend business school or to seek office jobs. Boys interested in the vocational area may avail themselves of courses in industrial arts, metal shop, woodworking, and auto and related shop. The student is offered a diversified background in the general course which includes speech, general math, history, English, health, and civics. With these varied programs of study, the student may choose subjects in the field where his abilities and interest, lie.

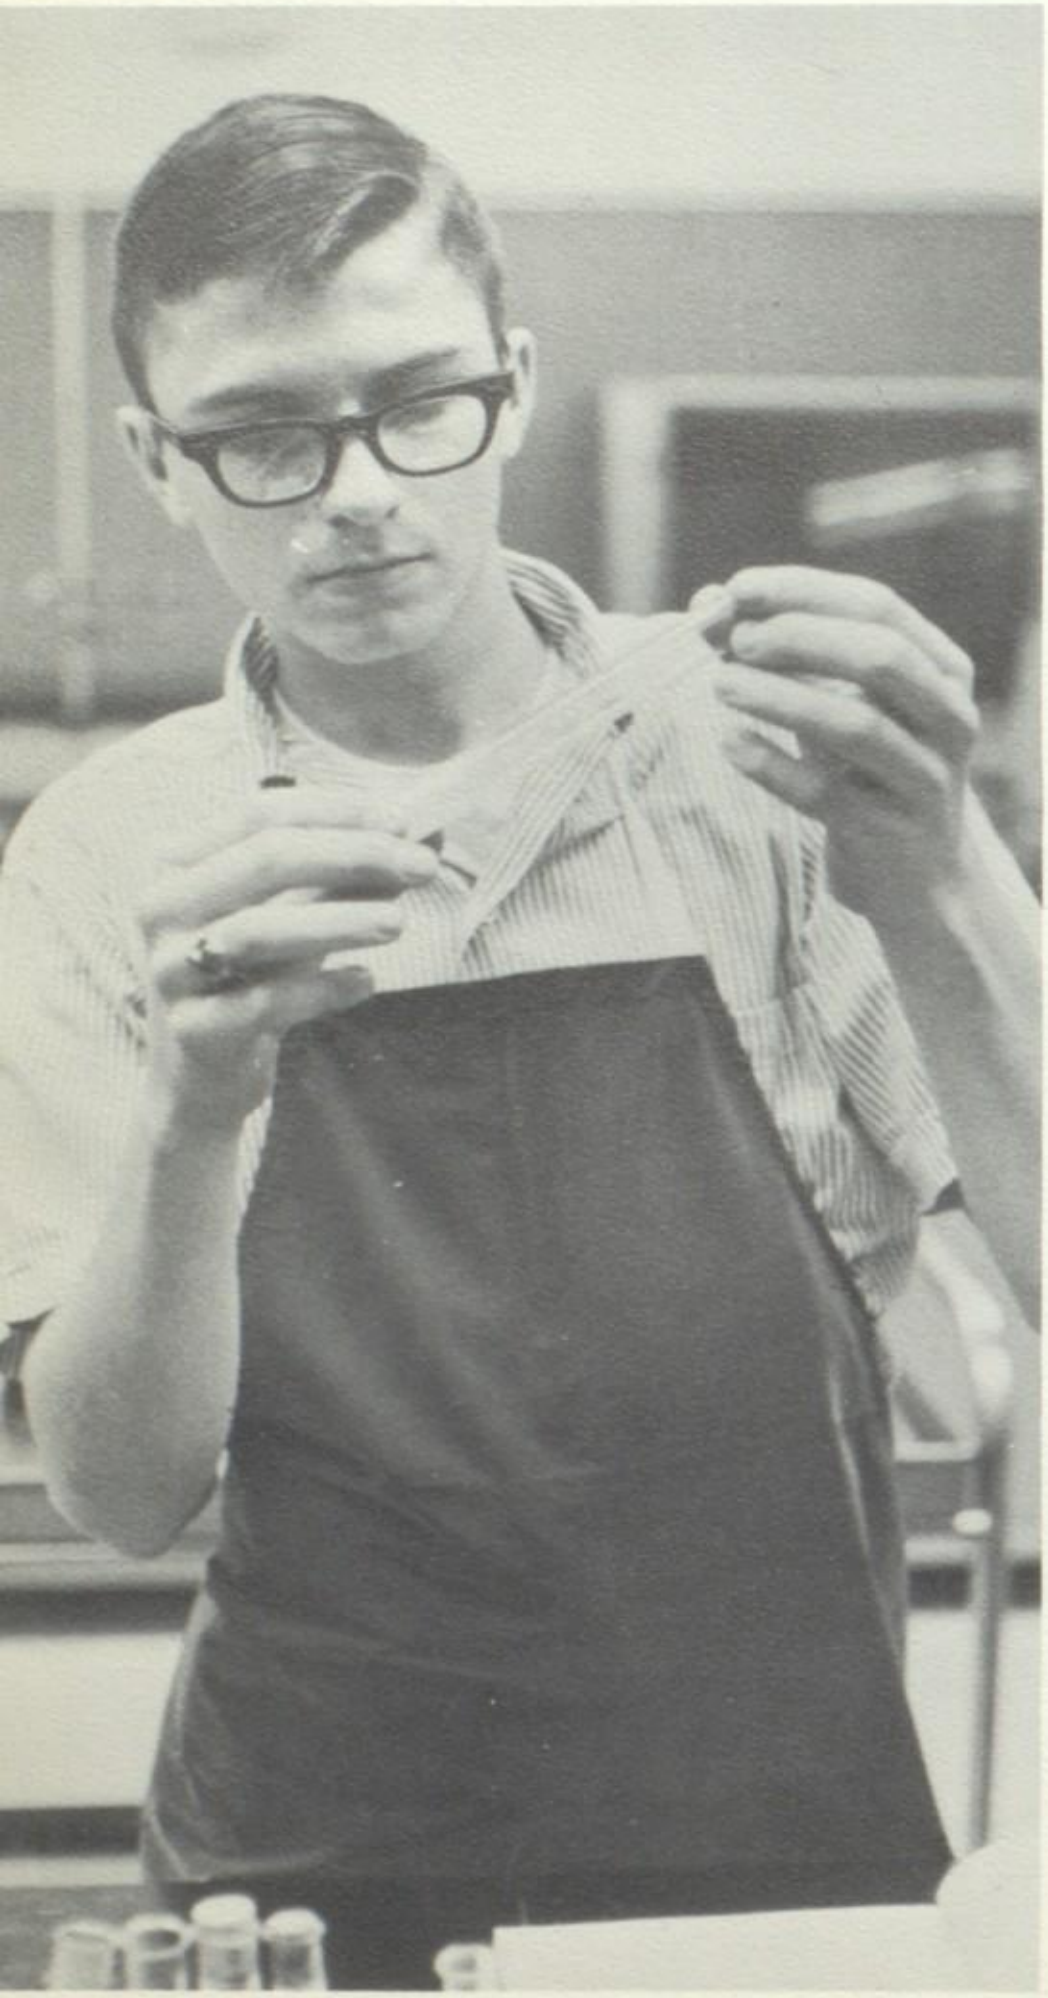
Academic



Academic

PRE-COLLEGE

Science



Biology, advanced biology, physics, and chemistry are the scientific courses offered to N.P.H.S. students. Biology provides for the general study of plants and animals and their surroundings. Advanced biology supplies an intense knowledge of these things. Physics is the science which studies the facts about matter and motion and how they are affected by heat, light, electricity, and sound. What substances are made of and what changes they undergo are the basis of chemistry which also supplies much needed facts that may help every student no matter what he may do in the future.

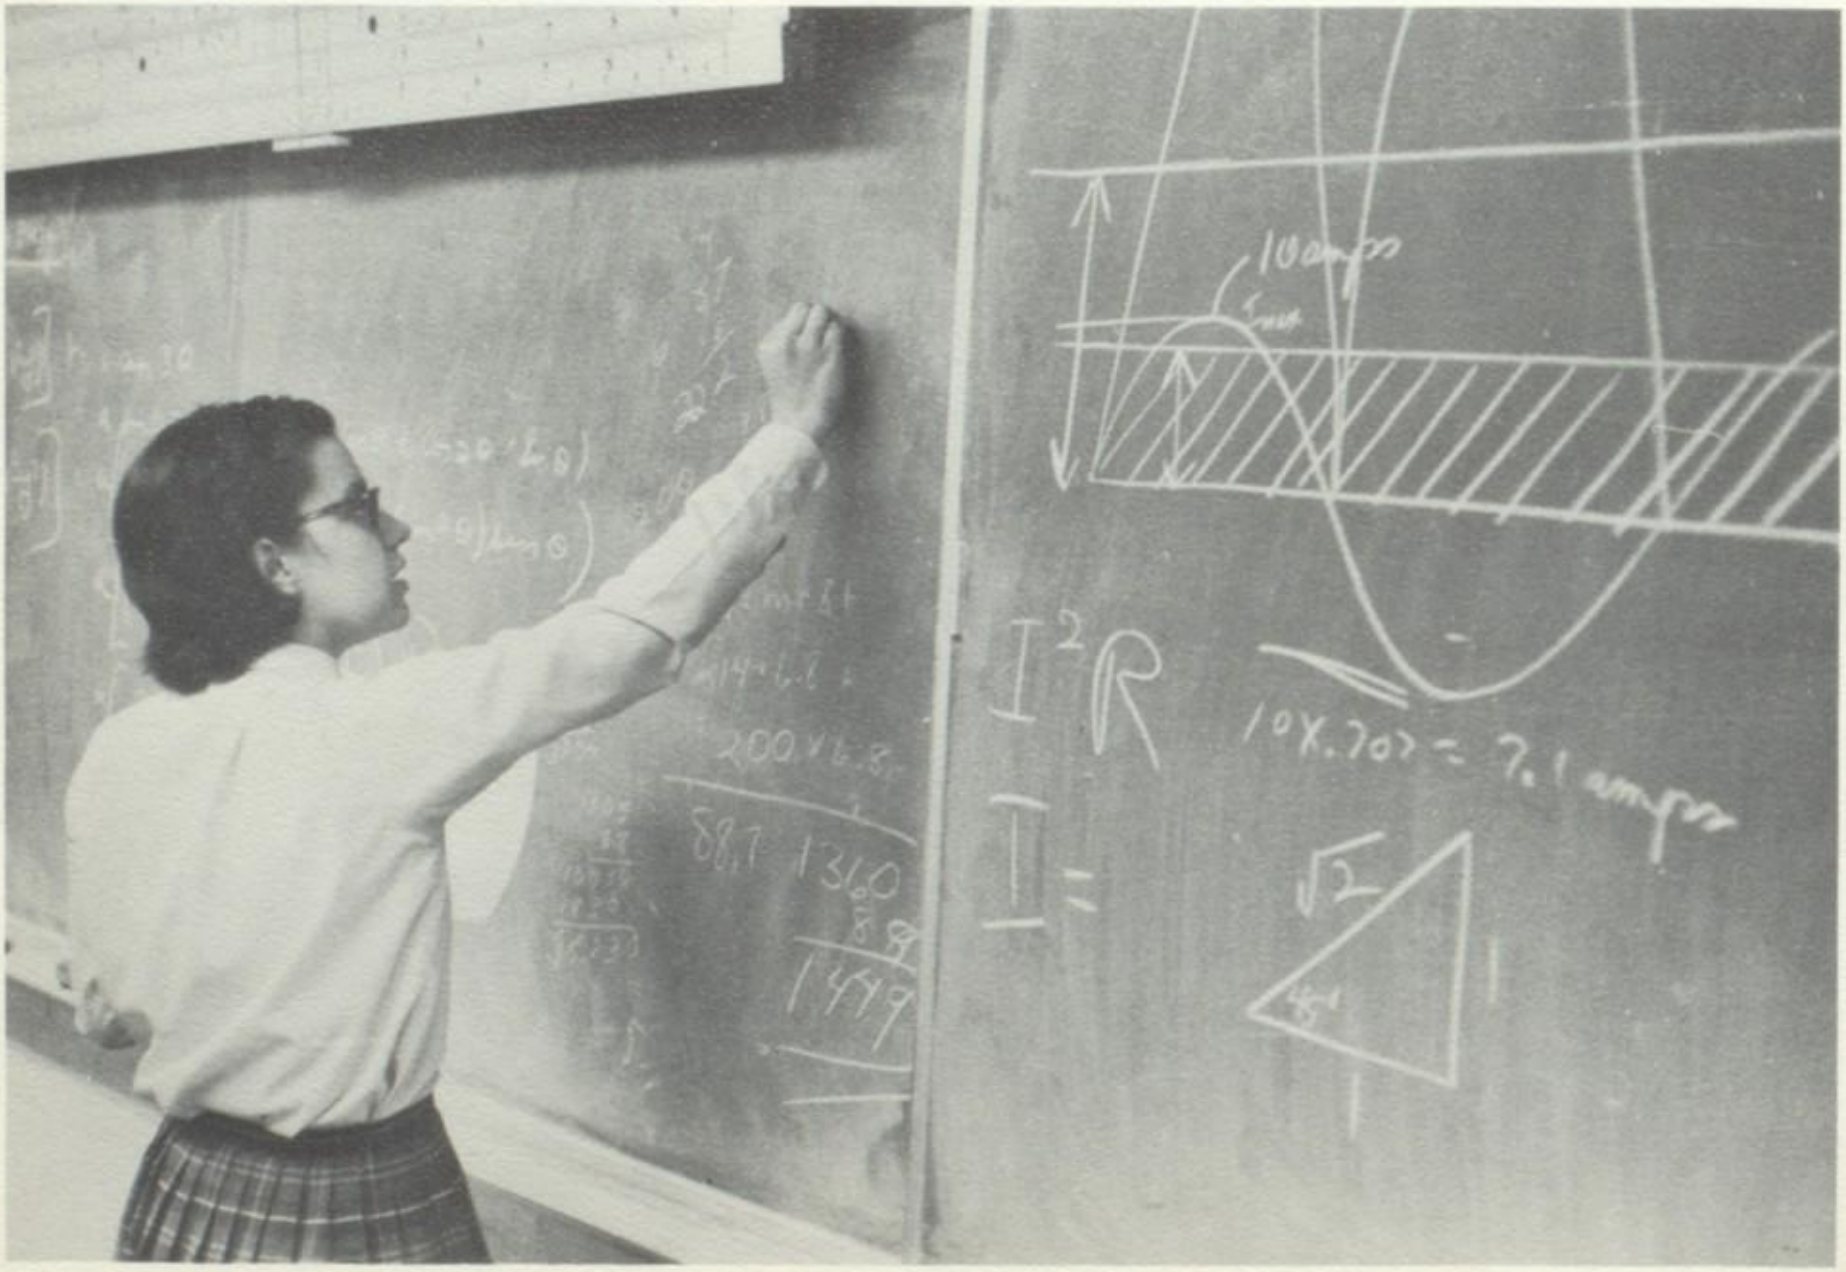
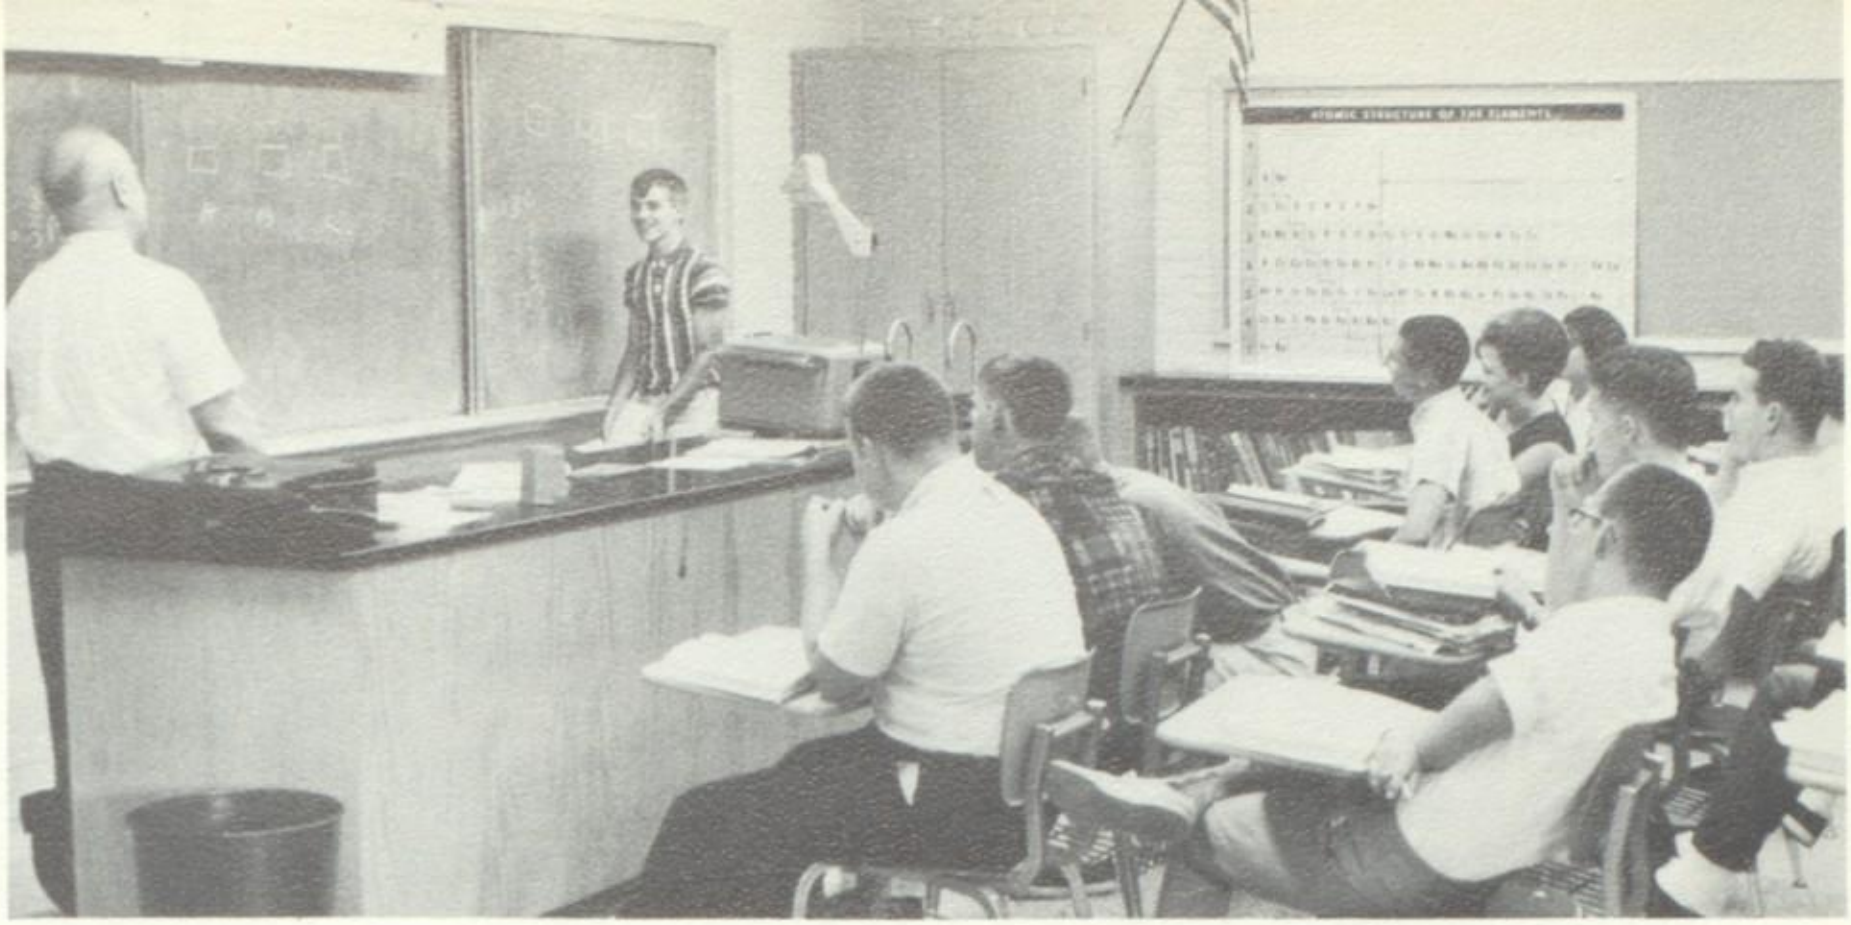
MATHEMATICS

Algebra I and II, fused geometry, and senior math provide students with a thorough background in mathematics. Both years of algebra use letters and other symbols to solve for unknown quantities. Fused geometry, consisting of both plane and solid geometry, is the study of the properties and measurements of surfaces, lines, angles, and solid bodies. Senior math, which is a combination of trigonometry, analytical geometry, and set theory, gives an introduction to college math.

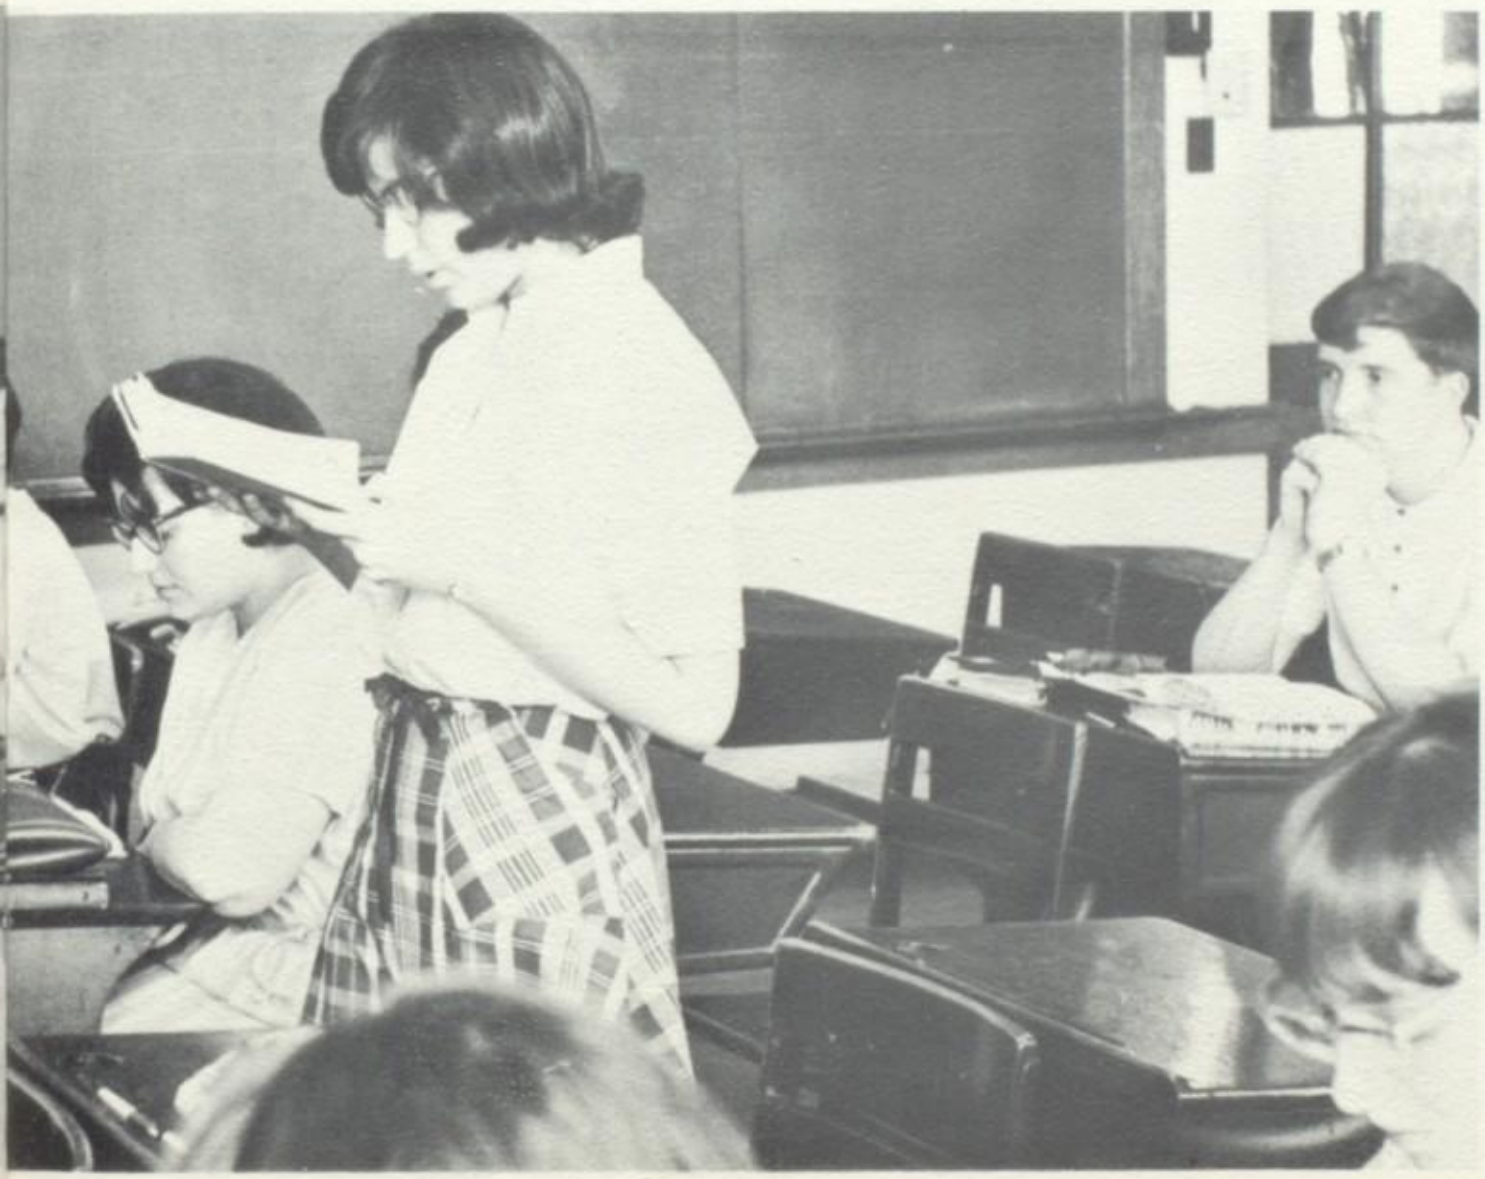


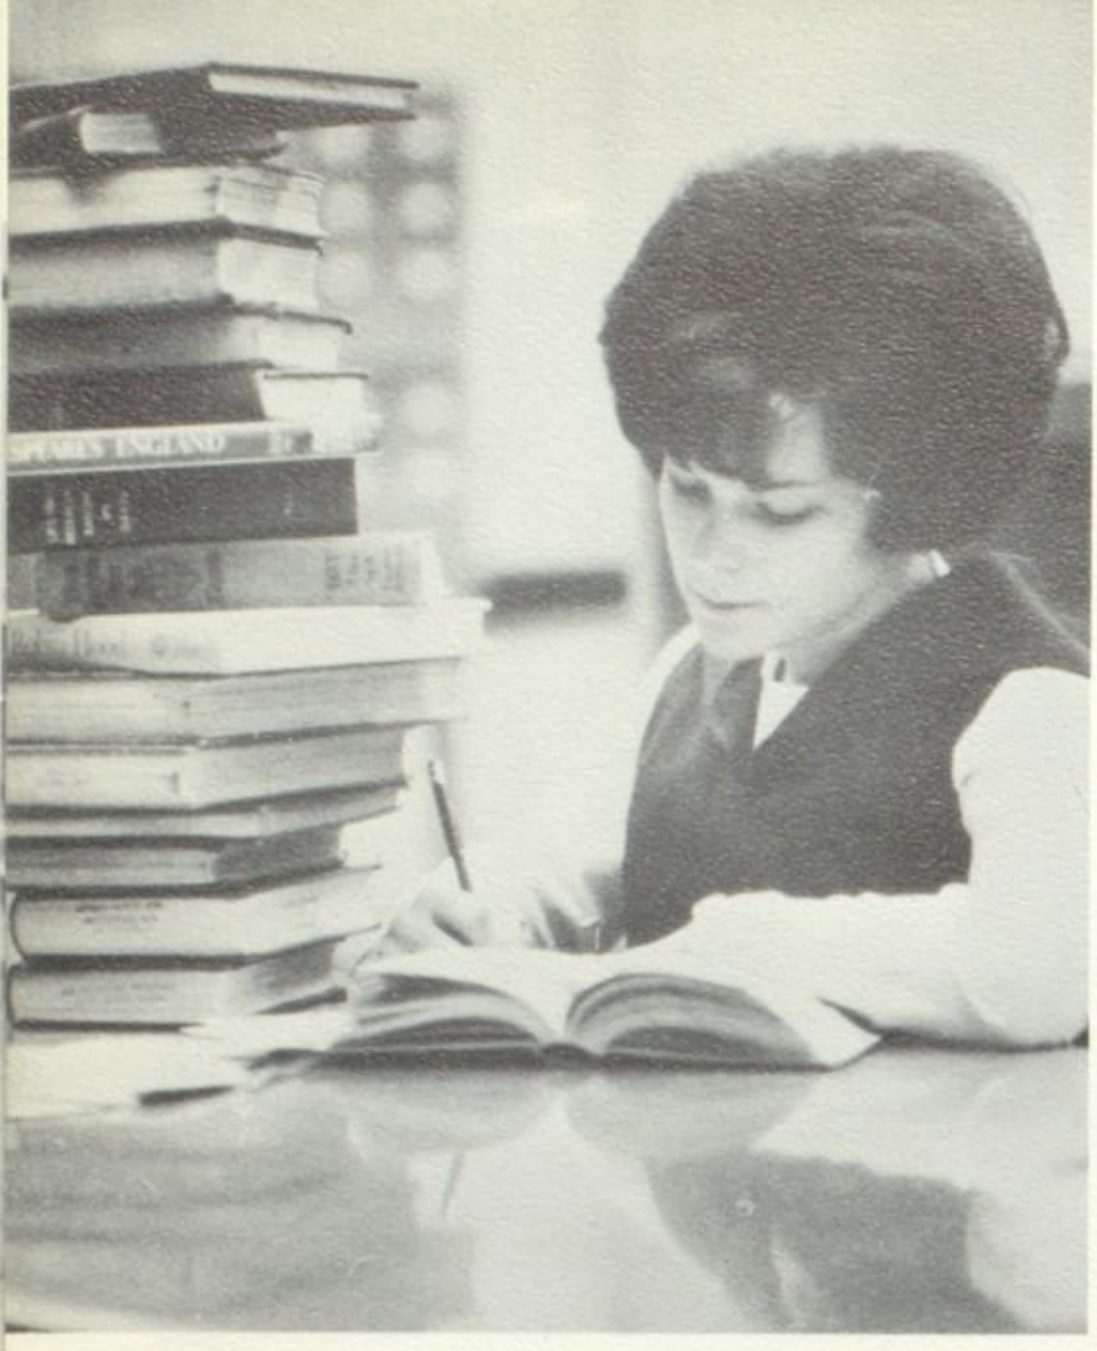


ATOMIC STRUCTURE OF THE ELEMENTS

FOREIGN LANGUAGES

There are three foreign languages taught here which are Latin, French, and Spanish. These languages offer several years of study. During the first year, the student learns foreign words and grammatical rules. The later years put these words and rules to use in the translation of stories and in the construction of conversations.





ENGLISH

College bound students are required to take three years of English. In their sophomore year, the students study the literature and grammar which lay the foundation for more advanced study. Juniors concentrate on American literature and learn the basic necessities of composition. English 12-A provides for an intense study of English literature, grammar, and theme writing. The students are taught on an advanced level so that they will be adequately prepared for college English.

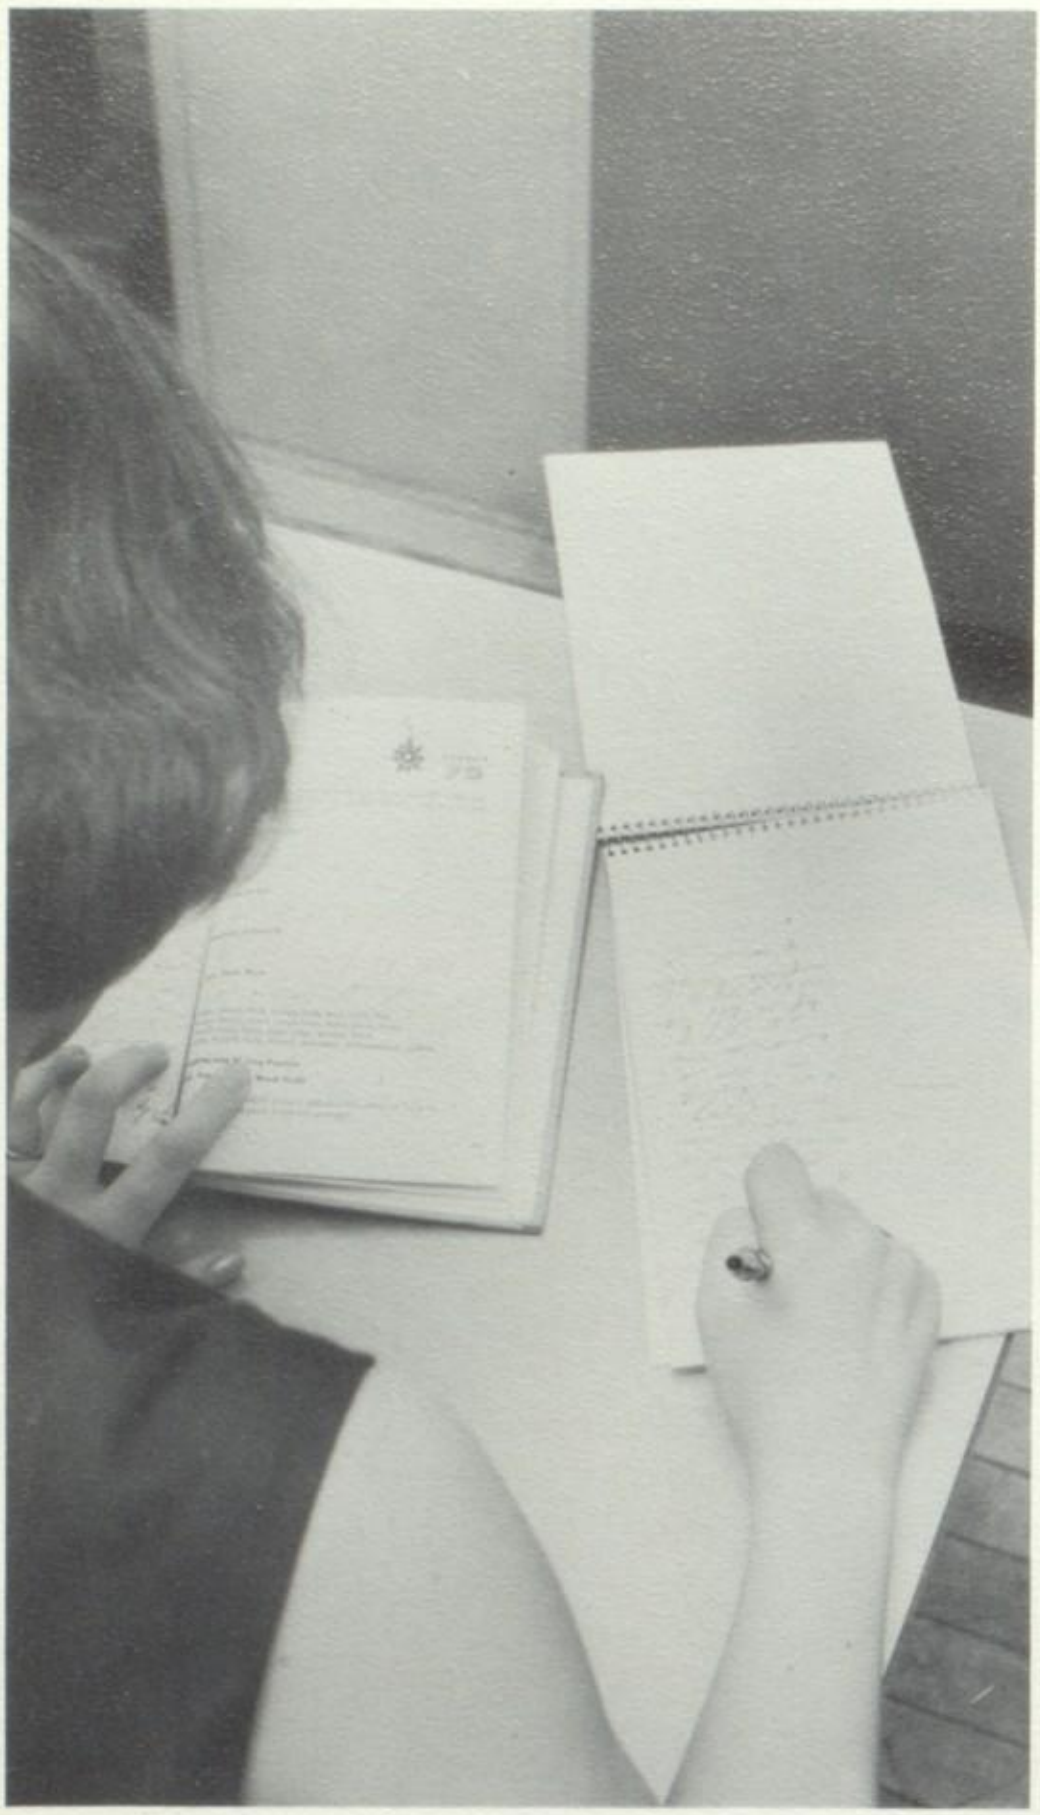
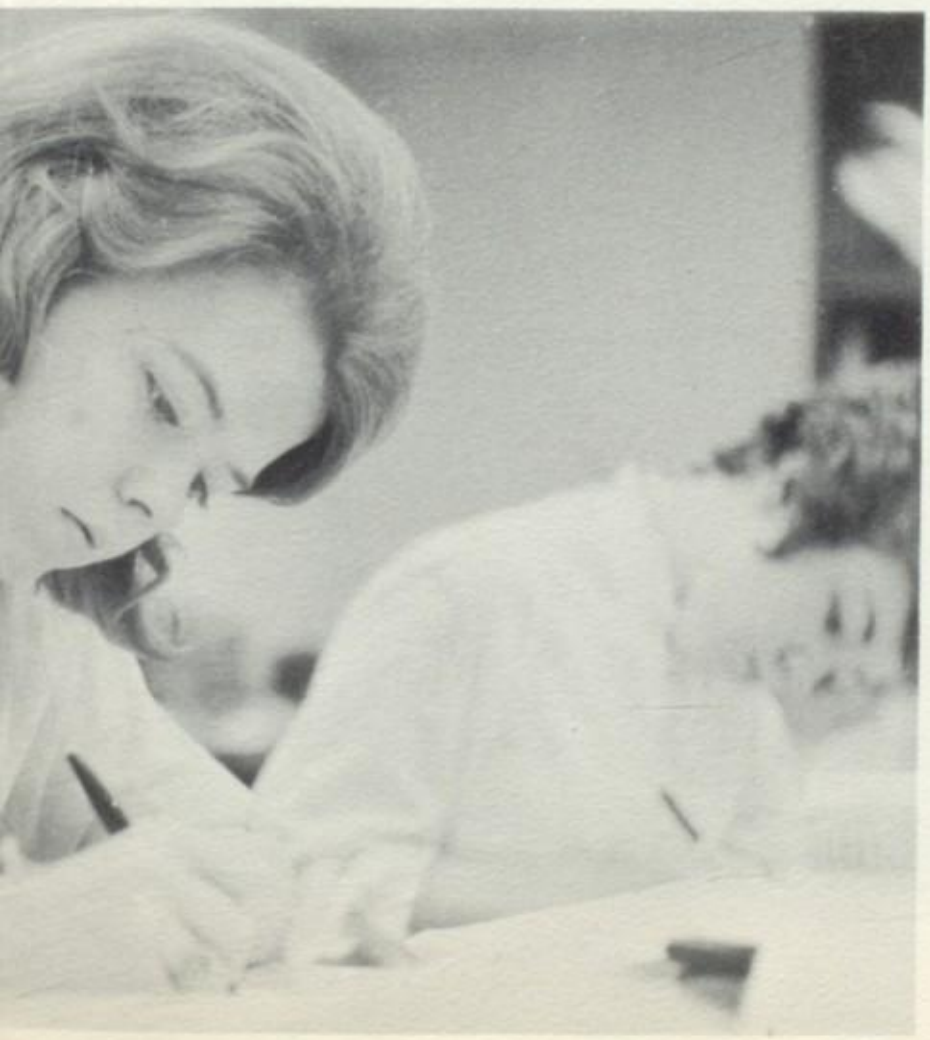
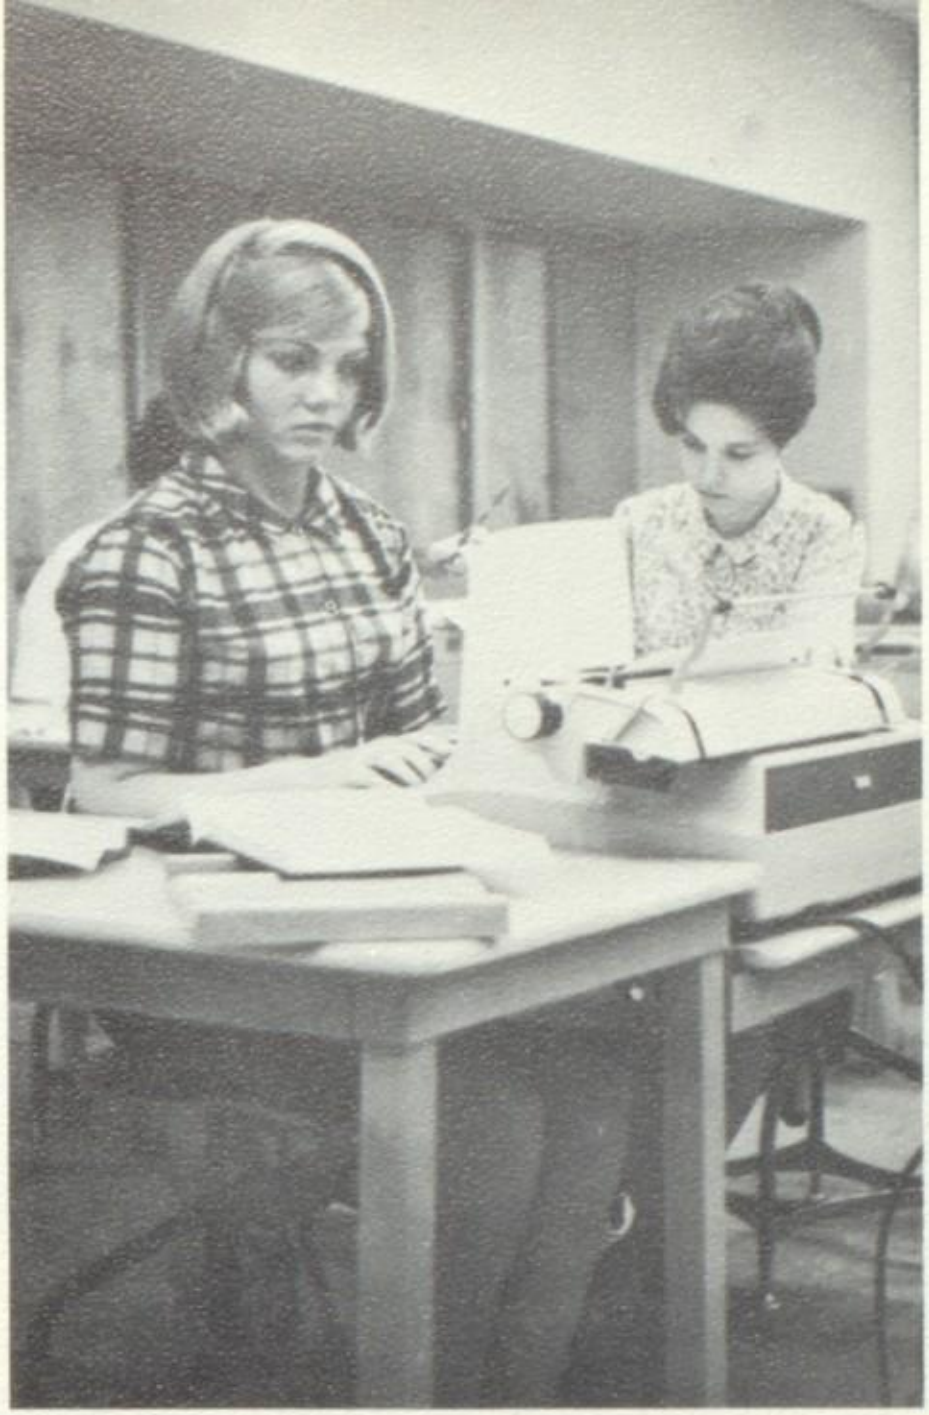
COMMERCIAL



To prepare oneself for a vocation in the business world, several commercial courses such as office machines, shorthand, commercial law, business math, and typing are offered at NPHS. Our school provides its students the opportunity to become acquainted with a number of business machines and proficient in the operation of one or two of them. To automatize the writing of brief forms and common phases and to build a business vocabulary, shorthand is offered to the student. Commercial law is offered as an elective to help the students develop the ability to recognize legal implications in their daily activities. Business math is of great importance in the daily activities of people as a tool for obtaining information upon the basis of which decisions may be made. A course in typing gives a student an opportunity to handle materials efficiently without loss of motion or time and to organize materials for work.

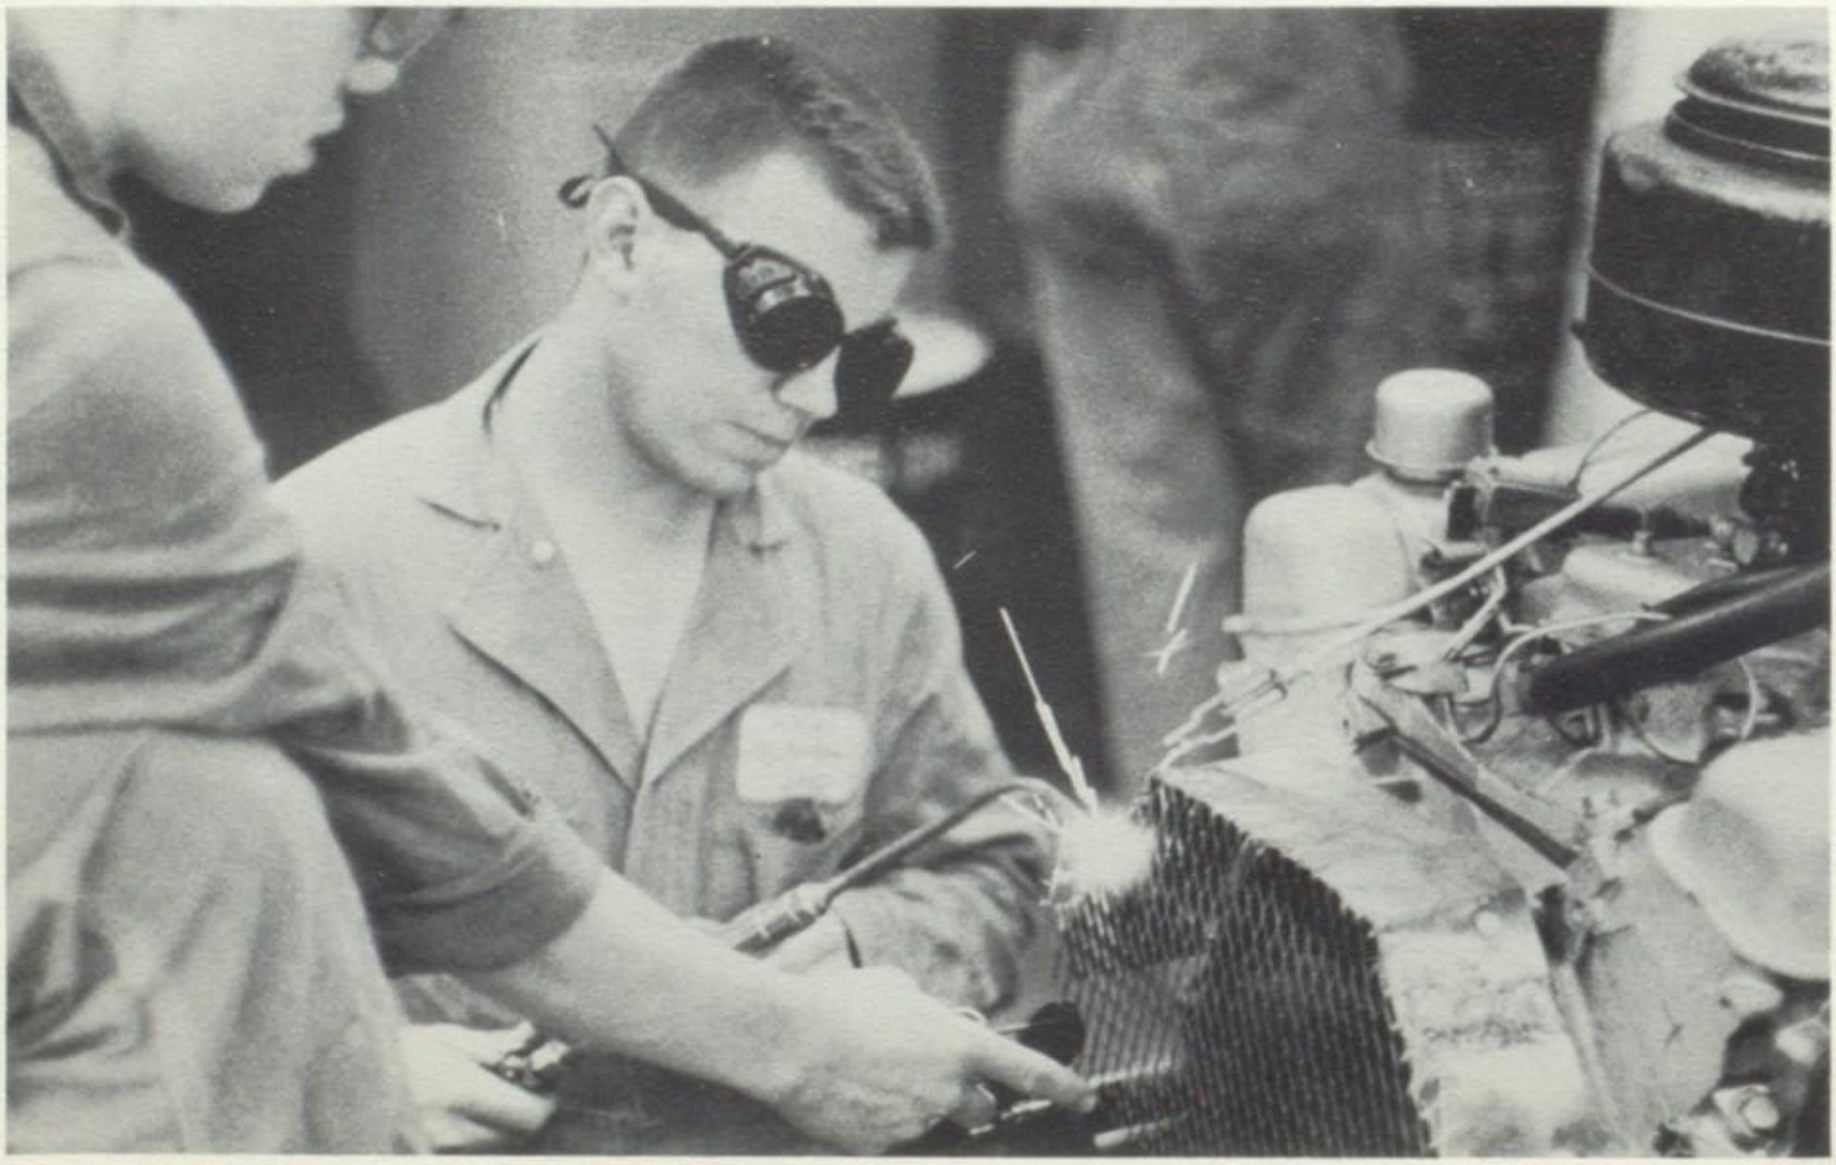
IBM

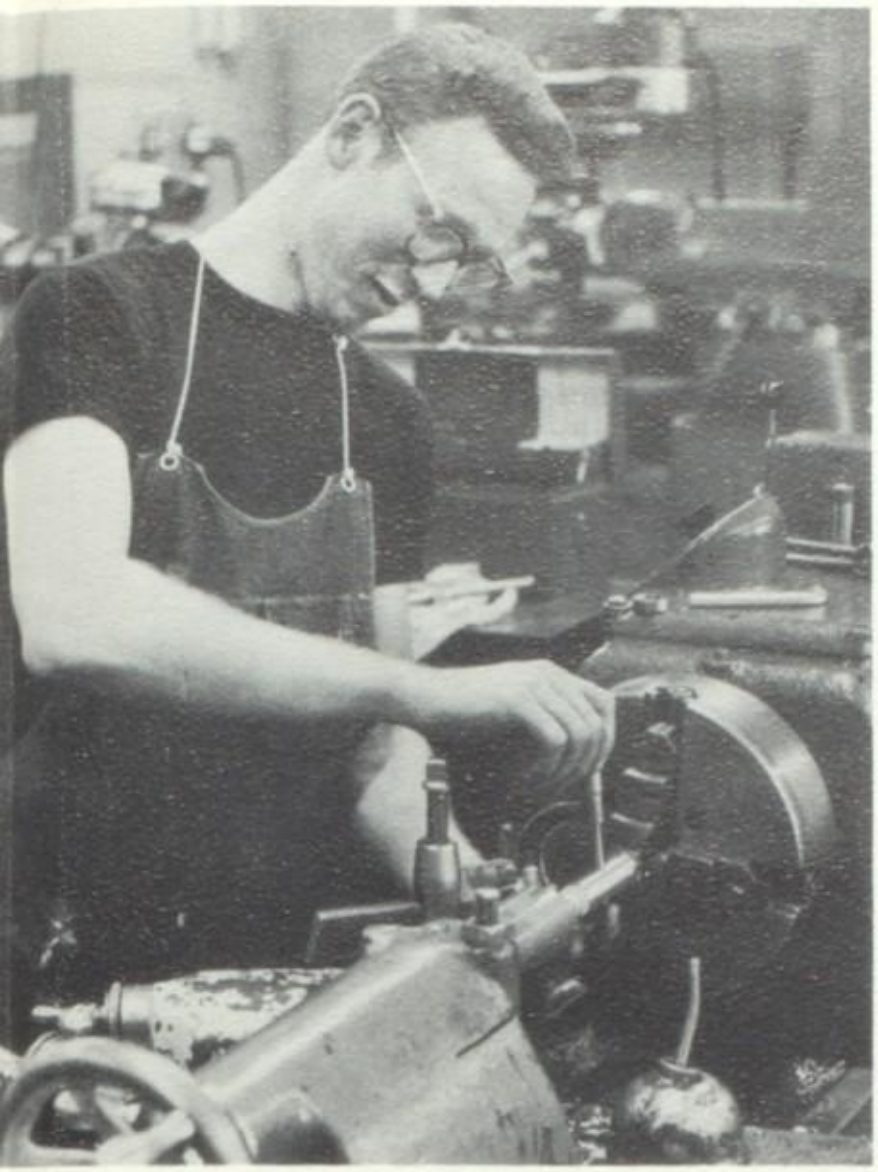


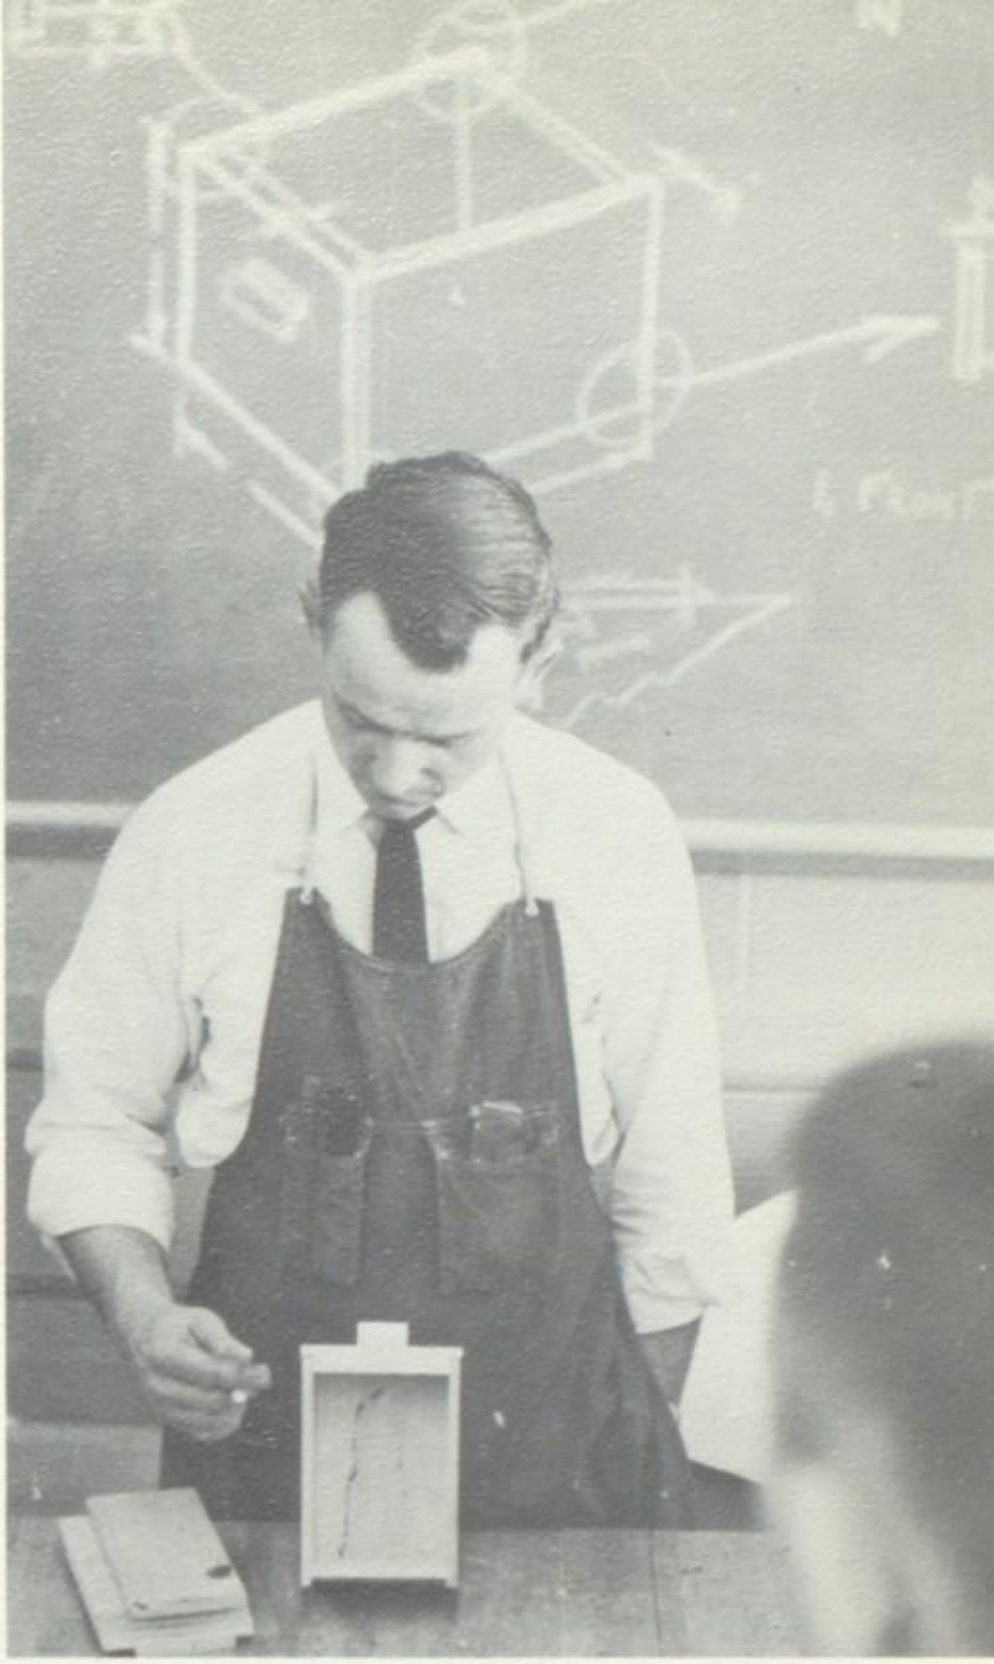


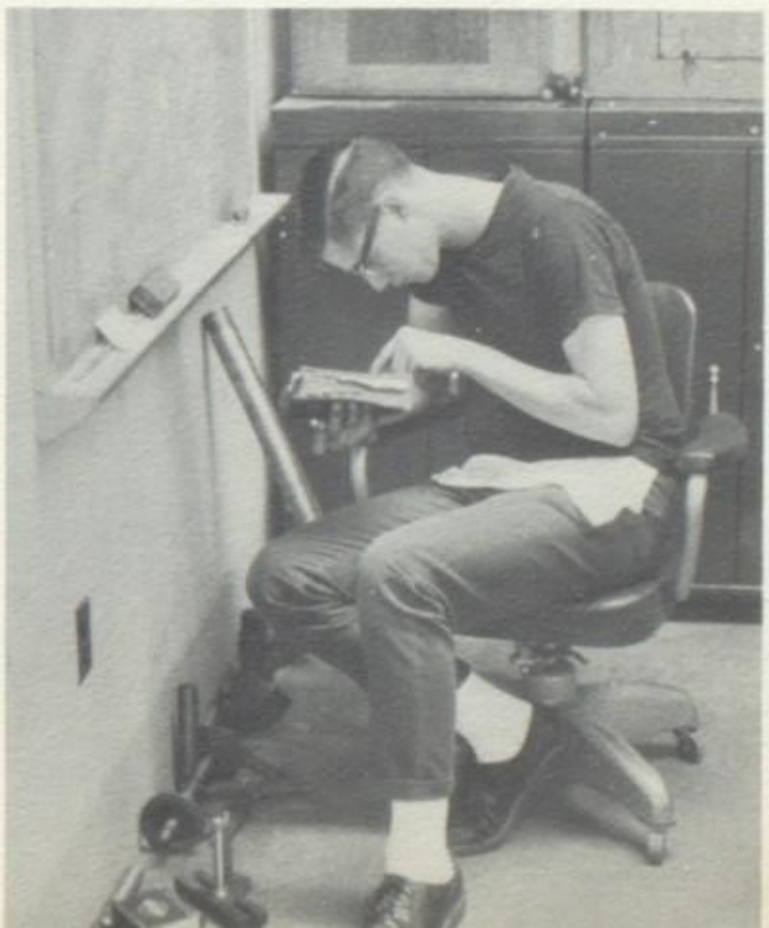
VOCATIONAL

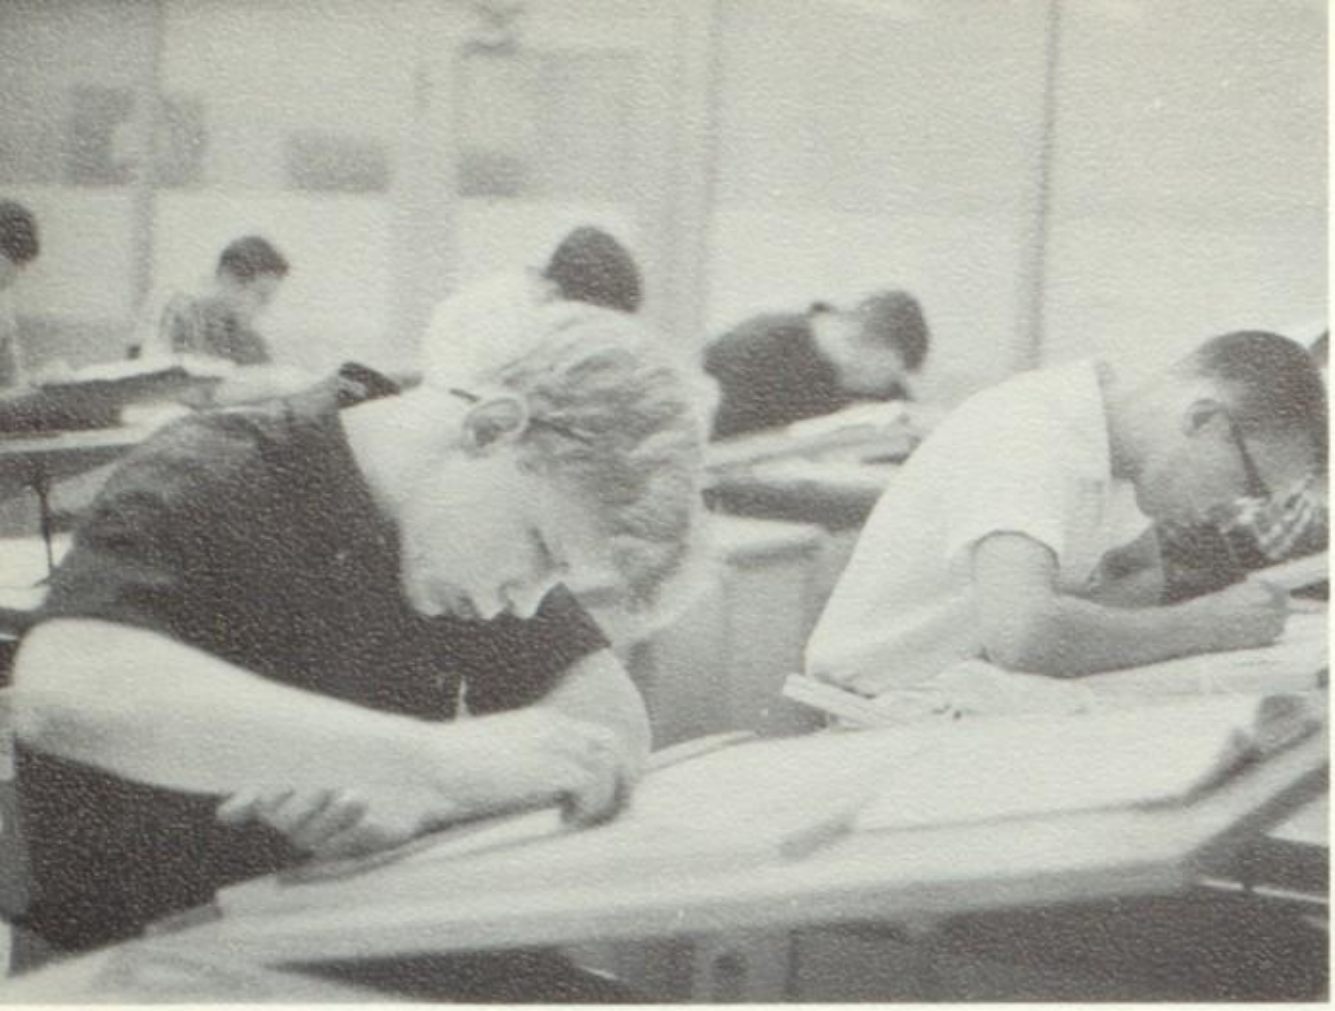
The vocational curriculum consists of metal shop, industrial arts, auto shop, machine shop, and drafting. These courses prepare the boys for jobs during their senior year and directly upon graduation. In metal shop, students learn to become proficient in foundry methods. Industrial arts lays the foundation for a vocation using drafting, metal working, and wood-working. Overhauling transmissions and engines, rebuilding carburetors, re-aligning front ends, and adjusting brakes are some of the auto shop practices. Students are taught the fundamentals of machine operation in machine shop. Mechanical drawing and blueprinting offer an advanced study to boys interested in engineering.

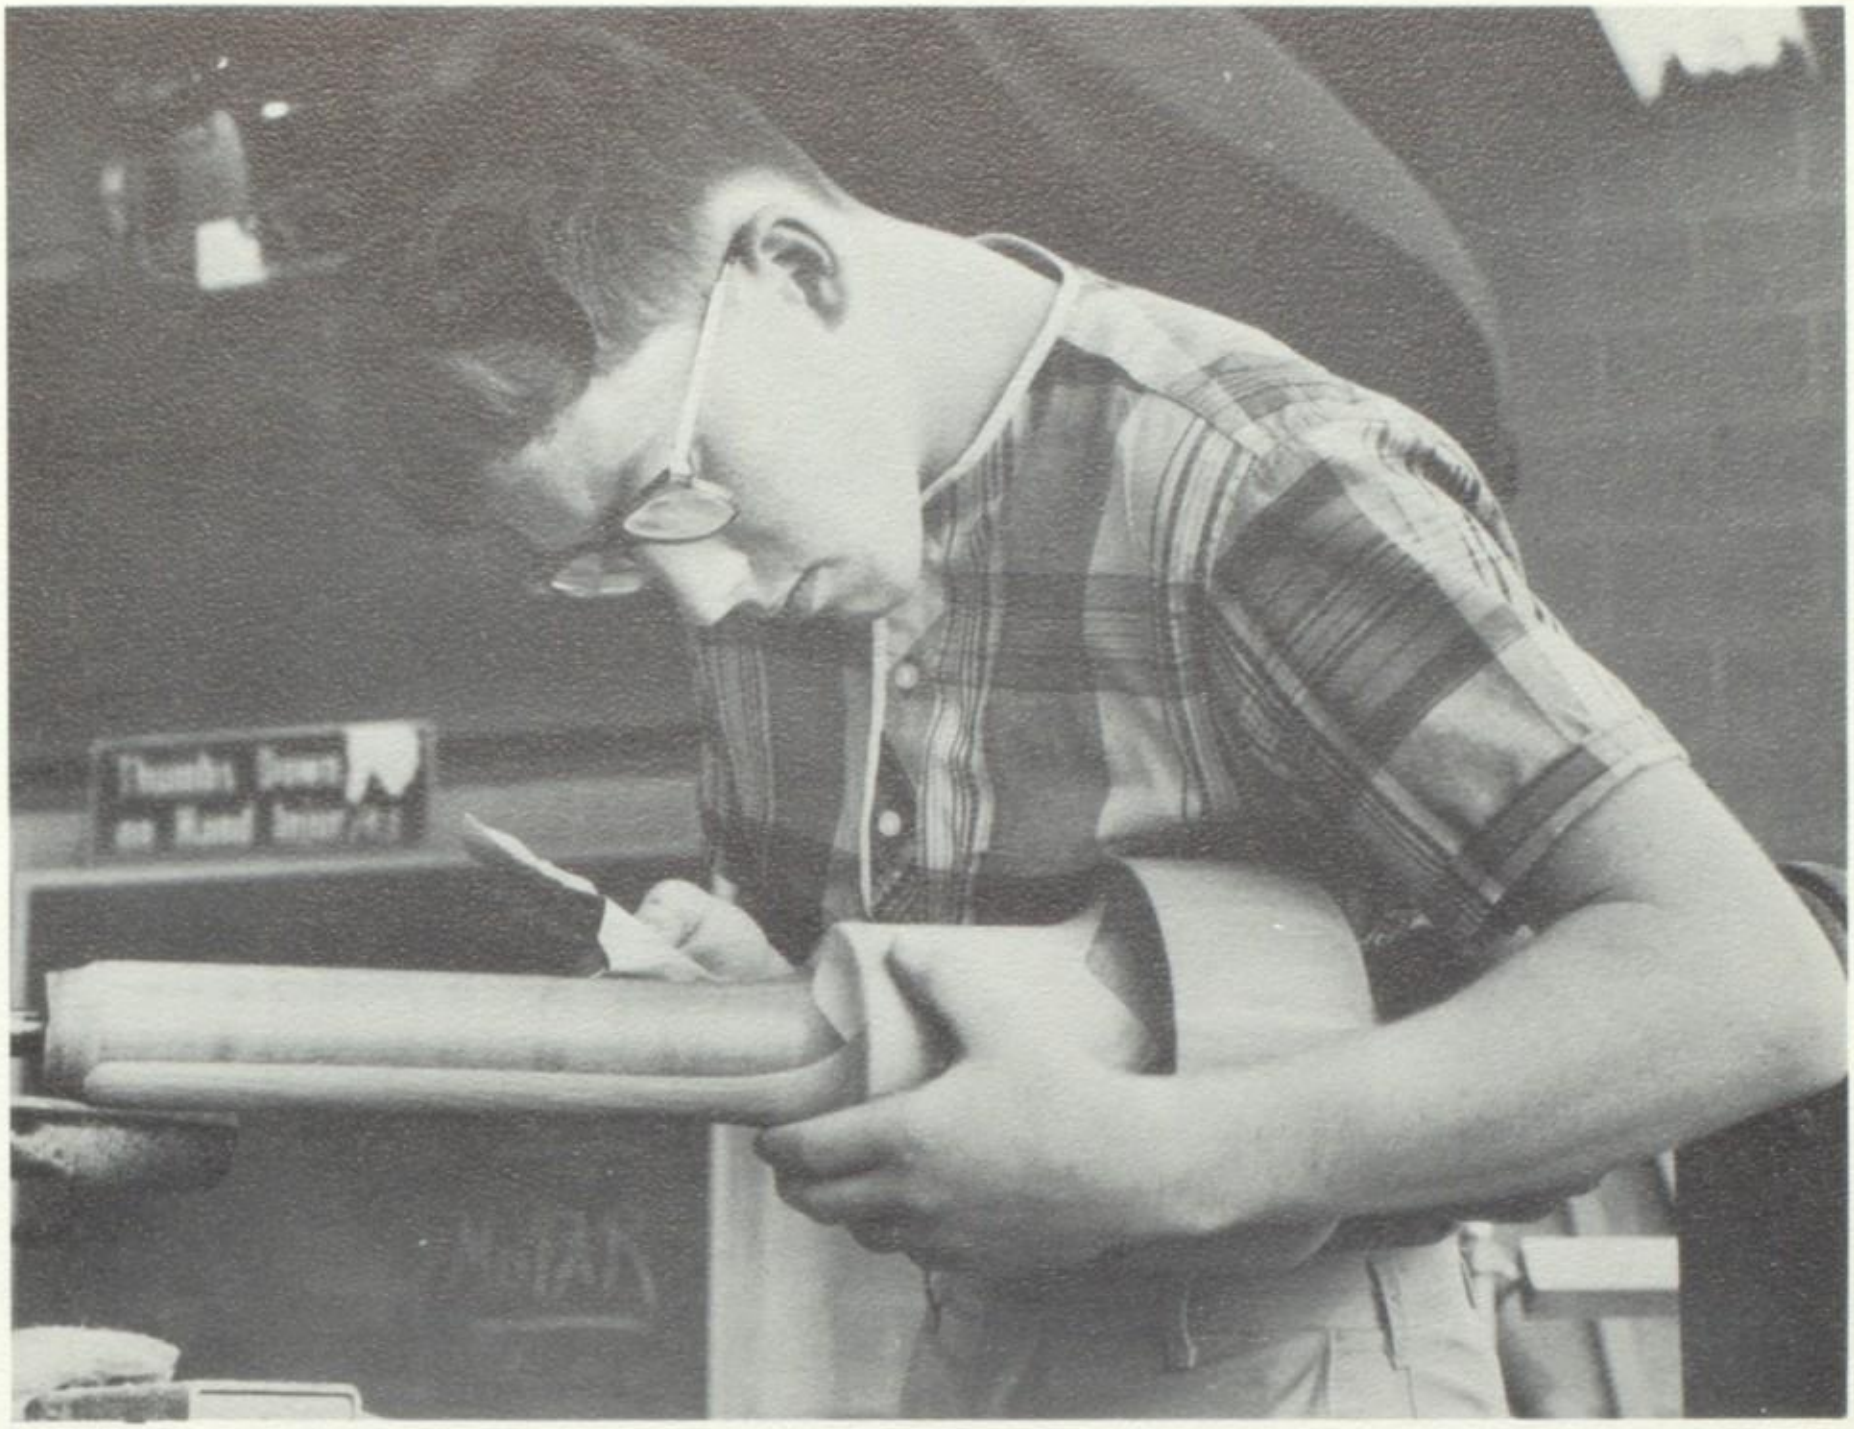




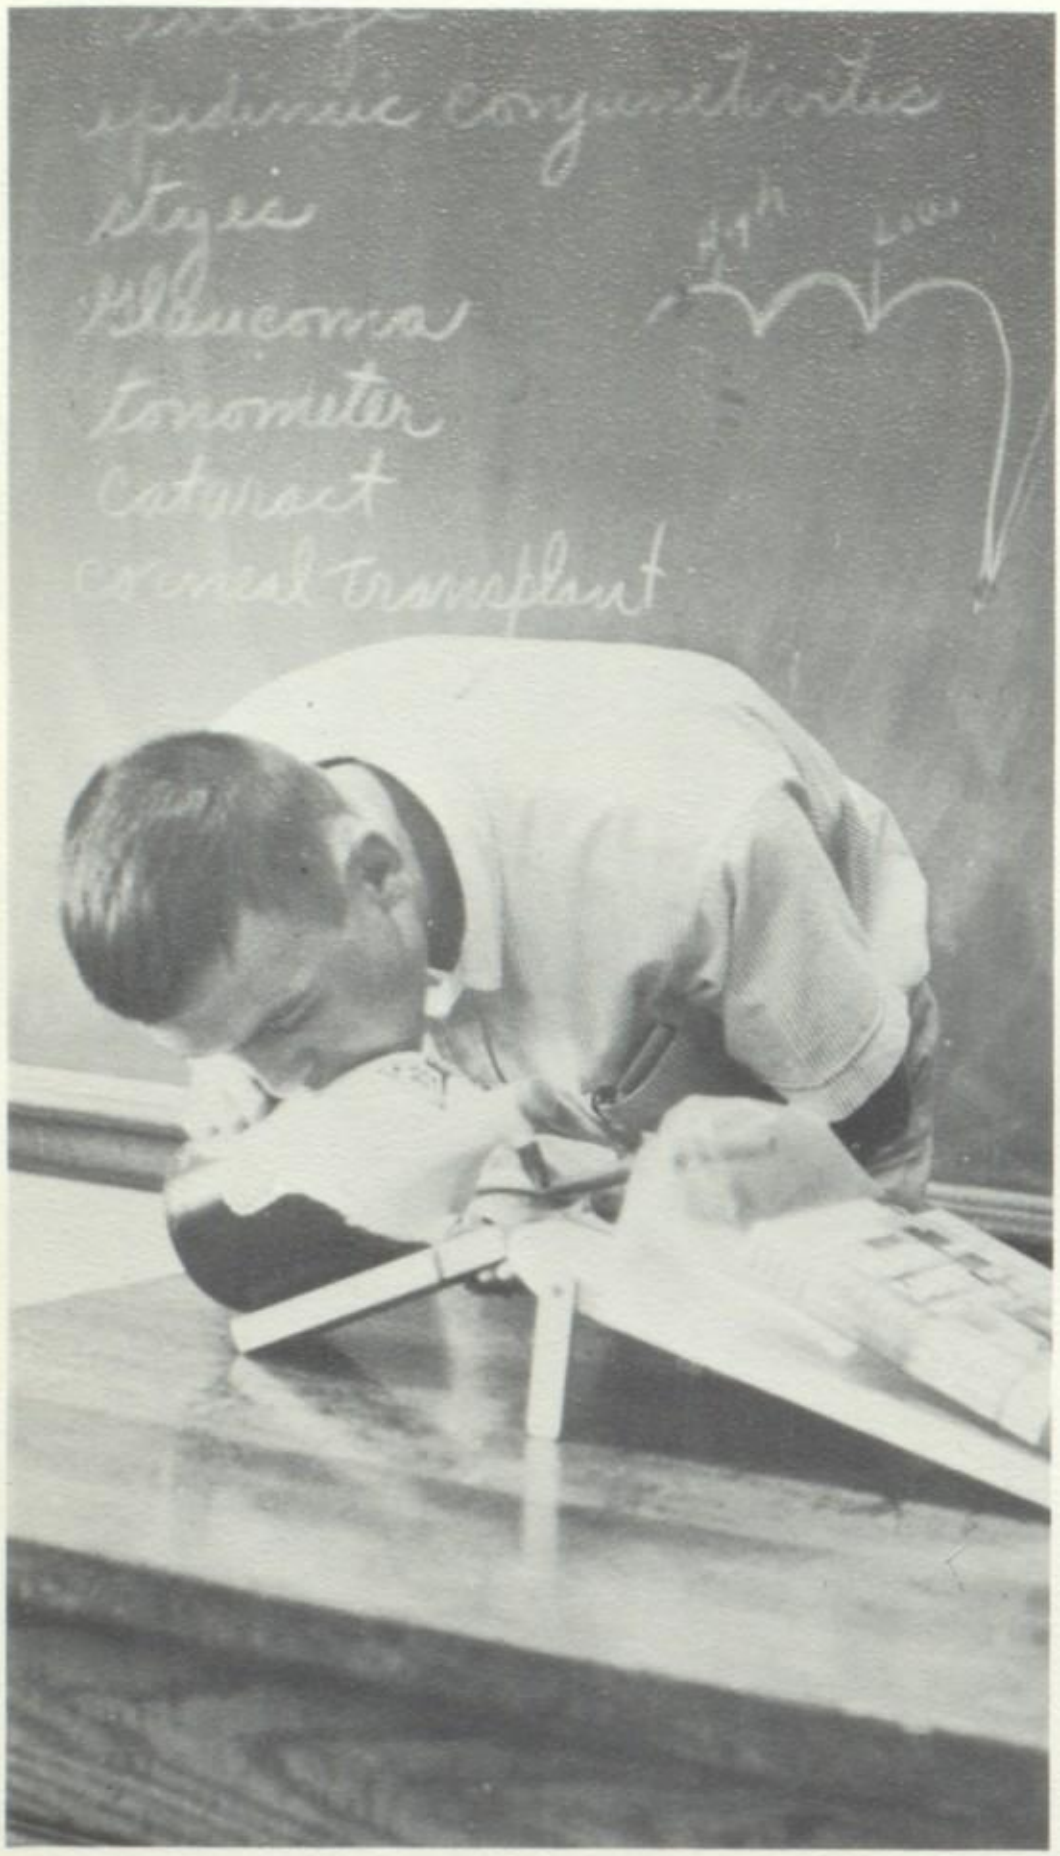








GENERAL

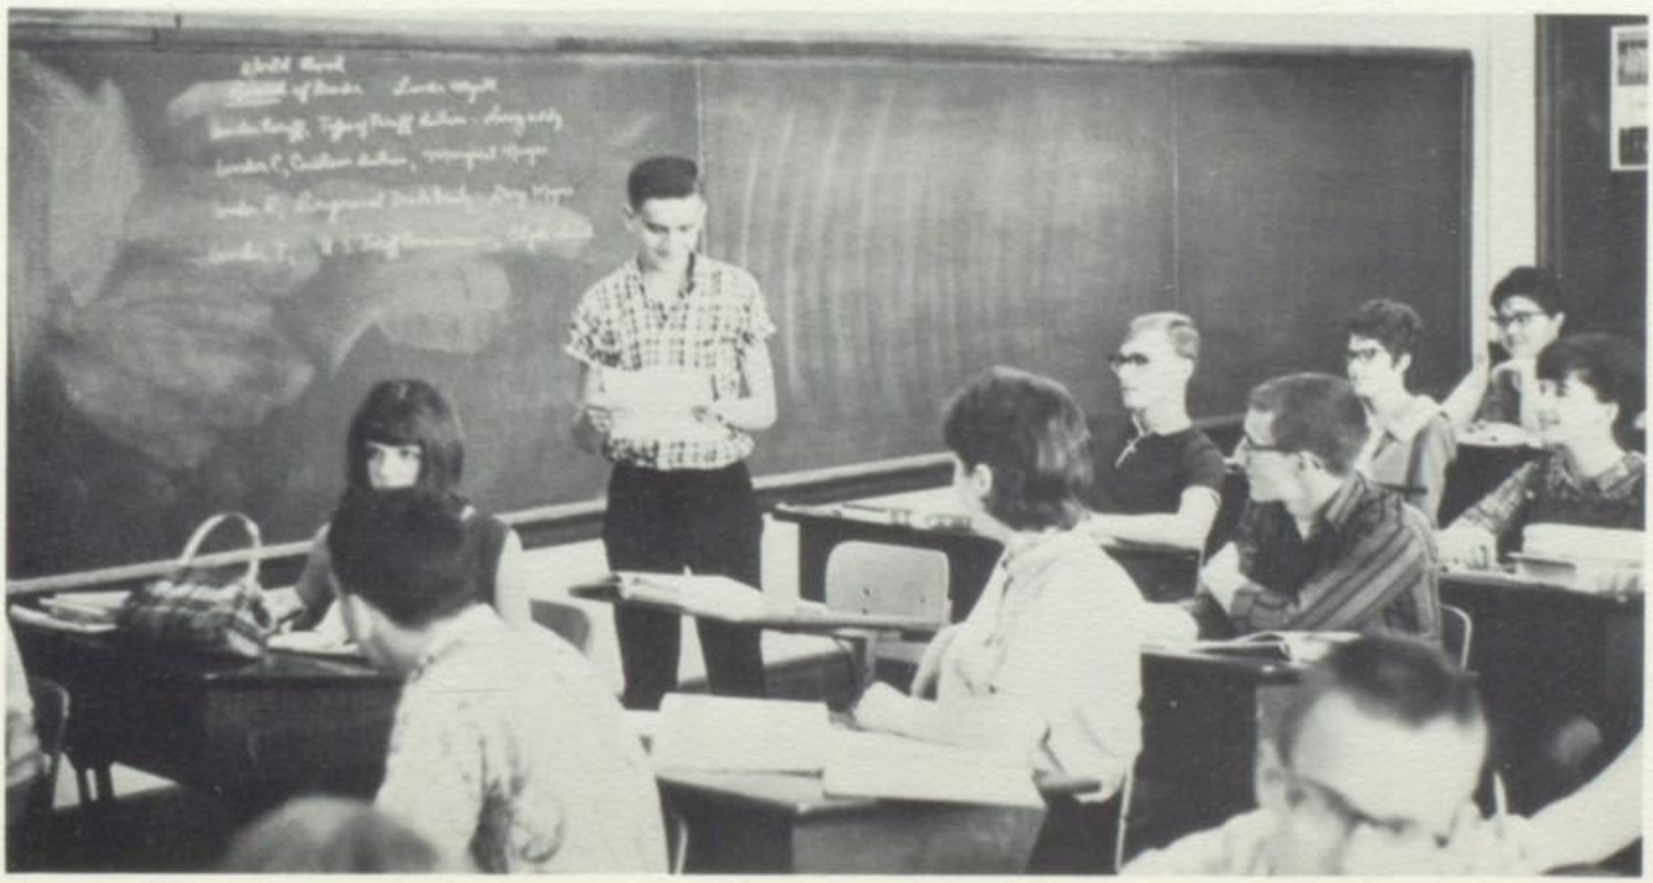


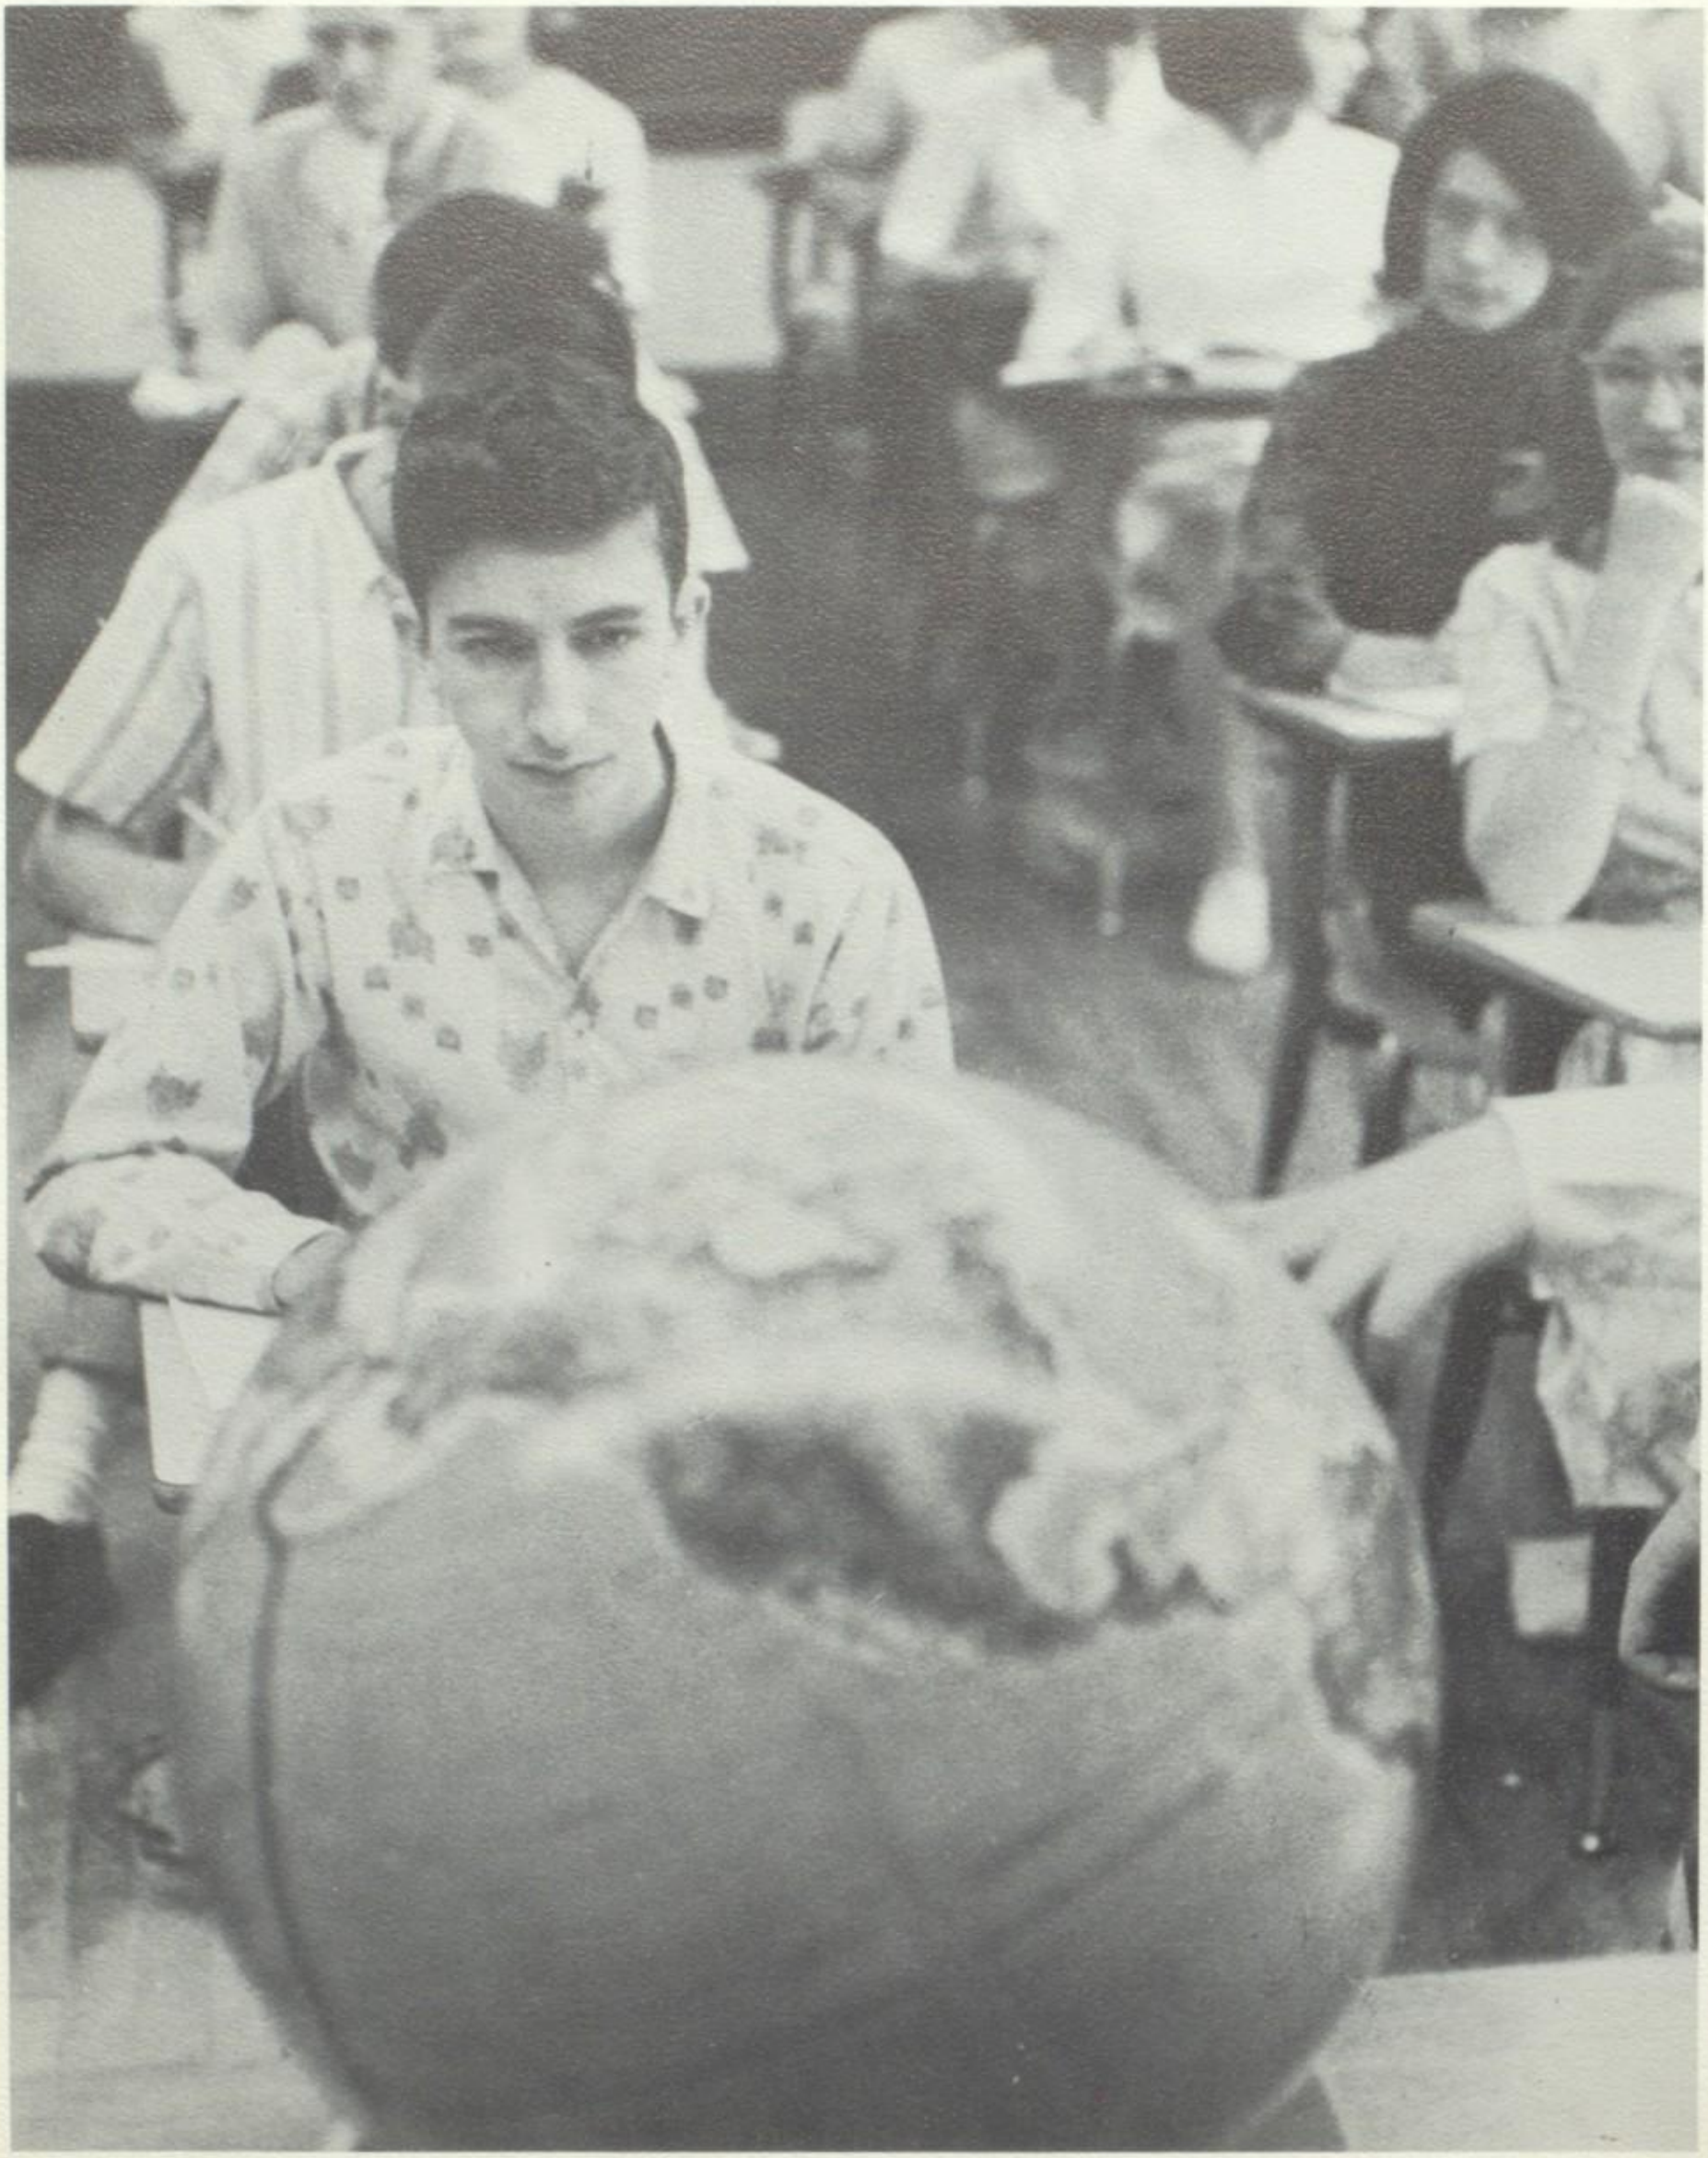
In addition to these other academic courses, many N.P.H.S. students take a general course of subjects. Girls who wish to obtain knowledge in sewing, cooking, baby care, tending to the sick, or even knitting can do so in the home economics course which is offered for three years. This subject prepares the girls immeasurably for marriage and child care.

Health, a one semester course, is required for all seniors. Through supplements of movies, demonstrations, charts and skeletons, much is learned about caring for the sick and one's own health. Also a first aid course is included which helps the students prepare for emergencies.

Psychology and economics, also one semester courses, give those who take these subjects a diversified academic schedule. These students become well-educated with a fundamental perception of these subjects.

The speech course at N.P.H.S. strives to teach students to listen effectively, to speak effectively, and to make good use of the inventions that have revolutionized communication. They learn to prepare and deliver speeches, debates and plays.





Notehand is a type of shorthand which is condensed into one semester to aid those students who will be continuing their education and will be taking many notes. This will help one to copy more complete intact notes.

Two required subjects in this general course are history and civics, both of which give students a higher appreciation of our country and its government. World history is taken in the sophomore year, American history in the junior year, and civics in the senior year.

Never to be forgotten by the students of New Philadelphia High School were the thrills provided by the Quaker athletic squads of 1964-65 as they competed against formidable opponents. The first action-packed experience that comes to mind was that hard-fought gridiron battle against arch-rival Dover. The excitement of that 14-14 tie will never be equaled. Who can possibly forget the action at the Quaker gymnasium where 2300 screaming fans flooded the court following the 62-58 overtime victory against rival Coshocton? The wrestling team gained new fans and achieved higher status with a 20-17 come-from-behind victory over Carrollton, a team that never had been beaten by Quaker grapplers. The cindermen sweated and toiled their way to an excellent third place finish in the Tornado relays and completely overpowered the opposition in the first New Philadelphia Invitational Relays to highlight a record-smashing season. The baseball team took the field against the Ashland Arrows for a doubleheader that would decide which of the two teams would remain in the running for the Cardinal Conference crown. By tight pitching and powerful hitting, the Quakers took both games by scores of 11-2 and 3-1. It was an outstanding year for New Philadelphia athletics, a year which will live long in the memories of Quaker fans.

The 1964 edition of the New Philadelphia Quakers, under the direction of Al Christopher and his seven able assistants, had the first winning season in New Phila since the 1957 team posted a 7-3 record. The Quakers finished 6-2-2 overall and 4-1-1 in the rugged Cardinal Conference. The Phils were tied with Dover for second place in the C.C.

By defeating Wooster in the first game of the season, the Phils ended a seven year streak without an opening game victory. From this victory to the 14-14 tie with Dover, the Quakers provided their fans with many thrills. The Quakers fell only to two state-ranked teams, Canton Lincoln and C.C. Champion Ashland. They also battled East Liverpool to an 8-8 stalemate on a muddy field.

Besides romping over West Holmes, Madison, Malabar, and Coshocton, the Quakers also humiliated Uhrichsville by a 30-6 count. Because Uhrichsville and Dennison will merge to form the newly organized Claymont High School, this was the last game played between the Quakers and the Tigers. The Phila-Dover tie marks only the eighth time in the sixty game series that the final score was deadlocked. The Quakers had to come from behind to even things up. With the defense giving the best it could, Rick Linard scored the TD and Mark Francis added the vital extra points with seconds left on the clock.

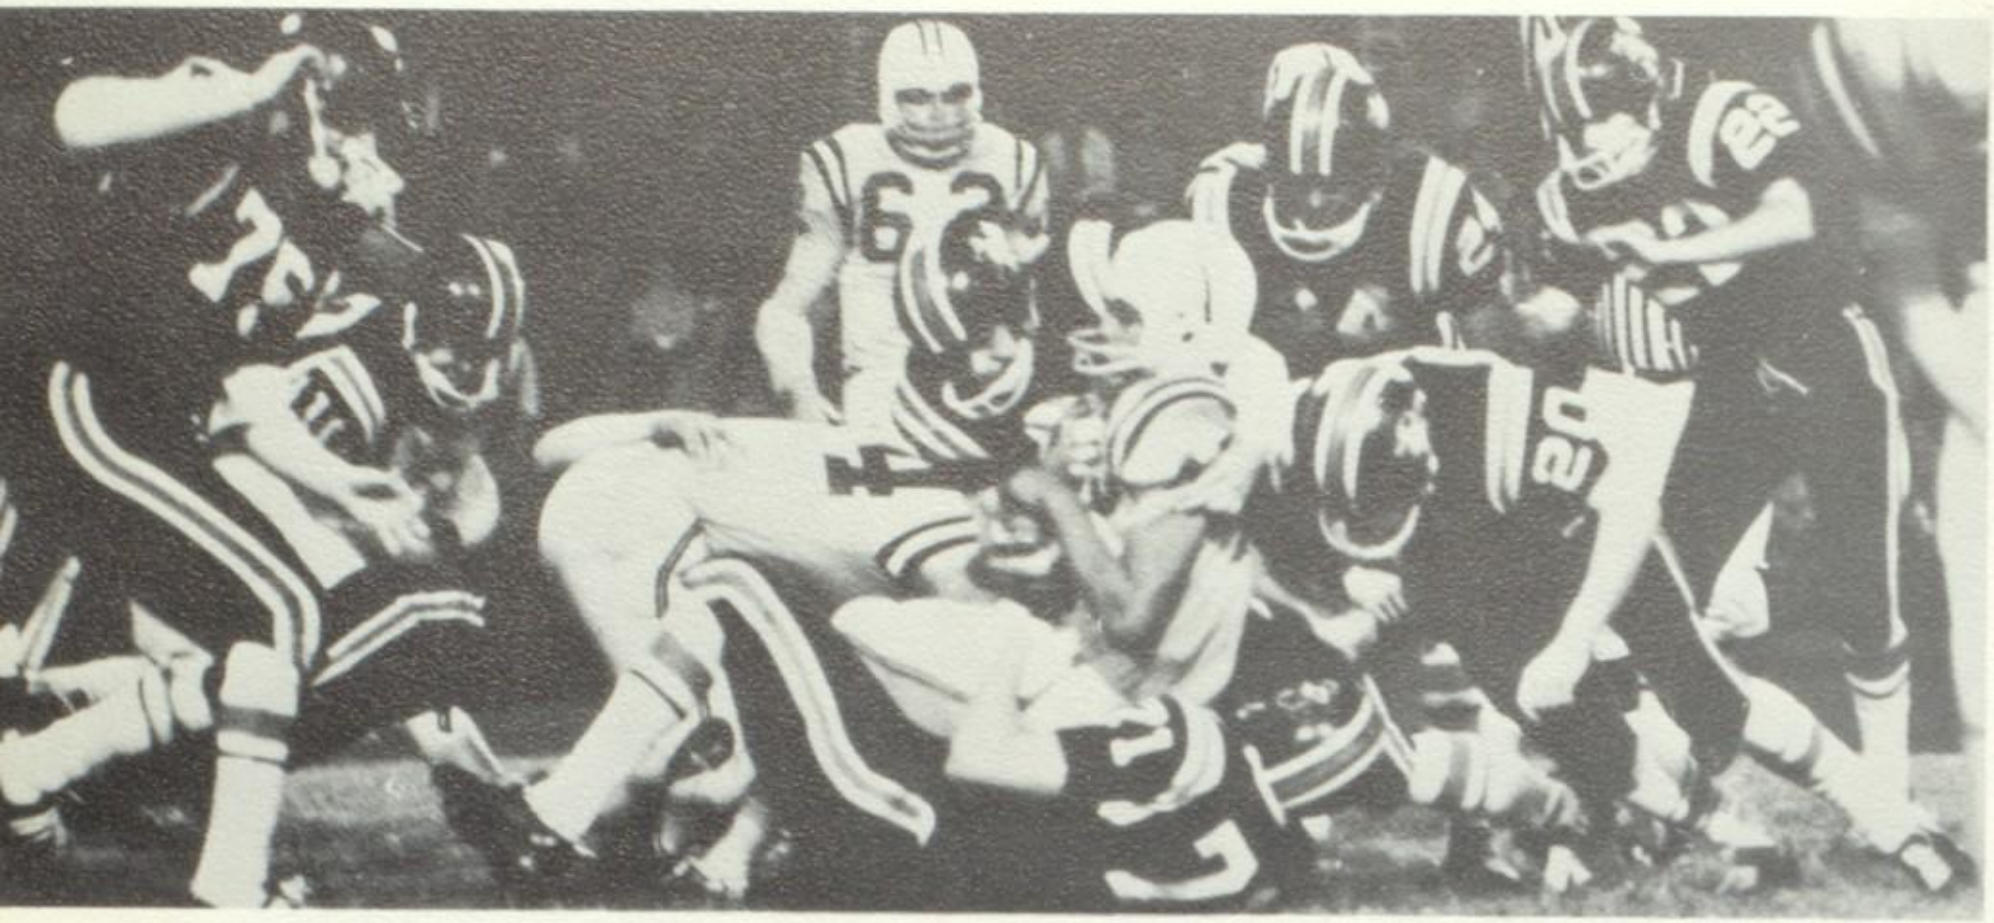
Forming the nucleus of the 1964 Quaker team were sixteen seniors who fought through two losing seasons before leading the team into C.C. contention this year. Winning their third monogram this season were Mark Francis, Tom Dindo, and Dale Waltz. Seniors Larry Denmon, Jon Clay, Doug Coutts, Ed Evans, Larry Fisher, Rich Hodder, Rick Linard, and Stan Myers, copped their second letter this campaign, and Bill Shook, Wendell Merrill, Jeff Coleman, Bob McMillen, and Dan Gibbs earned their first.

Several members of this year's squad received special recognition. Francis was All-Cardinal Conference; Dindo was All-Ohio; Clay was All-Ohio and Co-Valuable player in the Phila-Dover contest; and Denmon, who highlighted the season with a record 108 yard punt return against Uhrichsville, was elected All-Quaker by the student body.



An Ashland Arrow is tackled by Tom Dindo (71) while a host of Quakers, including Ed Evans (75), Larry Denmon (24), Stan Myers (22), and Mark Francis (20), move in to help.

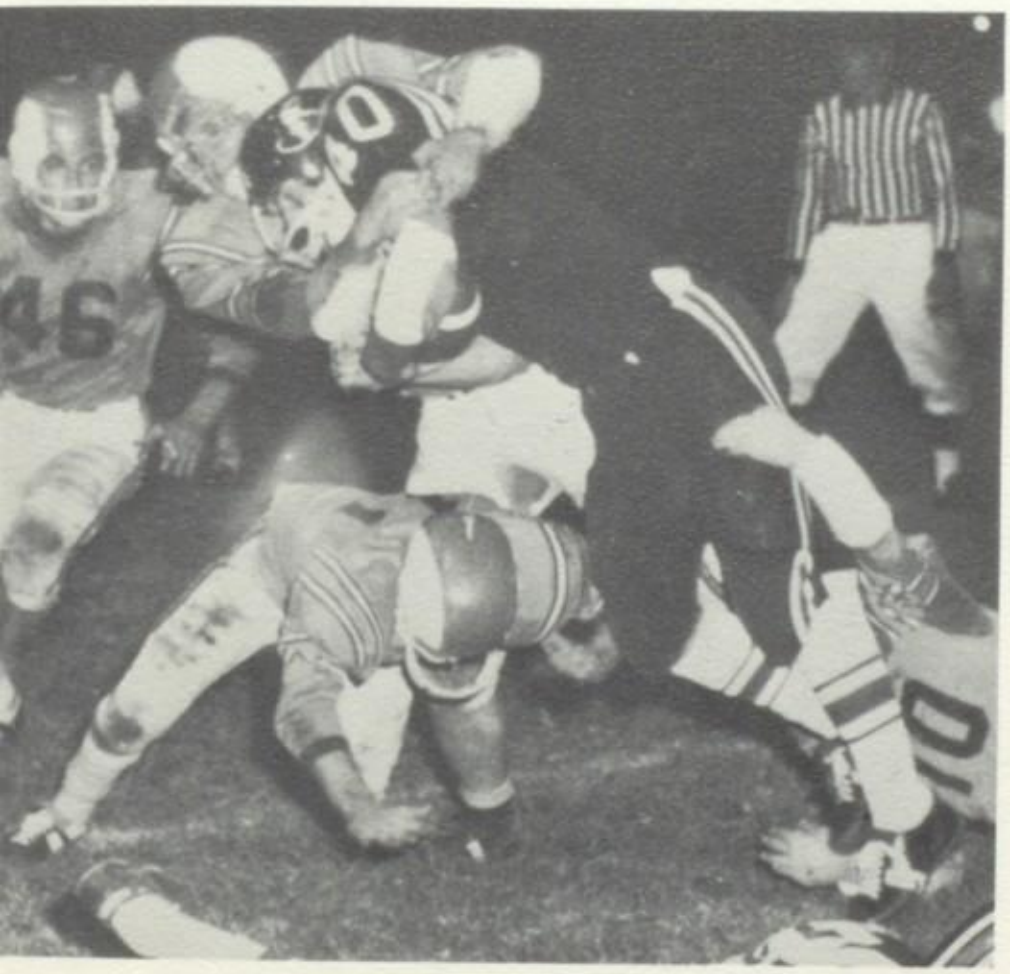
CHRISTOPHER QUOTES

"This football season should be dedicated to the senior participants. These boys made up their minds they were going to have a winning football season, and records show they have had winning seasons throughout their three years of high school. We had sixteen seniors which I'm sure will meet life's encounters with the same determination and attitude they displayed during the football season.

A special thanks to our Co-Captains, Doug Coutts and Jon Clay for their fine leadership during the season.

Also to the cheerleaders and the student body for their fine support and spirit, which I think has New Phila at a high crest.

Keeping a fine spirit and pride will do much to keep New Phila on the winning side of the ledger. We can refer to the old adage, "Nothing succeeds like success."



Tailback Dave Moreland, the leading scorer and rusher for Phila, is brought down by three Uhrichsville defenders.

Right-Jerry Bower is about to be tackled by a Uhrichsville player.

Coaches Al Dunn and Sam Miller watch intently from the sidelines during the Dover game.

The New Philadelphia reserve football team of 1964 posted a brilliant 7-1 record, improving on the previous squad's final slate. The young Quakers shut out four of their opponents: Sandy Valley 22-0, Carrolton 28-0, Wooster 24-0, and Three Rivers 12-0. Three other reserve teams fell to the strong reserves: Zanesville 28-6, Coshocton 37-22, and Cambridge 22-6. Arch-rival Dover was the only team to defeat Phila by a score of 26-6.

The standouts of the backfield were Leo Richards, Jamie McGarry, and Eric Porter. However it takes more than a backfield to make a successful team work well under all conditions. Coaches Al Dunn and Sam Miller molded this team into a rugged and capable football team.

For the first time in the history of New Philadelphia athletics a Cross-Country squad was added to the ever expanding sports program at Phila. The unexperienced Quakers finished fourth in the Muskingum Valley meet and fourth in the Cardinal Conference, a very fine showing for the newly organized program. Paul Gibson, Jeff White, Pete Archer, Cal Lenarz, and Bruce Ronald, adhering to the rigorous training schedule required for the Cross-Country, continuously turned in a fine performance for the Red and Black.

Although losing the opening contest of the season to Cambridge, the Quakers, under the leadership of Coach Leo Benjamin, got off to their finest start since 1943-1944, by winning eleven of their first thirteen games and finishing with a 14-5 record.

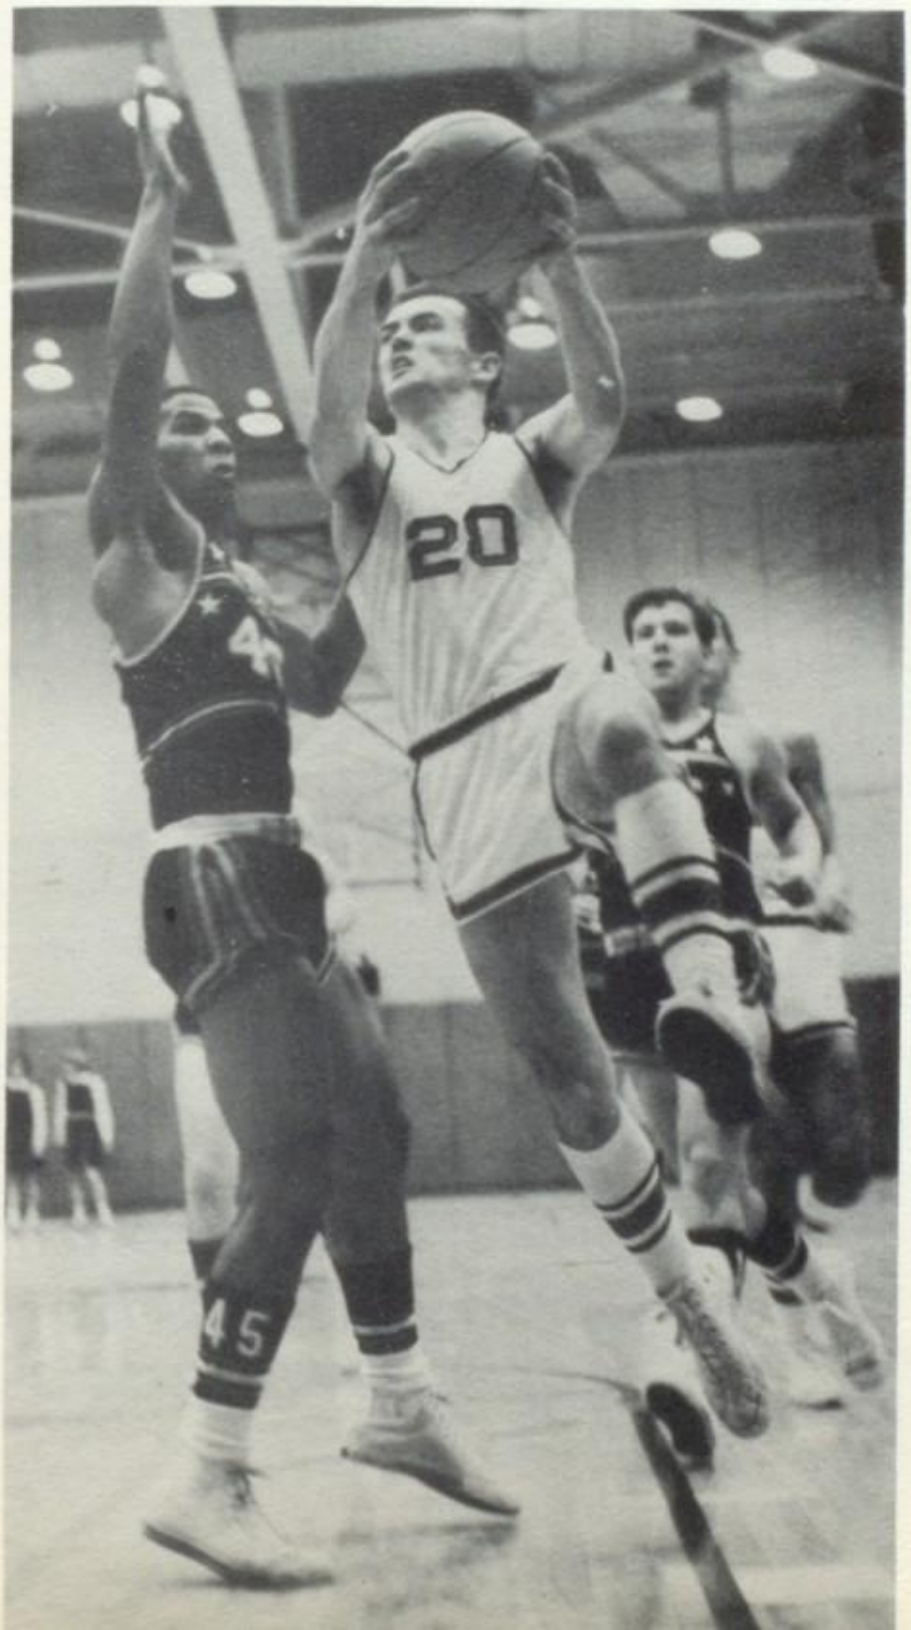
In the second game, against Malabar, Jan Fait, Ed Evans, and Rick Linard grabbed a record-breaking 66 rebounds to overwhelm the Malabar team 54-47.

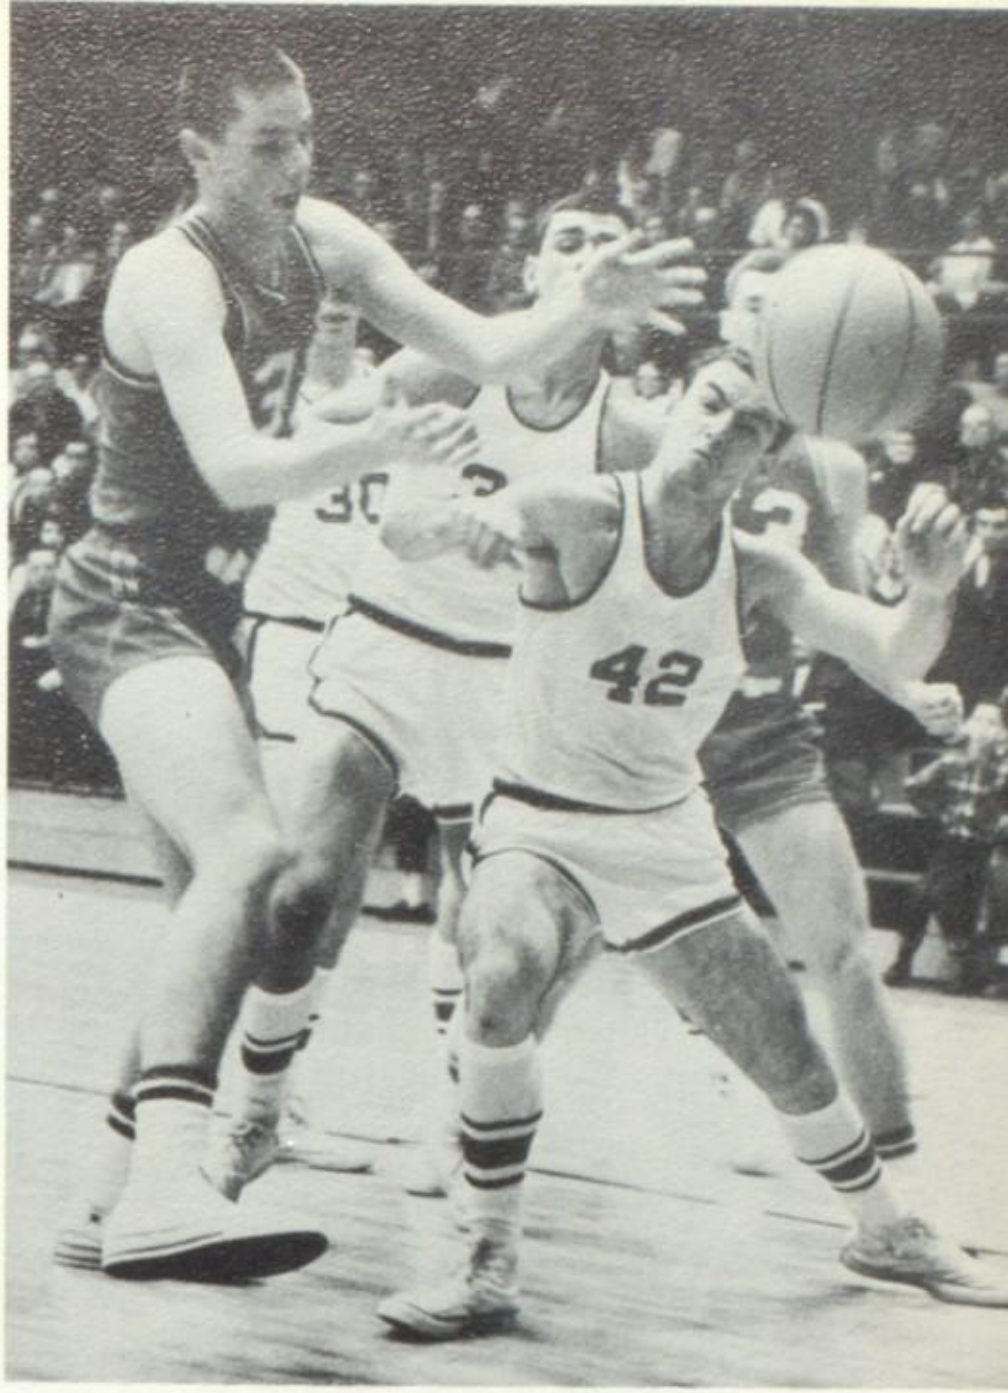
The Quakers continued on their streak by posting six consecutive triumphs including a revenge win over Ashland, last year's C.C. champion. In the games against Ashland, Madison, and Alliance, All-Conference and All-District guard Mark Francis scored 27, 25, and 32 points respectively, including 16 for 16 fouls against Alliance. In the Ashland contest, senior Steve Arnold received the call to start at center, and his 20 points earned him a starting position.

During the overtime period with Coshocton, Tom Struchen, who made the All-Conference first team and the All-District second team, swished six free throws in as many tries to help defeat the Redskins 62-58. This was the only loss the Coshocton club encountered before being defeated by Columbus South in regional play.

Following the overtime triumph, the Phils were upset by Wooster 40-38. The Quakers followed with four consecutive victories before bowing to a tall, talented Uhrichsville team by 84-68.

Mark Francis, the leading Quaker scorer, drives in for a two-pointer against Roosevelt Robinson of Ashland.





Leading rebounder Jan Fait scraps with a Coshocton player.

The next game was to determine the Conference champion -- Coshocton. Although Phila was down by only two points going into the final quarter, the Redskins dominated the canto for an eventual 67-54 victory and the championship. For the second straight year, the Quakers had to settle for the runner-up spot in the C.C.

Despite these two defeats, the Quakers finished the season with victories in their last three games, including a revenge stomping of Wooster and their sixth consecutive victory over arch-rival Dover.

The Quakers lost their chance for annexing a second consecutive Eastern District championship by losing again to Uhrichsville.

J.V.'S POST 13-5 SLATE

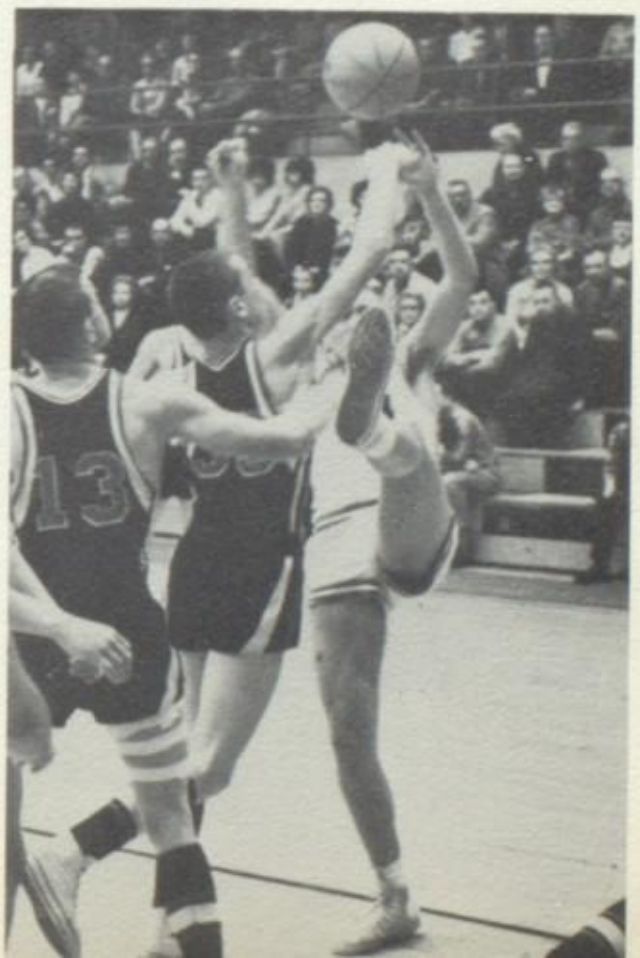
Kneeling: Nick Incarnato, Rick Sattler, Ted Ricker, Bill Kidd, and Dave Coutts. Standing: Coach Larry Chaney, Chris Dutton, Tom Fenton, Glenn Rupe, Chip McMillan, Len Gundy, Chuck Cardani, and Jamie McGarry.

Victors in eleven of their first thirteen games, the reserve basketball team of 1964-65 posted the third consecutive winning season that a J.V. squad has recorded.

The charges of Coach Larry Chaney gained experience with at least eight men playing in every game. This strong bench strength played a vital factor in helping the Quakers conquer the majority of their foes.

The Quakers averaged 48 points per game as compared to their opponents 42 points. During the season the Phils split two games with Ashland, Coshocton, and Dover. However, the Uhrichsville team was the only team Phila played that they were unable to defeat.

Chuck Cardani does a little leg work in the last game of the season.



QUAKER WRESTLERS FOURTH IN C.C.

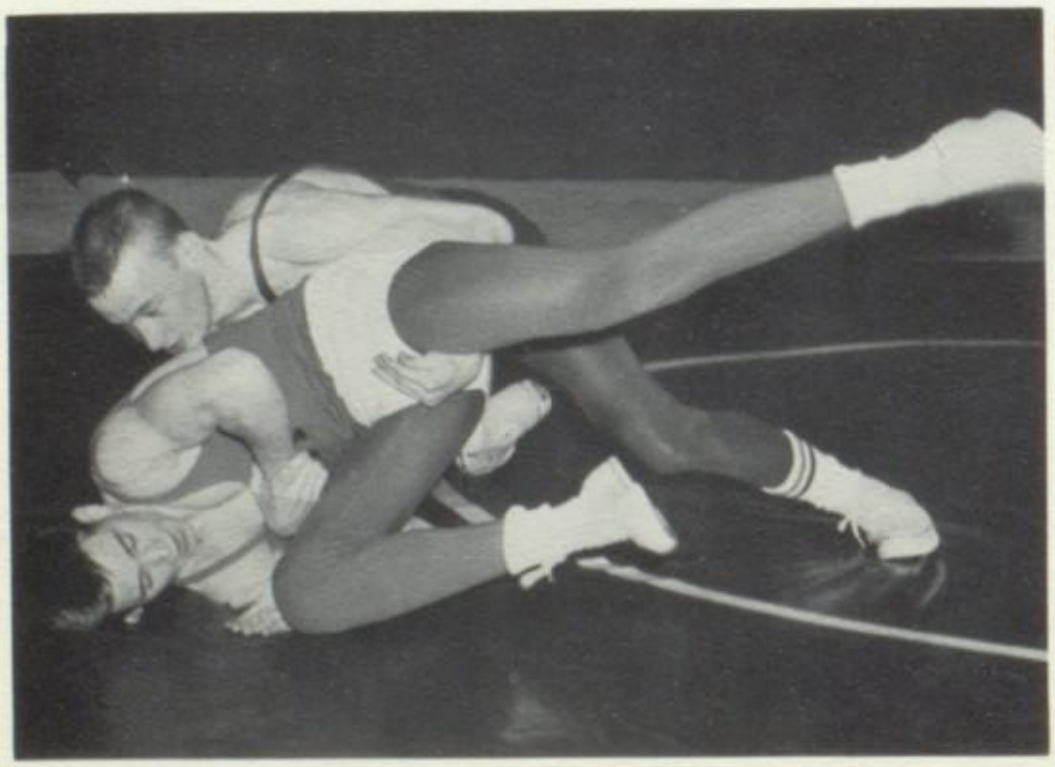
Standing: Ed Russell, Jim Egan, Lew Smith, Rick Gray, Rich Hodder, Pat Fontana, Rick Ellis, and Steve Moore.

Dave Voshall has a far-arm deep body hold on an Ashland wrestler.



Although opening the season on a victorious note, the Quaker wrestlers usually ended up on the short end of the string in their meets. Freshman Coach Dave Myers led the Phils to a 2-6-1 record and a fourth place in the rugged Cardinal Conference.

The Biggest surprise of the season was a win over Carrollton. For the first time in their wrestling history the Quakers came out ahead of the Warriors by a 20-17 count. Behind 17-14 going into the last two matches, Rod Reese and Rick Ellis won their individual contests to put the Phils on top at the final buzzer.

Five wrestlers will graduate this year, Ed Russell, Bill Shook, Lew Winston, Rich Hodder, and Rick Ellis.

In one of the best track seasons at New Phila, six of the fourteen existing records were broken. Paul Gibson set a new mile record by turning in a time of 4:37.1 minutes and Larry Denmon ran the 100 yard dash in 10.5 seconds. The mile relay team composed of Dick Bible, Dan Metzger, Dan Clark, and Stan Myers, combined their talents to post a time of 3:36.7 minutes. The half-mile relay squad of Metzger, Clark, Dave Moreland, and Denmon broke that record with a time of 1:34.4 minutes. In the field division, Jerry Bower pole-vaulted 11'3" and Tom Dindo threw the discus 142'5 1/2".

Tom Struchen heads back for first as the Ashland team attempts a pick-off.

The baseball team this past season compiled a record of seven wins and nine losses and was in the running for the C. C. crown until the last game of the season.

Tom Struchen led the regulars with a batting average of .308 while Tom Fenton hit .385 as a part-timer. Mark Francis and Dale Waltz led a tight pitching staff. The opposition found it tough going against both Quaker hitters and pitchers this spring.

Bill Celce provided the biggest thrill of the season as he slammed three home runs in succession against the Mansfield Madison nine.

GOLF TEAM ENDS SEASON 11-8

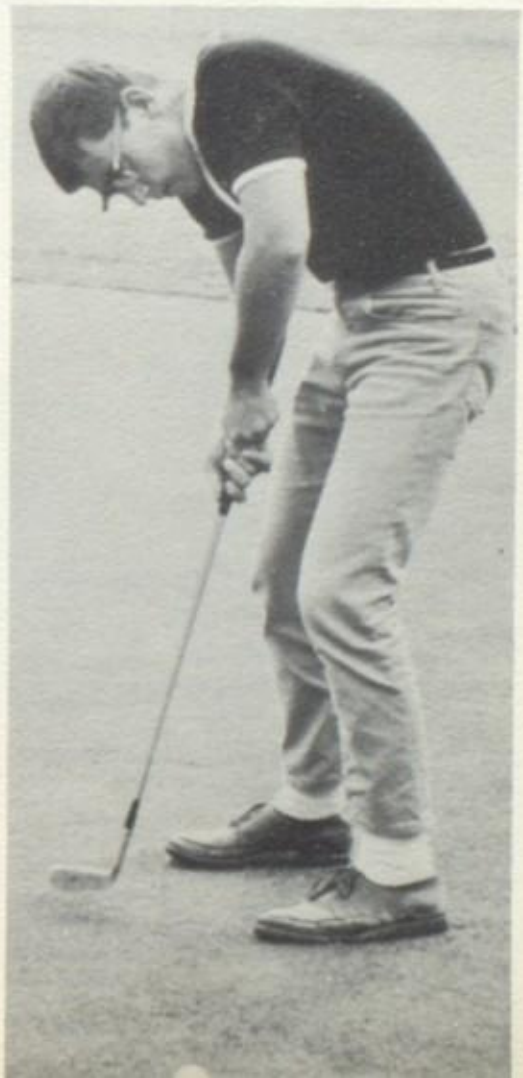
The 1965 Quaker golf team showed that golf is on the upswing as NPHS. The team posted a record of eleven wins and eight losses while participating in such tournaments as the Cardinal Conference and the Dover Invitational Tournaments, in addition to a number of duel meets. This was the first year in the history of the school that the golf team took part in more than six meets. Senior members of the squad included Steve Gibbs-who scored a low of 34 on the first nine holes at Hidden Valley, two below par-Terry Hewitt, Lew Winston, Ken Burgess, Frank Smith, and Bill Stephon.

Steve Gibbs pitches to the green as Lew Winston drops a putt.



New Philadelphia High School offers its students a wide variety of clubs and activities whose purposes are to enrich each student's life and to prepare him for the future. Such clubs as Future Nurses of America, Future Teachers of America, Young Business Leaders, and Vocational Industrial Club give the students an opportunity to make friends with those who have similar interests. Other clubs which include Y-Teens, Tri-Hi-Y, Hi-Y, and Youth for Christ help to promote Christian fellowship throughout the world. Having been formed by enthusiastic students, the Pep Club rallies the Quakers on to victory and consoles them in defeat. Students are given the opportunity to participate in a self-governing body through the Student Council. Other clubs such as the Debate Team and the Speech Activities Club teach the students the fundamentals of drama and the presentation of well-organized arguments. The Spanish Club and French Club complement the study of a foreign language by familiarizing students with the history and customs of the country. By participating in these clubs and activities, students receive a well-rounded education.

The Student Council has governed the school's activities since 1930. It is an organization of students, elected by students, who serve as representatives in matters of concern to the school. It represents all and speaks for all. It gives the students the opportunity to learn and practice democracy. The Student Council sponsored the Homecoming Dance after the Wooster basketball game at which the homecoming queen and her court reigned.

The National Honor Society, consisting of seniors and juniors who maintain a 3.5 average or better, offers a challenge and competition for students. Its purpose is to promote scholarship, citizenship, leadership, character, and service in the school. Its activities include a banquet in the spring where seniors are recognized for their work. This organization increases the enthusiasm for excellent grades and bestows recognition for superior work.

The A Cappella Choir, composed of 111 members under the direction of Paul Bliss, did an outstanding job this year. An exceptional ability to change moods quickly from song to song is a trait of this excellent choir. Besides the traditional caroling in the halls at Christmas, the choir participated in the choral workshop held at Dover. The guest, Robert McCowen, directed the mass coral assembly composed of five high school choirs from Coshocton, Dover, Orrville, Wooster, and New Philadelphia. Exchange performances were held with Barberton and Jackson.

The choir appeared at the Jerusalem United Church of Christ for a rally sponsored by The New Philadelphia Youth Council of Churches. Among the many songs the choir sang this year were such favorites as "You Make Me Feel So Young" and "The Lord Is My Shepherd."

DANCE AND PEP BANDS

The Dance Band is an organization of musicians designated to play at various school activities or dances. Consisting of members from the tenth, eleventh, and twelfth grades, it is directed by a student, Jan Fait.

A great boost to the spirit at all home basketball games was the Pep Band. These members, who were usually also members of the marching band, devoted their time after school to practice the snappy jazz rhythms they played under the leadership of their student director, Dave Kutscher. The band also provided entertainment at the pep rallies. This group should be highly commended for their contribution of sportsmanship and school spirit.

Attired in new black uniforms, the 1964-1965 New Philadelphia High School Marching Band proved to be highly commendable in all its appearances. Training, which began in early August, demanded many hours of hard work from the members. This hard work resulted in fine exhibitions of precision marching and outstanding displays of musical ability. The band marched to the tune of college songs in the Swiss Festival, Halloween Parade, Veterans' Day Parade, Christmas Parade, and Memorial Day Parade. Their money-making projects included a candy sale, tag day, and two dances sponsored by the band parents. At the end of the year, the band enjoyed a picnic at Atwood.

MAJORETTES AND DRUM MAJOR

Bob Maus

The majorettes, chosen in the spring for their twirling and strutting ability, led the band in its many half-time shows and parades. Their flashy twirling routines and unique dance routines, resulting from many months of hard work, highlighted all band shows. These high-stepping, attractive girls also participated in pep rallies, the Dover-Phila snake dance, and the VIC banquet.

The drum major this year displayed an excellent job of leadership in helping the band director during practices and leading the band through its intricate formations. The majorettes and drum major contributed highly to the success of the band.

Music appreciation was the main subject in the Senior Orchestra. This group tried to convey to the student body the true beauty of symphonic and standard music. The orchestra played for the Christmas assembly, Baccalaureate, and commencement, and also gave an enjoyable performance at the annual Patron's Concert. Among the selections played this year were the scores from Music Man and My Fair Lady.

DELPHIAN

In its 53rd year of publication, the school yearbook, the Delphian, again strives to bring to NPHS students even higher qualities of workmanship than in previous years. This year's Delphian not only contains more pages but is also unique in that it brings a more complete review of the year's activities, including current spring athletics and highlights of the prom, class day, and graduation. These innovations, included in the 1965 edition, were introduced by the new adviser, Mr. Utsler, under summer delivery. A Senior Send-Off and dance, was held in August, to provide an opportunity for seniors to receive their yearbooks and mingle once again before they go their separate ways in the fall.

CENTRAL

Seated: Greg Bergman, Gale Morgan Standing: Kathy Pierce, Karen Freeman, Bob Maus

Published tri-weekly, the Central News is a journalistic function of the school. Under the guidance of Mr. Zimmerman, its purpose is to inform the student body of its activities and happenings. This newspaper is also in charge of Quaker Highlights, issued weekly in the Daily Times. The staff's activities included a day at Kent State University where they received several awards for their excellent publications, a day at the Daily Times office, and a week at Ohio University. The Central News provides journalistic experience in writing, reporting, editing, and layout.

The Ushers Club is represented by five girls from each class, selected to distribute programs and make the people comfortable at various school functions. They are chosen for their poise, cheerfulness, and congeniality.

This year they ushered at the Senior Class Play, the Patron's Concert, Baccalaureate, and Commencement services. These girls are to be commended for their faithfulness in performing this essential duty.

OFFICE PERSONNEL

Row 1: Linda McKerrihan, Beth Grimm, Paula Heaton, Mary Rennicker, Judy Walton, Sheryl Wassem Row 2: Judy Hinig, Debbie Kunze, Bertha Westhafer, Gale Morgan, Dianna Thomas, Susann Erwin, Connie Loveday Row 3: Carol Bucher, Becky Dergel, Sharon Palmer, Joyal Sarchet, Janie Kilchenman, Linda Reiser, Nancy Hunter, Betsy Gibson, Linda Wyatt

Through the useful service of the office personnel, small tasks are accomplished which would otherwise add extra work for Mrs. Keener, Mr. Gartrell, and Mr. Bartholow. Devoting one study hall a day, these girls perform the following jobs: stapling, arranging mail, filing, alphabetizing, running errands, and taking phone calls. Through their efforts, the functions of the office run more smoothly.

LIBRARY ASSISTANTS

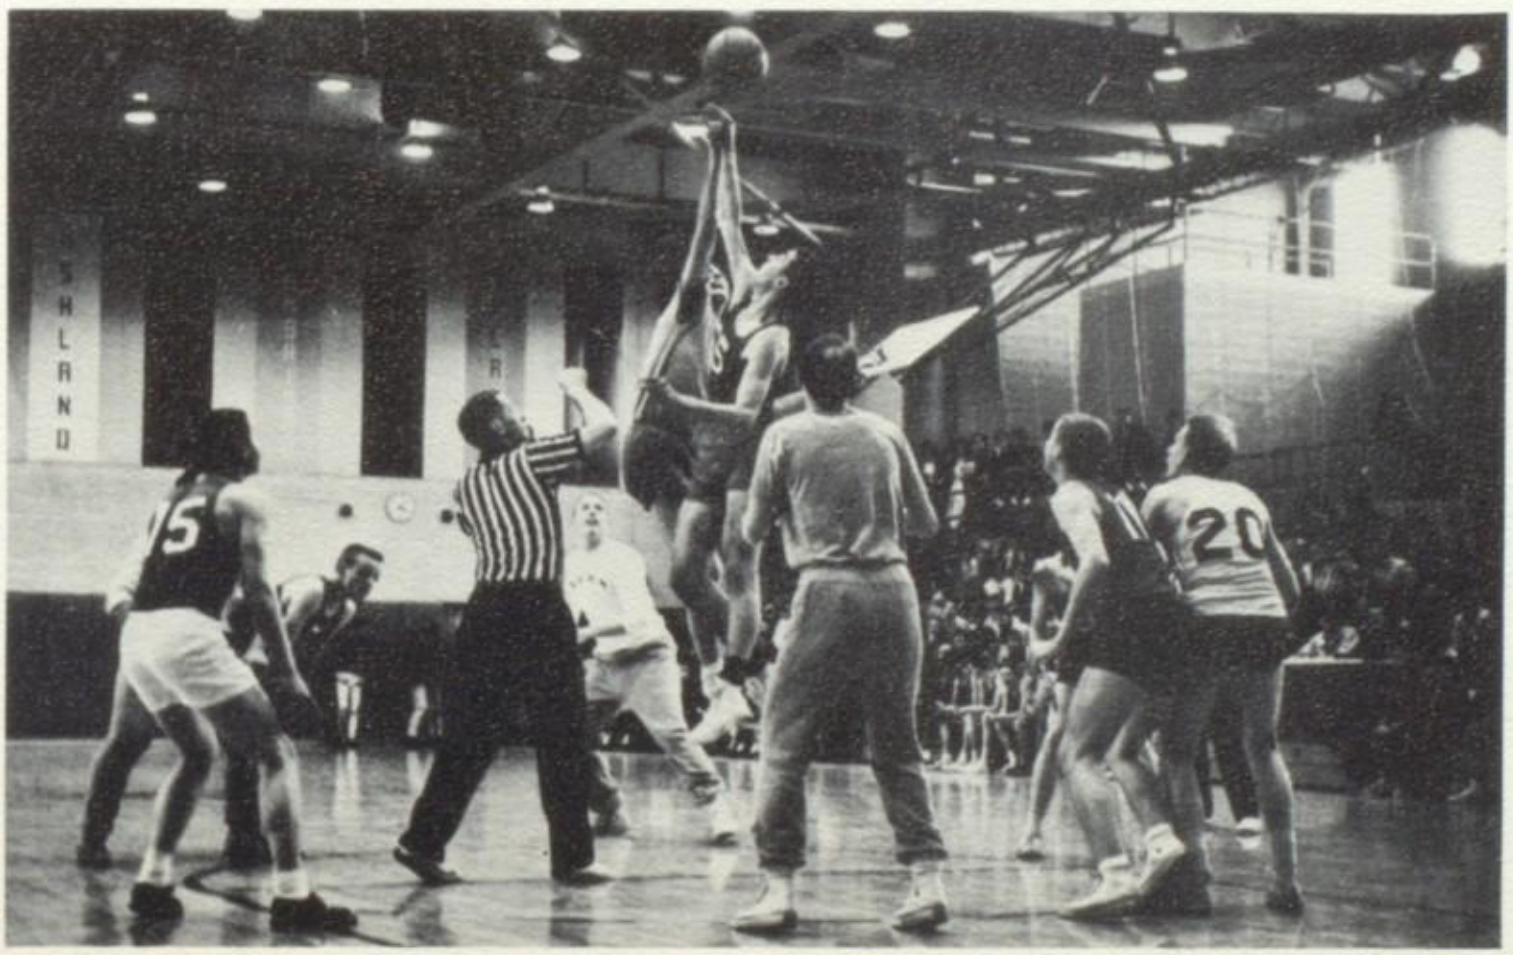
These hard-working girls, who sacrifice a study hall to serve on the library staff, are an immense help to the librarian. These girls keep busy working at the desk, shelving books, and maintaining the order of the library. In addition, they arrange magazines and newspapers so that they are in order and up-to-date.

AUDIO VISUAL

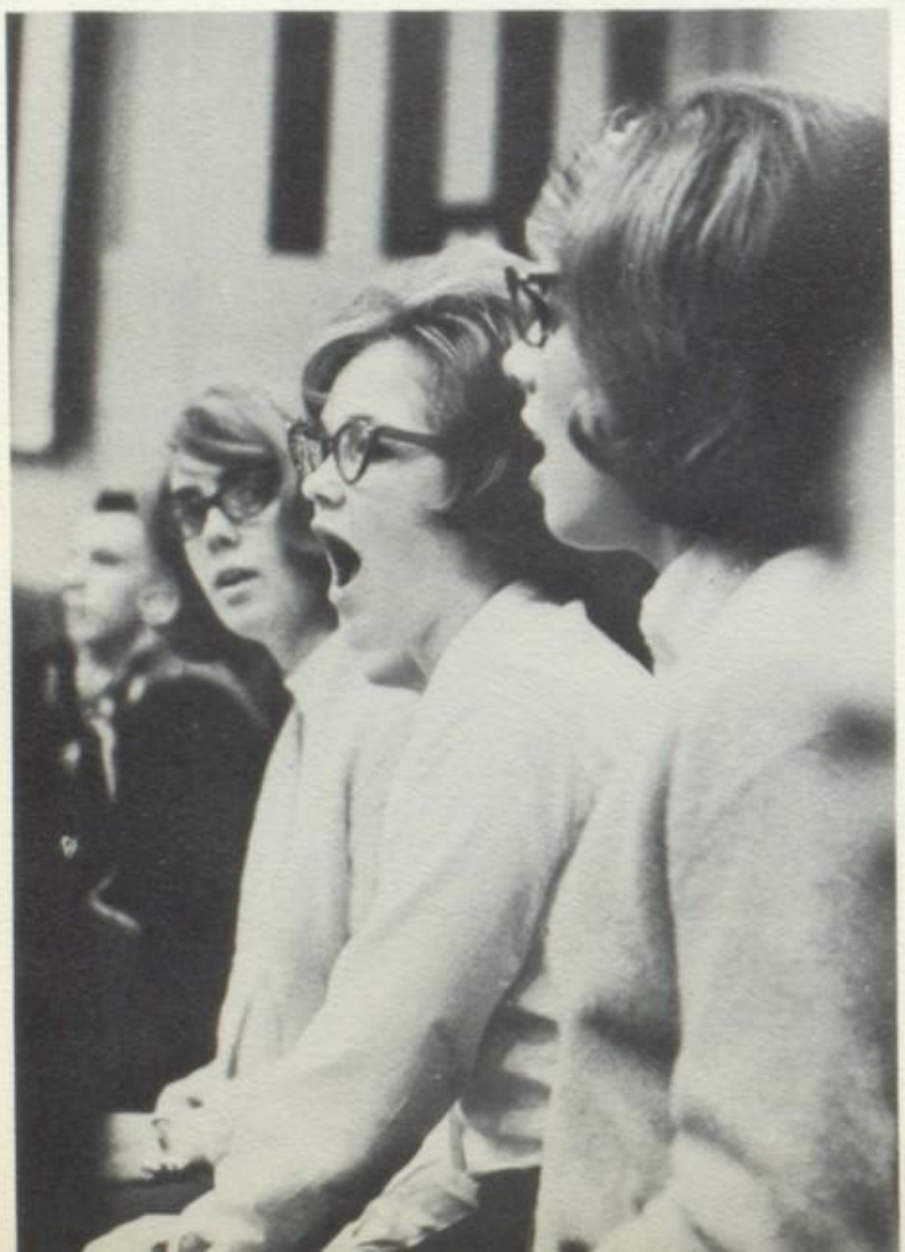
Under the direction of Mr. Phillips, the audio visual aides assist the teachers by running slide projectors, movie projectors, and tape recorders, which are used by the faculty to supplement other classroom materials.

VIC

Providing our community with skilled workmen and qualified leaders, the Vocational Industrial Club unites the students enrolled in trade and industrial classes and builds better standards for them to follow. A trip to Detroit was the highlight of this year's events. Other activities of the V.I.C. boys include a Beat-Dover Bonfire, the co-sponsoring of a dance, a reunion banquet, and their first triumph in the V.I.C. faculty basketball game.

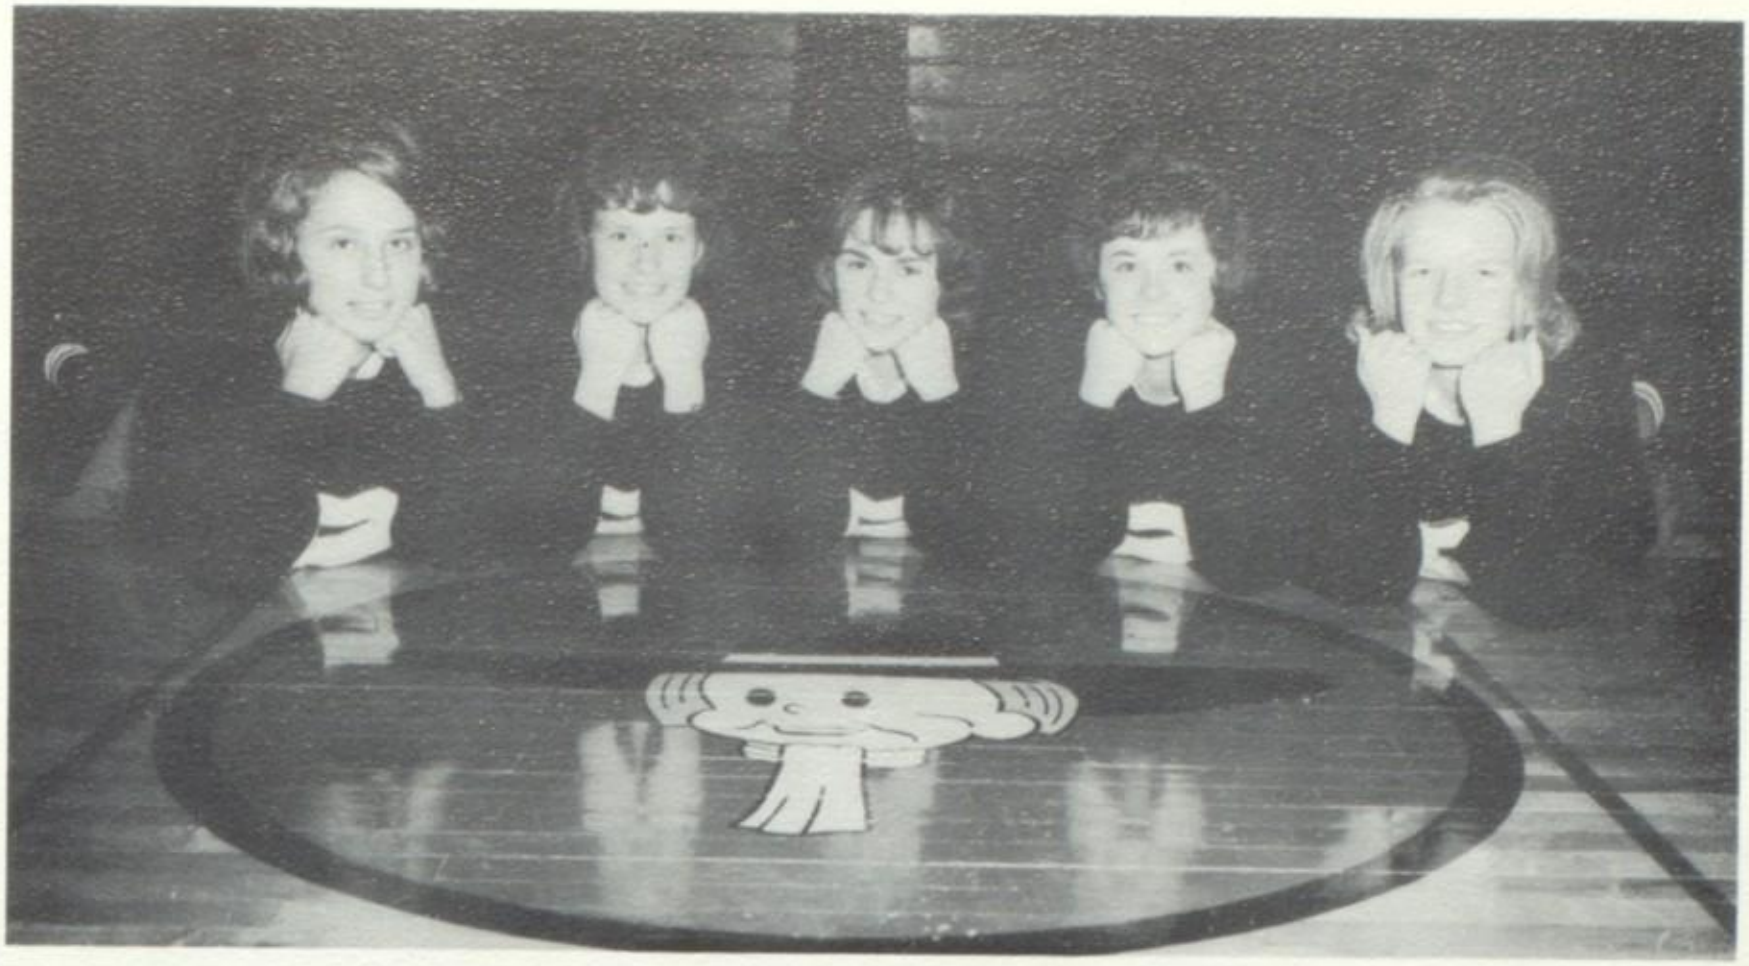


PEP CLUB



With the animated assistance of the cheerleaders, the Pep Club was a distinctive fixture maintaining school spirit at athletic contests. This active organization made money from bake sales throughout the year, and with their earnings, they provided buses for most football and basketball games away from home. Particularly enthusiastic before the Dover-Phila game, they held a kick-off dinner at the Dutch Oven, and were partially responsible for the exaulted spirit within the school. Also the flashy posters in the halls before the games were credited to the club.

CHEERLEADERS



Varsity: Toni Heverly, Judi Gribble, Lynne Swinderman, Sheryl Wassem, Sue Fleming

A vital part in N.P.H.S. sports is the cheerleaders, whose pep and vitality inspire school spirit in all students. Come rain or shine, victory or defeat, the cheerleaders can be seen leading the cheering section and promoting school spirit with their pep rallies and lively cheers. These girls spend many long hours of practice not only during the sports season, but they also attend camp in the summer months to learn new cheers, yells, and ideas for pep rallies which they use during the school year. Their job as a cheerleader requires a lot of time, hard work, and ability, but its worth is immense, for through their efforts, the morale of the team and the entire student body is boosted.

SPANISH CLUB

The Spanish Club, composed of first and second year Spanish students, is organized to promote more interest in the customs and life of Spanish-speaking countries. A Christmas dinner at the Elks started this year's activities of the Spanish Club. The club also enjoyed another dinner, a Spanish "fiesta" later in the year. In addition to these outside activities, the club has a meeting each month at which guest speakers talk and show movies or slides of Spanish countries they have visited.

Breaking the piñata and collecting the sweets were enjoyed at the "fiesta".

FRENCH CLUB

A skit added a bit of humor to this club's activities.

The French Club is an organization composed of first and second year French students who have joined together to further stimulate and encourage interests in France, its language and literature, its people and its culture. The club held an initiation party for its new members in February at which each member dressed as a character in French history and gave a short talk in French. The members also attended a dinner with the Spanish Club and held a dinner of their own at Bonvechio's.

TRI-HI-Y CLUB

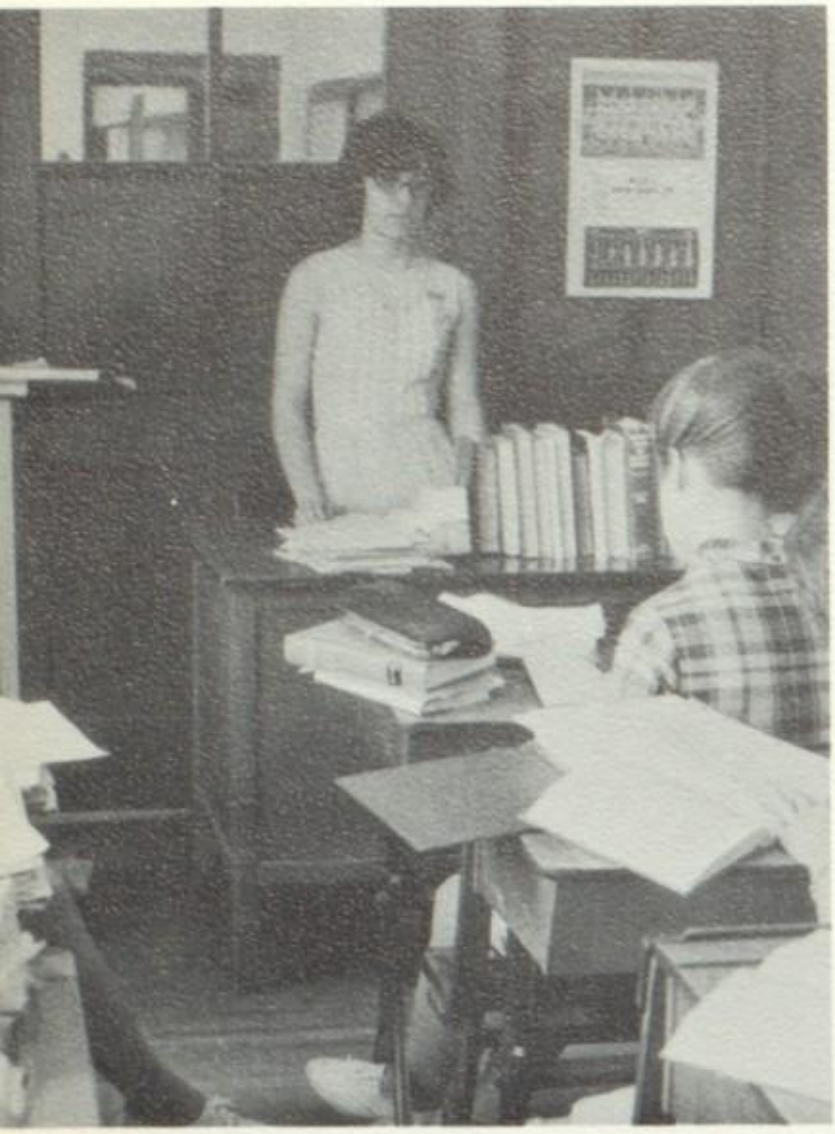
The Tri-Hi-Y is a religious organization composed of girls from Dover and New Philadephia The members participate in program and service projects, fulfilling their purpose-"to create, maintain, and extend throughout the home, school, and community, high standards of Christian character." This year the club did much for the betterment of our community and school. At Christmas a donation was given for the welfare of the needy. The annual Sweater Hop and the Spring Formal were extremely successful due to the fine effort of the club members.

HI-Y

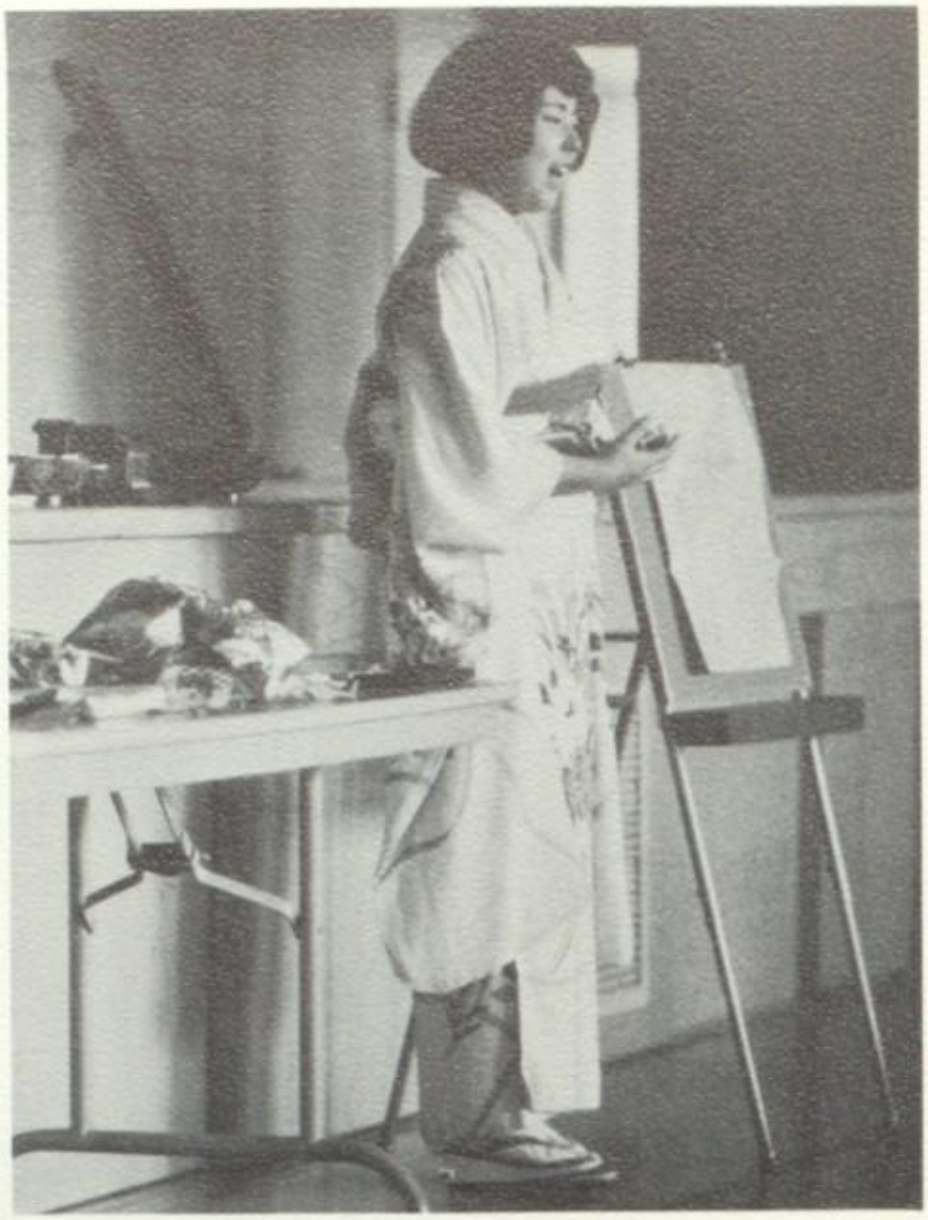
Hi-Y members and dates enjoy Roaring Twenties Ball.

The Hi-Y Club, whose ideals include good sportsmanship, clean speech, and a high standard of living, tries to promote these throughout the school. One example of their efforts was their annual Thanksgiving assembly. The club's activities for this year included an initiation of twenty-seven new members, a Roaring Twenties Ball featuring the Countdowns, and a banquet held at Bonvechio's Restaurant. Their money-making projects were selling Quaker badges and pennants, and the operation of the concession stand at the basketball games. This year's club has been the most active Hi-Y in several years, and the members hope to increase their activities in years to come.

FUTURE TEACHERS OF AMERICA



Suzanne Marvin acquires teaching experience.

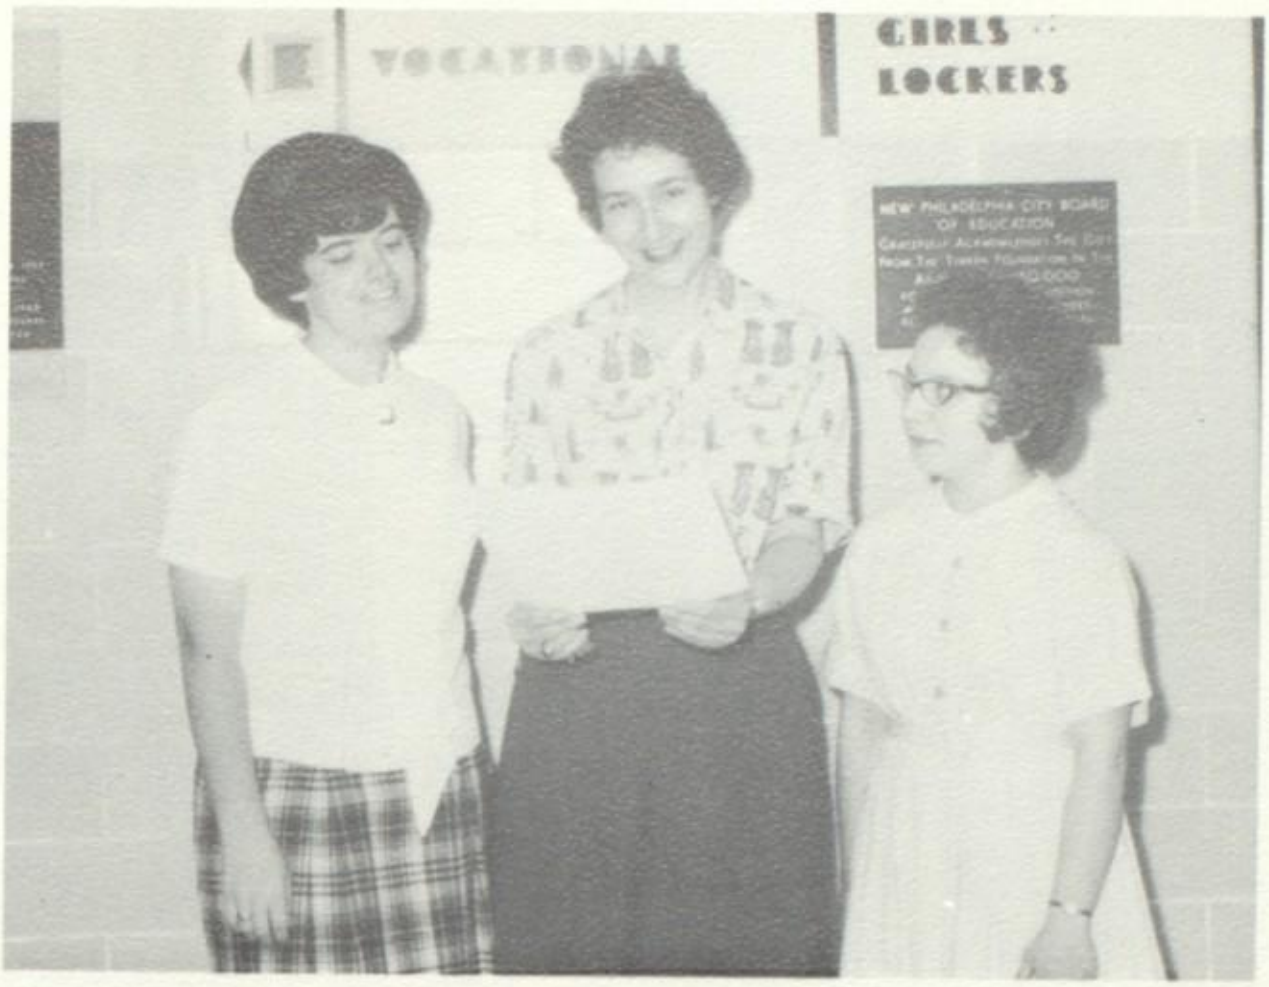


Keiko Sase describes her native land.

The Future Teachers of America Club is composed of students in their junior and senior years. This club enables its members to receive a better understanding of what is required of teachers. These students substitute for high school teachers and sometimes grade school teachers. Various speakers attended the meetings, one of which was our foreign exchange student, Keiko Sase. A dinner was given during the spring which honored the seniors.

In appreciation of her tireless efforts, Miss Reiser is presented an orchid.

FUTURE NURSES



Miss Moffit presents awards to those girls who have worked the most hours as Candy-Stripers.

The Future Nurses Club was organized to provide junior and senior girls an opportunity to become acquainted with the fundamental requirements involved in a nursing career or other medical fields. These girls have gained valuable knowledge and experience through their work as a Candy-Striper, by their many field trips including a tour of Massillon City Hospital, and by talks from various speakers.

Singing hymns was a favorite activity for the club.

YOUTH FOR CHRIST

The Youth for Christ Club, which is in its third year, allows students of various faiths to get acquainted and discuss their religions. The members meet once a week for a brief worship with a guest minister officiating. At Christmas they displayed a church scene in a showcase in the gym. A field day was held at Mr. Wood's home where Bible quizzes and other activities were enjoyed.

YOUNG BUSINESS LEADERS

Those students taking two or more business subjects are eligible for membership in the Young Business Leaders Club which offers many enjoyable activities. These include a banquet which is a purely social affair near the close of school and numerous tours that offer its members an opportunity to see actual business practices. The club also holds one meeting a month at which time it tries to help promote interest in the business world by familiarizing students with modern and progressive business machines and practices.

A tea highlighted National Secretarial Week.

SPEECH CLUB

Giving the students of NPHS a further chance to participate in different aspects of drama, oratory, and debate is the Speech Activities Club. This club participated in two contests for the first time this year-- the district forensics contest and the district poetry and play contest. They did very well, competing in such categories as dramatic, original oratory, humor, and poetry and play reading. The annual Snowflake Frolic was also sponsored by the Speech Club.

Speech members practiced for the district play contest.

Y-TEENS

The District Young Women's Christian Association, or as it is commonly called the Y-Teens are "to grow as a person, to grow in friendship with people of all races, religions, and nationalities, to grow in the knowledge and love of God." This club's main activity was selling holly wreaths at Christmas time. The members also heard Keiko Sase speak about life in her native Japan.

Officers and committee chairmen planned numerous fund raising projects for the Y-Teens.

HIGHLIGHTS

With the beginning of school on September 8, students at N.P.H.S., especially the seniors, began their long journey toward graduation. The groans which accompanied the return to research papers, slide rules, and protractors filled the classrooms as each of our football team's winning the first game of the season was felt on September 11 as New Phila beat Wooster. The capping of our Quaker girl, Cinda Godfrey, highlighted the first home game on September 18. On September 21, while Senior class officers, Terry Smith, John Senhauser, Karen Palmer, and Mary Lee Richards, were being elected the annual Curtis Magazine Drive, sponsored by the Delphian Staff, was coming to a close.

Dawn Hicks represented our school's choice as the 1964 Homecoming Queen. She and her attendants, Mary Lee Richards, Chris Haupert, Becky Dergel, Susan Hicks, Ann Gowan, and Sis Gowins made a regal appearance at the Phila-Ashland game on October 16.

PHILA

An address to the student body was made by Dr. George Crane, noted psychologist and newspaper columnist. Delivered on October 29, Dr. Crane made, along with more serious comments, several quips that proved he is a most versatile speaker. The Snake Dance, Bonfire, team banquet, improvised pep rallies within the corridors and rooms, and colorful decorations led to the annual Dover-Phila game. It seemed that the students, team, and coaches possessed the greatest amount of pride and spirit imaginable. The climax to a fruitful season came on the night of November 5 as Phila and Dover fought to a 14-14 tie. The fans were proud to hear that Jon Clay was voted one of the two most valuable players in that game. November also brought the laugh-filled Senior Class Play, "The Mouse That Roared."

This year's play, entitled "The Mouse That Roared", was presented twice to audiences which were impressed by the good acting of the students. The two act comedy centered around a small, unheard of country, Grand Fenwick, which was ruled by Queen Gloriana. Gloriana and some other important diplomats needed more money to run their country. They decided that the easiest way to raise collateral was by declaring war on the United States, because they knew that the United States always aids the countries she defeats. After some unforseen circumstances, the inhabitants of Grand Fenwick got their wish.

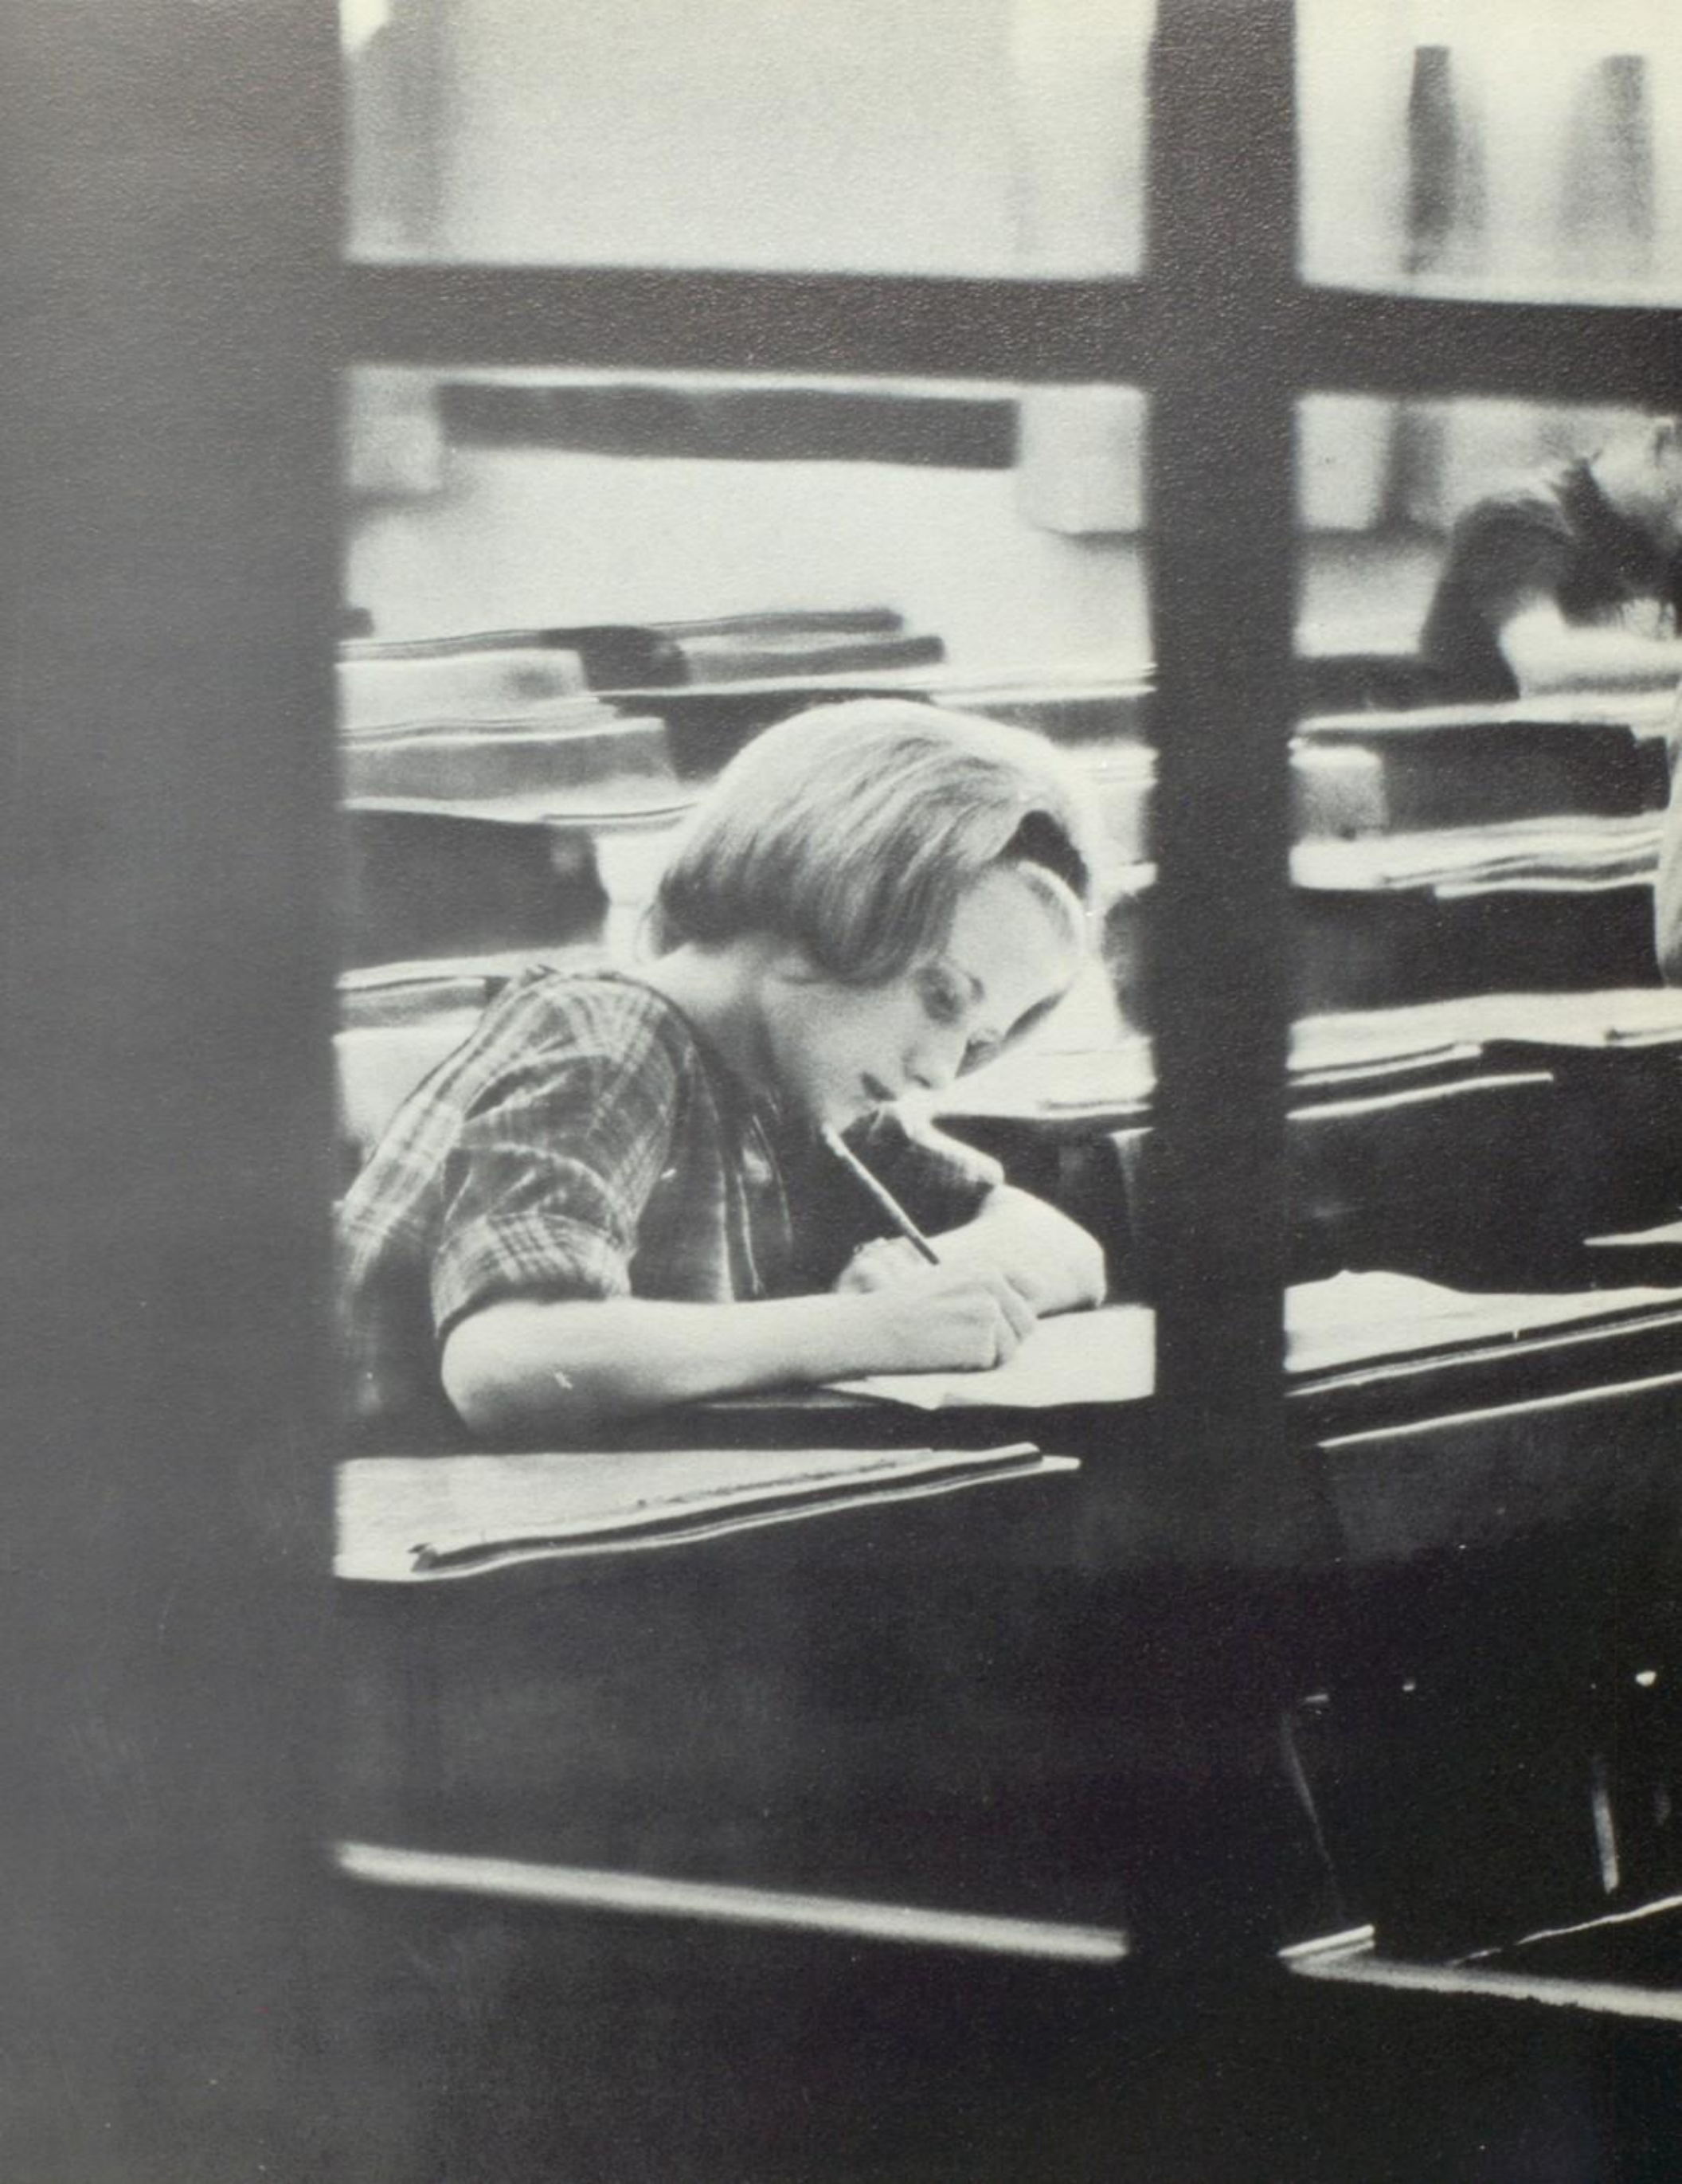
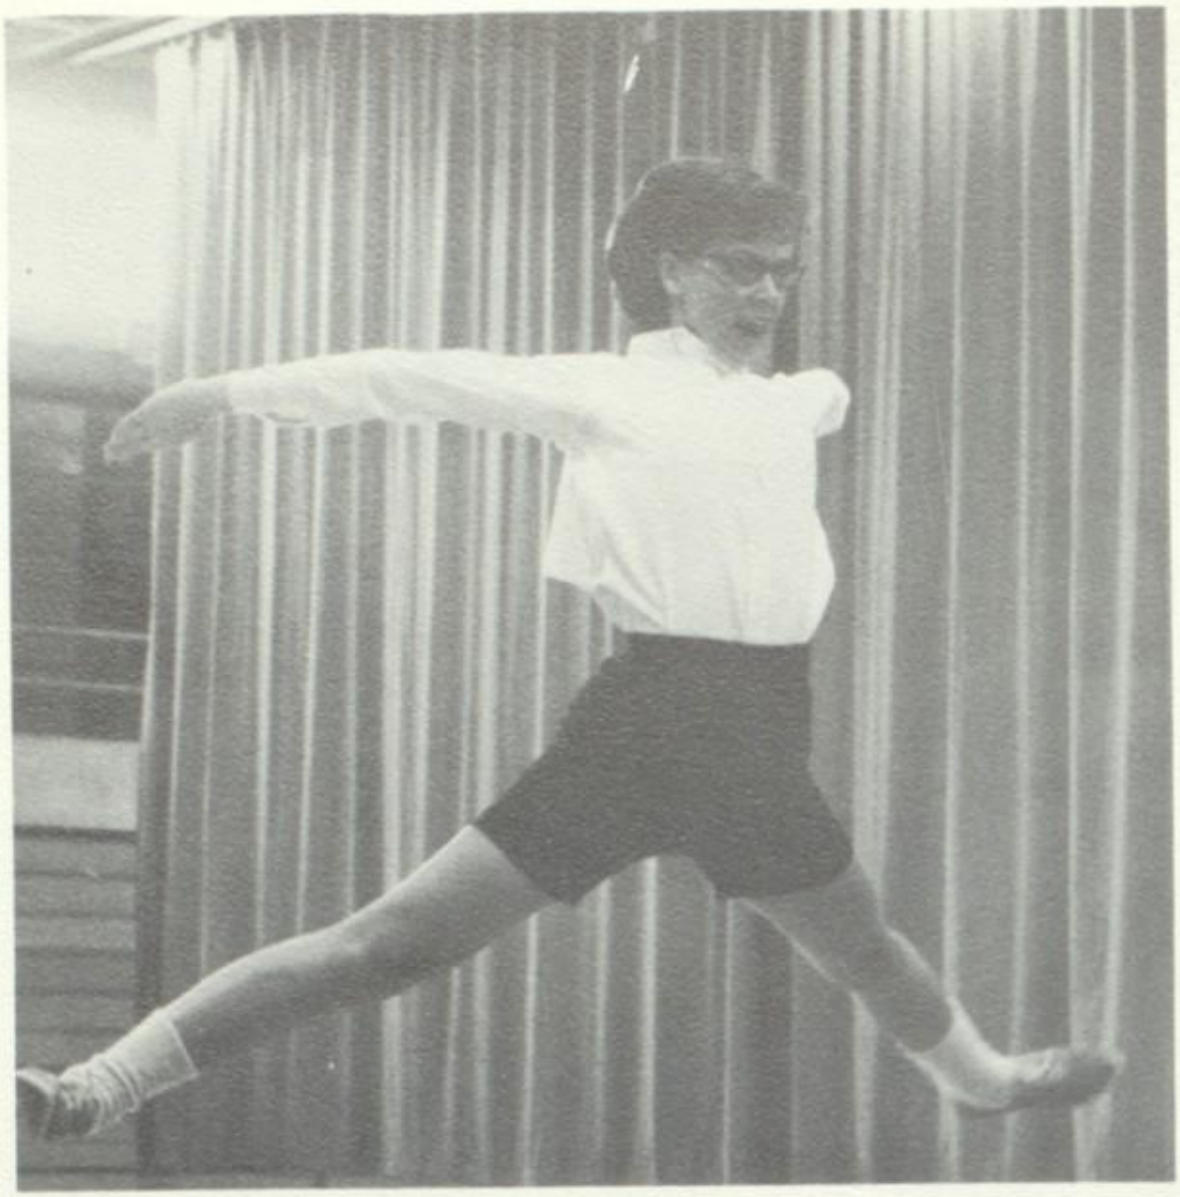
Matching sweaters were the fashion on the night of Nov. 25, as students from the Dover-New Phila area displayed their talents for doing all the latest dances at the annual Sweater Hop. The theme of "Dancing in the Streets" was skillfully executed by members of Tri-Hi-Y. In early December, the basketball season got under way. Although our team lost its first game at Cambridge, it displayed in weeks to come the true meaning of teamwork. Also, December was a busy month as many clubs which included the VIC, Spanish Club, Y-Teens, H-Y, and Tri-Hi-Y held Christmas parties, while other clubs raised funds by means of bake sales. During Christmas vacation, New Philadelphia High School students enjoyed a dance sponsored by the Band Parents, with a disc-jockey from WHLO.

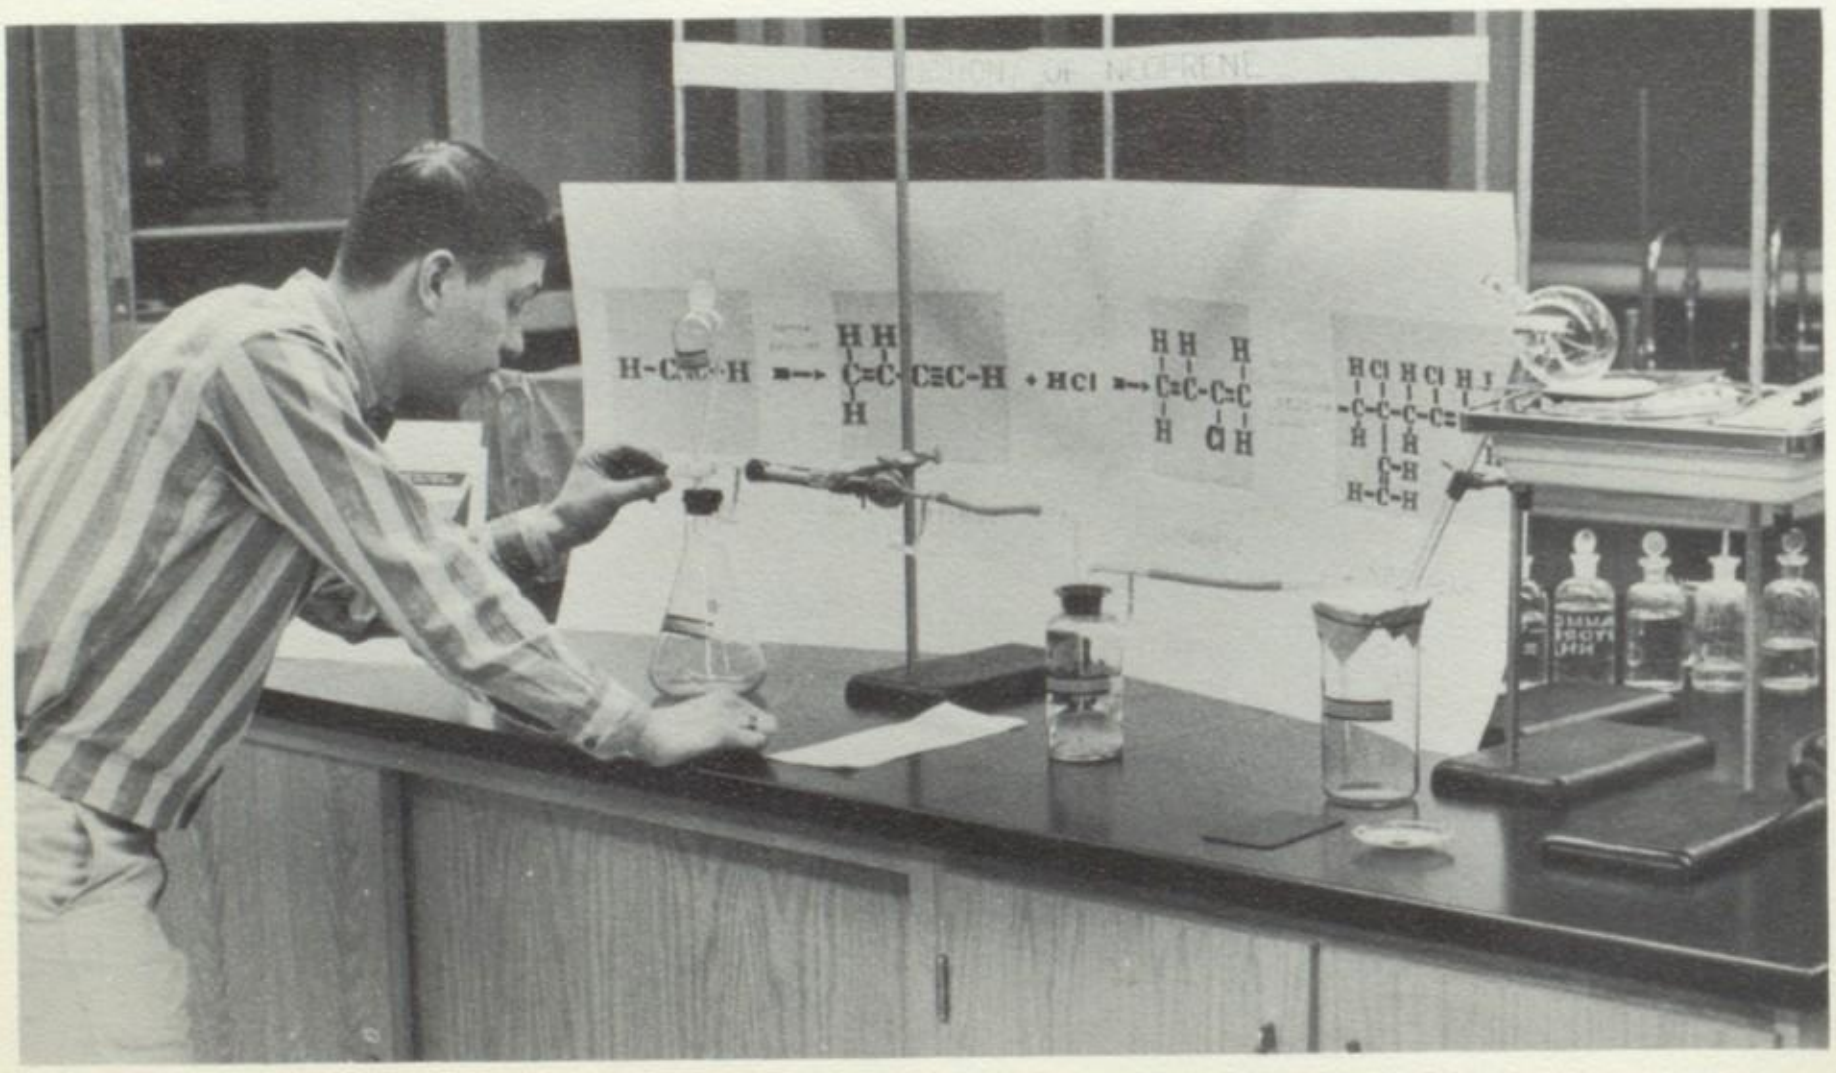
Speakers highlighted the meetings during January. These speakers included the following: Miss Van Sickle, who spoke at FNA; Mrs. Ruth Smith, our speech therapist; and Mr. Edwin Senhauser who presented an interesting talk for the Spanish Club. The last week of January marked the arrival of gruesome exam week which was climaxed by on January 28 and 29, our exam days.

The Choir Workshop at Dover marked the beginning of February activities. Following a winning basketball game, the Homecoming Dance honoring Dawn Hicks and her attendants was held on Feb. 12. The Valentine's Dance and Senior "Shindig" highlighted the other activities.

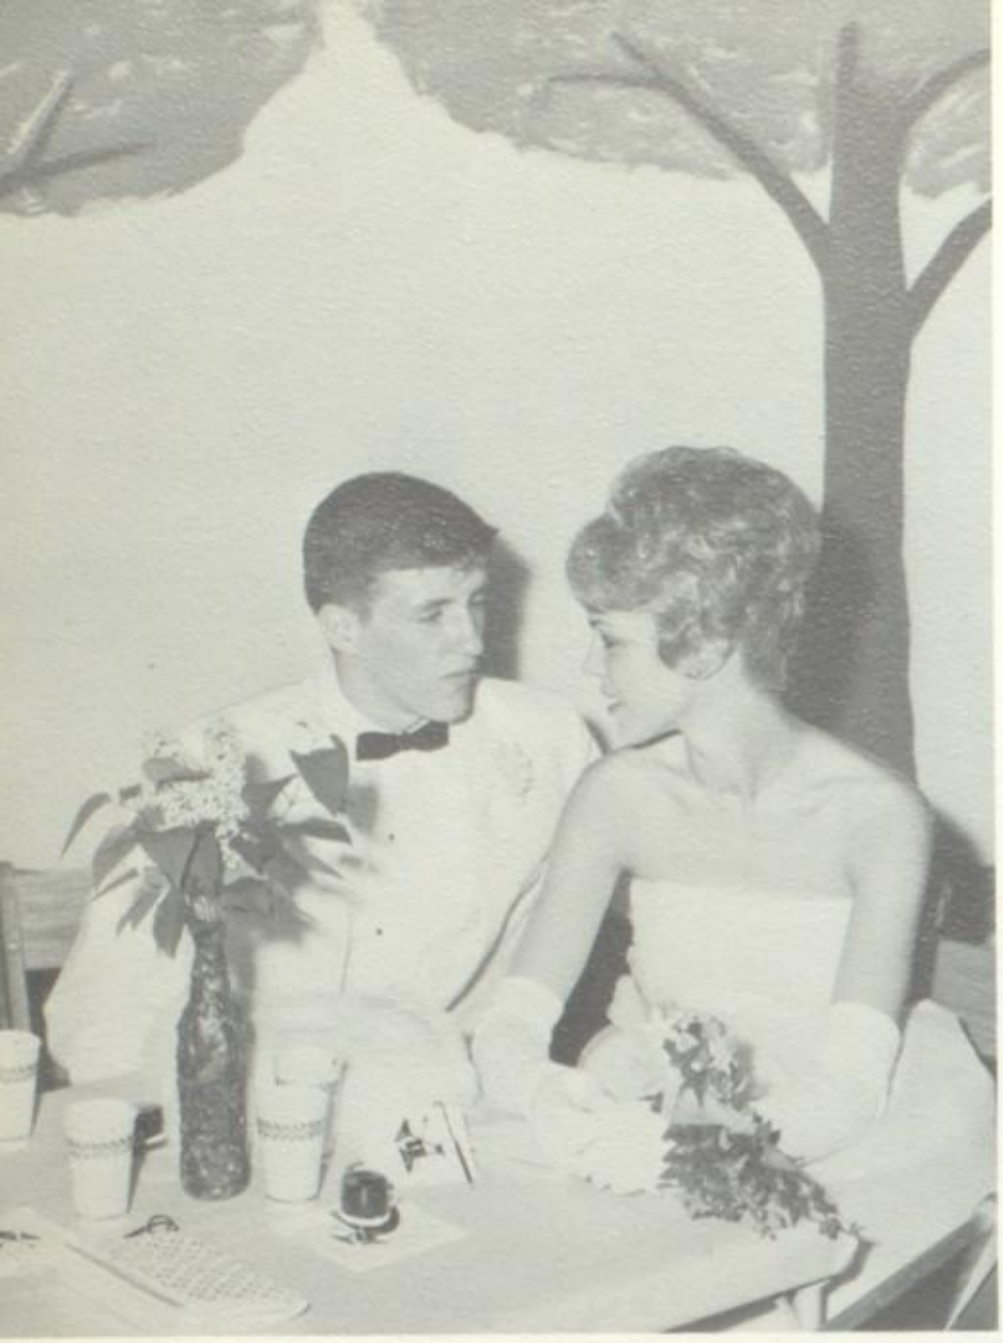
With the arrival of March came many spring activities. Keiko Sase spoke to the county-wide FTA meeting on March 13, and several teachers discussed the teaching profession at a later meeting. Many excellent projects were displayed at the annual Science Fair held on March 9. The fair was again a success as Mr. Harmon was the director. The Junior and Senior Choirs, Band, and Orchestra performed outstanding music selections at the Patrons' Concert on March 16. Senior high students and their dates danced to the theme of "Bali Hai" at the Spring Formal sponsored by the Tri-Hi-Y. Athletic dexterity was displayed by amusing players in the VIC-Faculty basketball game. The VIC was victorious in their initial win.







The beginning of April's activities was marked by an assembly for the Barberton choir. Once again the seniors attended a party at the Youth Center where they displayed vigor throughout the night. Easter vacation was welcomed not only by the students but also by the faculty. Many attended the dance on April 30 which was sponsored by the VIC and Home Ec members. Having defeated Cambridge by the score of 14-0 in the first baseball game, the N.P.H.S. team continued to display successful and effective work throughout the season. There were tears of joy and sorrow when cheerleader and majorette tryouts were held toward the end of the month. The members of the Young Business Leaders Club made a trip to Marsh Wall Products where they were taught many diverse procedures of the business world. The National Secretarial Week was important to those working toward a secretarial vocation as some of the girls worked part of a day in business establishments to gain experience.



White dinner jackets and colorful formals provided the finishing touch for the Junior-Senior prom, the theme of which was "Lullaby of Broadway." The students then went to the Union Country Club where they danced and dined. The Jackson Choir gave an impressive performance when they entertained our student body. The seniors who traveled to Massillon State Hospital learned about the problems of mental disorders and the type of treatment necessary. The Spanish Club, French Club, Tri-Hi-Y, Hi-Y, Pep Club, FTA, and FNA concluded the year's activities by holding banquets and picnics. A "Roaring Twenties" dance was sponsored by the Hi-Y on May 21. In a dreamy "Tropicana" atmosphere, the seniors were honored at the Senior Banquet on May 25.

GOSHEN DAIRY

"Character Just Doesn't Happen" was the Commencement topic chosen by Mr. Don Lash. He pointed out that each of us must be an individual and decide which Christian principles to follow.

Class day climaxed the end of the graduating class's activities. Reverend Robert Dean spoke before the students at Baccalaureate, and Commencement was highlighted by the address of Mr. Donald Lash on June 7. June also brought a sad "Sayonara" to Keiko Sase, our foreign exchange student and to the memorable school year of 1964-1965.
